STRICKEN FAMILIES GET RED CROSS AID

McALLISTER (Okla.) Nov. 16. (AP) Maintenance funds of $15,440 for relief of seventeen families of men who lost their lives in the Wheatley No. 4 mine disaster October 27, were set aside by the advisory board of the relief committee at a meeting here. The allowances will amount to from $10 to $50 a month and will be paid semimonthly over a period of two years and ten months from Red Cross headquarters in Washington.

Will Rogers Remarks:

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 16. [To the Editor of The Times:] If you want to see some real flying and a satisfied beam on a government aviator's face watch him fly for his department head when he knows that fellow can do it himself. Saturday in San Diego our crack boys from the airplane carriers Langley, Lexington and Saratoga made aerial "whoopee" for Secretary Ingalls. It kinder made you wish that every branch of our government was presided over by some man that knew that line instead of some politician. Our system up to time of Mr. Hoover has been when a man is defeated at election he is appointed to a bigger job than the one he was defeated for.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

GRAIN BOARD RE-ENTERS CHICAGO PIT

Large Sales Reported to Italy or Some Other European Country

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board said in a statement tonight, "Demoralization in world grain markets has made it necessary for the Grain Stabilization Corporation to again enter the wheat market to stop panicky selling and to prevent further unwarranted declines in domestic prices."

"Comparatively," the statement added, "wheat is lower in price than other agricultural commodities. The price of flour fully reflects the price of wheat, which, no doubt, is increasing the per-capita consumption. While the visible supply of wheat is large, there is no congestion in any of the terminal markets.

"Receipts at primary markets are unusually light, which suggests the extent to which farm stocks are being used for feeding purposes. Further price declines would be in sympathy with foreign markets and not justified by domestic conditions."

Legge did not say where the Grain Stabilization Corporation had entered the market. It was reported yesterday at Chicago, however, that Farm Board agencies had disposed of an immense amount of wheat to Italy or some other European country.

Communists Seek to Force American Intervention at Havana

President Has Situation Well in Hand, Says Ambassador

HAVANA, Nov. 16. (AP)—American property in Cuba was put under special police guard tonight after the government announced discovery of an asserted Communist plot to force the United States to intervene in Cuba by destroying American-owned buildings.

The authorities said they believed the American Embassy might be the first object of such attack and for that reason placed a large police guard there.

SITUATION IN HAND

Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim expressed confidence President Machado had the situation in hand. The number of troops in Havana has been reduced as the recent tension died down.

In other respects Havana was quiet, following the disorder of last week that brought martial law Thursday. Cafes, dance halls and other places of amusement reopened.

Answering reports that a railway strike was imminent, authorities declared the rumors were baseless and railway executives said their lines were functioning as usual.

ENTIRE ISLAND QUIET

The President was told today the entire island was quiet, his information coming from Gen. Carlos Rojas, Secretary of War; Manuel Delgado, Secretary of the Interior, and Gen. Alberto Herrera, chief of staff of the army.

Senator Alberto Barreras, appointed to mediate between the government and the university students who have participated in much of the recent disorder, said tonight his negotiations were progressing satisfactorily and he believed an agreement was near.

The government was informed tonight that Mayor Angel Eguzquiza and Police Chief Gonzalo Triana of the Cuban town named Fiori were held without bail in connection with the asserted beating of a newspaper man named Abelardo Cardenas. Cardenas was said to have been beaten by an army sergeant, Manuel Paife, also in jail.

Ocean Voyage in Life Boat Meets Failure

BERMUDA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Capt. Wohlenberg's attempt to sail from Brooklyn to Bermuda in a specially built life boat has ended somewhere on the high seas, but the why or wherefore is not known here.

Capt. Wohlenberg sailed last Tuesday with two companions. Today Mrs. Wohlenberg received a wireless message at her home in Brooklyn saying the captain was aboard the tank steamer Muskogee, bound for Houston.

No details concerning the life boat or the other two men were given.

PLANE DEMOLISHED; AVIATOR ESCAPES

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 16. (AP)—James Haizlip, well-known flyer, escaped serious injury today, when the engine of his speed plane cut out on a take-off at Lambert-St. Louis Field and the plane crashed into a ditch and was demolished. Haizlip was flying the Travel Air Mystery S, in which he won a race at the recent National Air Races at Chicago. He crawled unassisted from the wreckage and was taken to a hospital, where it was said his most serious injury is a broken nose.

WATER PARTY AT SAN DIEGO

International Commission Drives Through Storm Over Mountains From Calexico

BY JACKSON S. BERGER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Driving through dense fog and rain which enveloped the border mountains, American and Mexican members of the International Water Commission arrived here tonight to complete their survey of international boundary streams in the West with a view to flood control on the Lower Colorado and to obtain facts for an allocative water treaty between the two nations.

The members of the commission drove across the mountains from Calexico after an inspection tour earlier in the day over the lower Colorado delta region west of the river and south of Mexicali. The trip over the delta lands was made over a rail system running southeastward to the river from Pascualito, and the members were given an opportunity to view agricultural development that has been carried on despite the annual threat of floods from the great muddy stream.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

They inspected many of the canals of the region and expressed particular interest in the levee systems, which the developers have erected to protect the tilled lands from the river.

Tomorrow the international commission, headed by L. M. Lawson in charge of the American section, and Fortunato Dozal of the Mexican group, will travel over the Marron and other dam sites on the Tia Juana River—an important water source geographically situated so as to serve communities on both sides of the international line. Following the inspection tour to the Tia Juana River the American and Mexican members are scheduled to have a meeting here to assemble facts and information gained during the past week and determine upon future activities of the allied commission.

DATA TO BE ASSEMBLED

All data obtained, according to the chief engineers of the party, will be assembled complete in two reports, detailing the physical facts of the problem with suggestions as to how it may be solved, and then submitted to the proper departments of the United States and Mexican governments for adoption or rejection as the departments may decide. After the meeting Lawson plans to depart at once for his headquarters at El Paso for further work on the data obtained, and Louis C. Hill, consulting engineer, expects to return to his offices at Los Angeles.

LAD KILLED BY ROCKS IN BOYS' FIGHT

Youth Succumbs to Hurts in Battle Against Five Young Playmates

NORTHFORK (W. Va.) (AP)—Bruised and battered by stones hurled by playmates, Norman Williams, 13 years of age, struggled home to his father and died last night as the father bore him in his arms up the steps of a hospital.

Tonight five other boys, ranging in age from 8 to 15 years, were held in the Northfork jail awaiting a hearing before a justice of the peace. All six, they said, were returning home from a cinema theater. Norman lagged behind. As he caught up with his companions a stone was thrown and then another. Soon it was a battle, five against one. It ended when Norman dropped to the ground and the other five fled to their homes.

Glider Flyer Killed by Fall

CLEVELAND, Nov. 16. (AP)—Morton Koch, 20 years of age, making his thirty-fifth glider flight, fell fifteen feet from his glider and was killed here today.

Witnesses said Koch had risen twenty-five feet and was heading into the wind to land when he suddenly pitched forward and fell to the ground.

FILM CHILD LAW PRAISED

California Declared Leader in Giving Educational and Health Protection to Juvenile Actors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Protection afforded child workers in the motion-picture industry was cited today by Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, associate director of public relations, Association of Motion-Picture Producers, and member of the White House conference on child health and protection which will meet here Wednesday.

One of the problems which the conference will consider is protection for all children in industry. The number of children in films is twenty-six a day, according to Mrs. Winter.

"It has become evident," she said, "that the chief protection of the child in the cinema must come from the industry rather than the parent. Parents there are who seem to push their children often ruthlessly in their willingness to exploit them.

"First in protection of the child in pictures stands the California law, excellently enforced, covering the issuance of permits for minors under 18 years of age, only after investigation which shall show that the employment is not detrimental to health or to education.

"School goes on inside the studio or on location under the supervision of teachers selected by the Los Angeles School Board, but paid for by the producer. The teacher must make regular written report to the board, not only concerning education at work, but also with regard to the general moral tone of the child's surroundings and all sanitary conditions, transportation, ventilation, lighting, dust, smoke and proximity to eating places.

"Lunch and rest periods are provided for, and children under 6 can be on working schedule not more than three hours, those more than 6 not more than four, with three hours school and one hour recreation.

"Small children are provided with nurseries, beds, milk, eating facili-

WIDOW OF PUBLISHER SUCCUMBS

Mrs. Scripps Victim of Pneumonia Contracted on World Tour

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Mrs. Nackie Holtsinger Scripps, widow of E. W. Scripps, millionaire newspaper publisher and one of the founders of the Scripps-Howard chain of newspapers, died at Miramar, near here, early tonight. She was 64 years of age.

Mrs. Scripps was taken ill of pneumonia while on a tour of the world with her son-in-law, Thomas Meanley, and returned eight weeks ago to Miramar. She later was taken to Scripps Memorial Hospital at La Jolla, but failed to convalesce and returned again to her home.

Three weeks ago her son, Robert Scripps, controlling stockholder and editorial director of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, was called to her bedside.

Mrs. Scripps was born in Sharon, O., July 19, 1866, and came to California with her husband more than thirty-five years ago.

She leaves her son, Robert Scripps, two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Meanley and Miss Dolla B. Scripps, and sixteen grandchildren.

DRYS CHEER DEFIANCE TO WET HOPES

W.C.T.U. Speaker Predicts Annihilation of Repeal Candidate for President

HOUSTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Delegates to the National Convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union rose in an enthusiastic demonstration here today after they were told that severe defeat would be given any wet Presidential candidate.

Dr. Mary Harris Armor, head of evangelistic work for the organization, was the speaker.

"If the wets," Dr. Armor cried out, "think they can elect a wet President they had better think again. We beat one wet candidate so they had to pick up the pieces. Next time, be he Democrat or Republican, I predict they will have to get blotting paper to pick him up."

While the women cheered she went on to assert that "the right," a large section of the press, "and Herbert Hoover" also are "on our side."

Bus Gas Tank's Blast Burns Six

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Six persons suffered burns and twenty others were shaken up last night when the gasoline tank of a bus operating between this city and Glassboro, N. J., exploded.

The most seriously injured, according to police, was William James, a member of the Oglethorpe University football team. He was taken to Jefferson Hospital suffering from severe burns on the face and a blow on the head.

The gasoline is thought to have exploded when the tank was punctured by a plank placed over a street excavation.

EVANGELIST VENTS IRE

Mrs. M'Pherson in New York

Appearance Makes Evident Failure to Fully Recover From Breakdown

Reports Concerning Doings During Her Canal Zone Stay Denounced

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, returned today on the liner Tolon from a cruise in the Caribbean Sea, still not completely recovered from her recent nervous breakdown.

As the ship was going up to the pier she gave her first interview since her breakdown, charging that "some reporter" had pictured her party as drinking liquor in Canal Zone cabarets. This, she said, was false, as were rumors of difficulties with immigration authorities at the canal and Havana.

Her face thin, eyes dark-circled, she clasped and unclasped her hands while talking, and when she reached out to take a newspaper clipping her hand shook.

AIDED BY NURSE

In moving about the deck, which was slippery from fog, Mrs. McPherson was supported by the purser of the Tolon and her nurse. She said she had lost thirty-eight pounds during her illness.

Her remarks supplemented a prepared statement which charged that newspaper men at Cristobal, to whom she had refused an interview because of her health, had threatened to "write a racy story accusing me of making whoopee."

"I presume they made good their promise," she said, adding that she had heard of one story which "insinuated everything except that I smoked a pipe."

SHORE TOUR EXPLAINED

"It is true that, with other passengers, we broke the long sea journey by going ashore and making a tour of the canal and the city (Cristobal.) Being a sailor town, the long streets of saloons and places and types of entertainment afforded them was interesting to me as compared with the strikingly small number of churches or revival halls. With other passengers of the ship, we entered as spectators several of these places, remaining only a few minutes in each . . . I drank water or lemonade. To state otherwise is silly, and a mere attempt to slap back at the definite stand I always have taken for temperance."

Mrs. Margaret Smith and her young son, "of New Hampshire," and a secretary accompanied Mrs. McPherson on the cruise. She was met at the pier by F. C. Winters, her business manager, who said he had planned to leave for the Pacific Coast with the party this afternoon, but because of the evangelist's condition, had decided to rest two or three days in New York. Then they expect to go direct to Los Angeles."

Plane's Crash Fatal to Two

GREENSBURG (Pa.) Nov. 16. (AP) Edward McCune of Irwin, Pa., and Hilda Carmel of South Greensburg were killed this afternoon in the crash of a privately owned airplane on a farm near here. The pilot and owner of the ship, Casper McCune of Irwin, was burned probably fatally by flames that swept the ship after the crash.

Temblor Hits Isle of Jersey

ST. HELIER (Island of Jersey) Nov. 16. (AP)—A severe earthquake today sent many Jersey residents running from their houses to the streets, despite a heavy rain. The shock, which occurred at 3:45 p.m., was preceded and followed by loud rumbling. No damage has been reported. The quake, however, was more severe than one felt here Tuesday evening.

TORNADOES RAKE DIXIE

Lives Lost and Homes Razed

Toll of Death and Damage Taken Throughout Four States

Widely Separated Areas Stricken and Many Persons Injured

ATLANTA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Tornadoes blustering through widely separated sections of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia early today left an undetermined number of deaths and heavy property damage.

Full extent of life lost and property damage could not be ascertained immediately as roads and others forms of communication from a number of rural communities stricken were blocked.

Country settlements in the vicinities of Alexandria and Winnsboro, La., and Brookhaven, Miss., were the first to report fatalities.

At Brookhaven, Mrs. George Davis, 24 years of age, was crushed to death when the home in which she, her husband and two children were asleep collapsed. The husband and children were not hurt.

Near Winnsboro, La., a Negro infant was hurled seventy-five yards by the force of the wind and killed, and Mrs. Zila Diamond, 72, was critically injured. A Negro was killed near Alexandria, La.

STOCK KILLED

The winds dipped into Franklin county, Mississippi, blowing down dwellings, barns and other buildings and killed many head of live stock. Many persons were injured, including the entire family of Will Whitehead, farmer. Five tenant houses on the E. R. Magee plantation were blown down.

Ripping through Noxubee county, Mississippi, the winds blew down two churches and a number of homes, and badly damaged crops. A white man and his two daughters were reported injured when their home was blown away. Near Macon, Miss., twenty-two Negroes attending a funeral at a church were slightly injured and badly frightened. The fright was caused by the sight of the casket containing the body of Brown Hughes, Negro, being hurled into a near-by field by the lashing wind.

Mrs. Maggie Beattie and her children, Minnie and Clifford, were injured seriously when their home in the Rosetta community, twenty miles from Natchez, Miss., was demolished by wind. Between ten and fifteen tenant houses were blown down. Mrs. Beattie and her children were taken to a Natchez hospital.

Sections of Alabama and Georgia felt the winds, with property damage widespread.

RESIDENCES DOWN

Three residences were leveled in Jackson, Ala., north of Mobile, and ten others were badly damaged. A church was blown down and a number of garages and automobiles were demolished. No injury was reported.

Queenstown, Ala., twelve miles south of Birmingham, suffered the destruction of several buildings. The streets of Birmingham were flooded by torrential rains. Three persons were injured near Dawson, Ga., in Terrell county. A blow razed a house in which three Negroes had taken refuge, and tore off the roofs of other structures.

Winds blew with damaging effect around Meridian, Miss., destroyed much property and caused slight human injury. Much timber was destroyed near Toomsuba, twelve miles east of Meridian. A number of Negro houses were unroofed and telephonic communication was disrupted.

STORM SIGNALS UP AS GALE LASHES LAKE

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Storm signals were flying all over the Great Lakes districts today, as Chicago's shore line was pounded by the wind and waves attendant on the heavy storm that centered north of the city on Lake Michigan's western shore.

DO-X'S FLIGHT ALL UP IN AIR

Dr. Dornier Says if He Calls Off Atlantic Trip It Will Be on Account of Weather

BORDEAUX (France) Nov. 16. (AP)—Dr. Claude Dornier, designer and builder of the giant seaplane DO-X, announced today that weather conditions may prevent a trans-Atlantic flight before spring, but insisted the engines gave entire satisfaction on the trip toward Lisbon. He said final decision regarding the trans-Atlantic trip will be made at Lisbon.

Certain French experts said last night a trans-Atlantic flight at this time might be hazardous, because the DO-X's motors had not been turning as well as expected.

"We do not want to attempt anything unreasonable," Dr. Dornier told the Associated Press, "but should the trans-Atlantic flight be postponed until spring, it will be only due to unfavorable weather, and not because of any lack of confidence in the motors or boat.

"Our motors thus far have given us entire satisfaction. If we were forced to alight on water off the Vendee coast last night, it was because darkness was coming on, and also fog—our bitterest trans-Atlantic enemy. We felt safer on the surface of the water than aloft. I believe the fact that the DO-X taxied 100 miles on the water to shelter behind the Isle De Re was quite a performance."

The DO-X remained in the Gironde estuary today instead of coming up to Bordeaux. Tomorrow the plane will fly over Bordeaux with officials and newspaper men aboard. Present plans call for departure for Lisbon Tuesday.

Dr. Dornier believes it would be difficult to negotiate the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight, from Lisbon to Horta, in the Azores, in a short winter day. Especially, he believes, the flight from the Azores to Bermuda would be difficult, requiring several hours of night flying. He insisted, however, the idea of a trans-Atlantic flight this winter has not been abandoned.

RICHMOND, Nov. 16. (AP)—Nine persons were killed at Butterworth Crossing, near Dewitt, Va., tonight when their automobile was struck by a Seaboard Airline passenger train. They were J. C. Flippen, white man of Clarksville, Va., and eight Negroes—four women and four children.

UNEMPLOYMENT TOTAL DECLINES

Jobless in September Set at 3,400,000

Estimate for August Was 100,000 More

Drop Declared Due Entirely to Seasonal Causes

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—At least 3,400,000 persons "able to work and seeking employment" were estimated today by the Commerce Department to have been jobless in September.

The total, which was said to be "the probable minimum," includes the unemployed without jobs and those with jobs who had been laid off but does not include persons working less than the normal workday or work-week.

"It should be pointed out this figure is only an estimate," the Commerce Department said. "It is based on the approximate number of 2,500,000 persons who were reported as without jobs by the unemployment census of last April.

BELOW OTHER NATIONS

"It should also be remembered that more than 43,000,000 persons are classed as gainfully employed in this country and the volume of unemployment here is far below that of the other great industrial nations, largely because of the measures which have been taken during the past year."

The statement said the estimated figure for August was 3,500,000 but that the "apparent improvement" was not significant because it was due entirely to seasonal causes. It added that October figures were not available but that "the number of unemployed usually increases in that month."

Stressing that estimates are "at best approximations," the statement added:

"These August and September figures were estimated on the basis of the April census return, as affected by the month-by-month changes in employment since April. These changes are reported monthly by employers to official agencies, and include figures for agriculture, manufacturing, construction, anthracite, bituminous, metalliferous, mining and quarrying, public utilities, railroads, wholesale and retail trade, and hotels."

WANTS WEEKLY REPORT

Chairman Woods of the President's emergency committee for employment viewed the figures without comment. He has had statisticians at work, however, and hopes to have new estimates compiled from all available sources within the week.

He is eager to obtain, if possible, a "week-to-week" measure of joblessness. He has expressed belief this would facilitate distribution of work to those needing it most, as well as serving as a guide in selection of locations for public works.

Warrant Out for Pastor on Girl's Charge

SANTA ROSA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Accused of contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old girl who had been assigned to his home by the Juvenile Court, Rev. H. W. Brunk was ordered arrested in a warrant issued here last night.

The 38-year-old minister has been a pastor of the Christian Church at Petaluma, where he was unfrocked at a meeting of the elders just before the warrant was issued. He is married and the father of four children.

The girl, Ruby Fees, is an orphan and a ward of the Juvenile Court. She was probationed to Brunk's home last August.

Dist.-Atty. Barnard said the pastor admitted the charges in his presence and to his wife.

almost phenomenal gains in today's municipal elections in the free city of Danzig and in various parts of Germany, emulating their success in the Reichstag elections, October 14, last.

The Danzig Volkstag election, coinciding almost exactly with the tenth anniversary of the interallied decree which formally separated the city from the German Reich (November 9, 1920,) resulted in a sixteen-fold increase in Fascist strength, the party capturing 34,000 votes against 2130 in 1927.

The Communists, who also had wide gains in the Reichstag elections, made almost a 100 per cent jump today, while the Social Democrats, although still the leading party, polled only 54,000 votes against 61,779 in the last election.

In Baden the Fascists ran even more strongly, increasing their mandates in Karlsruhe from nothing to twenty-eight, and in Kehl from nothing to twenty-one, thereby becoming the leading party in both cities. The Social Democrats ran second.

The Fascists also jumped from nothing to fourteen in Frieburg, in Constance from one to twelve, and in Loerrac from one to nine. Results elsewhere in Baden were similar.

In Mecklenburg the Hitlerite gains also were emphatic, the mandates in Enubrandenburg going from nothing to eight, with Social Democrats dropping from eight to four, and the Communists rising from one to four.

At Rostock the Fascists jumped from three mandates to fifteen, the Communists moved up from three to five and the Social Democrats retained their leadership with twenty-three seats, although they lost three. Disorders accompanying the balloting resulted in serious injuries to two persons at Rostock.

The Fascist campaigners now are turning toward Bremen, where the municipal elections will be held the 30th inst.

Veterans' Unit Votes to Quit Organization

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive) Woodrow Wilson Chapter No. 4, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, today voted to secede from the national and State departments in a turbulent meeting at the Capitol Building. The chapter of 1300 members is the largest of the organization.

The secession movement was led by Joseph B. Lynch, commander of the chapter for seven years. He charged that the national officials are opposed to prosecution of the eleven State offices recently indicted on charges of racketeering on "Forget-Me-Not Day" receipts. An accounting was demanded by him on the declaration that funds which should have gone to veteran relief will be found to have been diverted into the national and State department coffers.

STORMS ROAR THROUGH SOUTH

gency orders were out all along the shore line, and greatest caution was employed by all ships putting out of this port.

The Radio Corporation of America from its South Chicago plant flashed warnings all through the night to more than 100 boats—freighters and passengers vessels—on all the Great Lakes.

Those on Lake Michigan reported heavy seas running in all parts of the lake, as the forty-mile gale lashed the waters. Capt. John Anderson of the central Coast Guard expressed fear that the path of the storm might yet veer and strike the Chicago area in full force.

The storm, according to the Weather Bureau, originated in the middle western plains and around Wichita, Kan., and swept northeastward from there.

NORTHWEST GETS FIRST REAL TOUCH OF WINTER

ST. PAUL, Nov. 16. (AP)—The Northwest got its first real touch of approaching winter today as a rainstorm turned to sleet and snow.

At Fargo, N. D., some damage was reported from falling ice-coated tree branches and power and light poles. Portions of Fargo were in darkness due to power wire damage. Streets and highways in that section are covered with ice.

At Moorehead, Minn., two poles, overladen with ice-coated wires, crashed onto a street car near the Moorhead postoffice. Ten persons escaped serious injury.

In Southern and Central Wisconsin some rain and snow was reported. Temperatures were around 30 deg. above zero.

"LOST WORLD'S" LOCALE FOUND

Rocky Plateau Rises From Plain 6000 Feet

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

CAIRO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive) — A grim, rocky plateau, 6000 feet high, like that described in Conan Doyle's "Lost World," has been explored for the first time by Maj. Ralph Bagnold of the Indian Royal Signal Corps, who returned to Cairo from the Lybian Desert today.

Maj. Bagnold is the first European to have set eyes on the plateau, which was first described by Arabs in 1923 and named Owenat. Leaving their three Ford cars behind Major Bagnold and his companions climbed the cliffs and found on top a people belonging to a Negro tribe from Central Africa.

AFRICAN STONEHENGE

Northeast of the rocks he discovered a remarkabe circle of stones standing three feet high and twenty-seven feet wide, similar in formation to Stonehenge in England. The circle is in the desert near the Sudanese border, 150 miles from the nearest water.

The expedition covered 3100 miles of lifeless desert in search of the lost oasis of Zerzura, the existence of which is persistently reported, although no Arab can be found who has seen it. Maj. Bagnold said that in the country explored there was no trace of Zerzura nor any possibility of its existence.

DESERT EXPLORED

Through 500 miles of burning desert the expedition made its way to the rocks of Owenat, through sand dunes ranged at regular intervals "like an army," according to Maj. Bagnold.

The route back to the Nile led along an old slave route which was clearly marked by skeletons of camels. There were more than 200 skeletons to every mile, he said.

Important additions to the maps of the desert were made by Maj. Bagnold, who traversed territory never crossed before.

ENGLAND TO SHED LIGHT ON AMERICA

British Official Records to Be Published Here by Historical Foundation

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The Anglo-American Records Foundation will publish on a large scale British official records from 1580 to 1600, shedding light on the history of the birth and infancy of the American colonies, Col. Walter G. Eliot, secretary of the foundation, said today.

The foundation was organized to establish a $500,000 fund for research into American origins. Former Judge Samuel Seabury is its president.

Publication will be in volumes of 400 pages each. Records already unearthed by British and American research workers will be published first in three volumes now in preparation, Col. Eliot announced. These explain the motives of early American settlers, such as unemployment, religious and political persecution and personal reasons for migrating to the colonies.

Archivists working in England to assemble documents for the foundation are under the direction of Richard Holworthy.

ties, nurse's services. Last year 1232 permits were used by children, and almost as many other permits were issued but never used. Two hundred and seventy-seven of these were for children of preschool age. Nine hundred and sixty-three children out of this number worked ten days or less during the year, including vacation time.

"Six of the studios have fully equipped schoolrooms on their lots. No substitute is allowed for the trained teacher and welfare worker who act as guardians and must be supplied at the rate of one for each group of ten minors.

"During the past two years, 4601 children applied for motion-picture permits in the office of the Board of Education supervisor. Each of these children was given a thorough medical examination upon making application and additional examinations every ninety days throughout the life of the motion-picture permit.

"Very young babies are required to report to the physician within twenty-four hours after being exposed to lights for the express purpose of examining the eyes and there has been but one case in two years in which the eyes showed any irritation whatsoever and in this case the inflammation subsided within one day and did not reappear upon subsequent exposure.

"Pictures taken in rain and snow are always specially arranged for and the ever-present welfare workers are on hand.

"Often pretubercular children are discovered and treated and many children with decayed teeth, infected tonsils and eye and ear troubles have been refused permits until corrective treatment has been given."

CONGRESS SOON TO LAY COURSE

"Big Four" of House Plan Early Return to Capital

Others Engaged in Whipping Legislation Into Shape

Senate Clashes on Hoover Appointments Expected

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Two of the "big four" Republican House leaders—Speaker Longworth of Ohio and Snell of New York—are to return to Washington next Thursday to confer with President Hoover concerning legislative plans for the December session.

Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader, and Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic floor leader, plan to return after Thanksgiving. Representative Hawley of Oregon, the last of the Republican "big four," and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, is due to arrive the 24th inst.

In the meantime, Chairman Woods of the House Appropriations Committee, and Representative Byrnes of Tennessee, the ranking minority member, are co-operating in preparing the annual supply bills, which are to be pressed for action as rapidly as possible. Hearings were begun last week, and the $1,000,000,000 Postoffice-Treasury bill probably will be reported for House action the third day of the session.

RELIEF MEASURES

Chairman Britten of the House Naval Committee hopes to open hearings on the naval building program early in December. Unemployment legislation will occupy the House Judiciary Committee, while the House Agriculture Committee expects to give early consideration to a $60,000,000 seed-and-fertilizer bill for relief in drought-stricken States.

Proposed changes in the Mississippi flood control plan are before the House Flood Control Committee, and Chairman Reid hopes for action at the short session.

Administration sponsored legislation affecting oil and shale reserves will be considered by the House Public Lands Committee. The Public Buildings Committee will study the proposed extension of the public buildings program as an employment relief measure, while the Postoffice Committee possibly will have before it a proposed increase in postage rates.

DEBATES IN PROSPECT

Senate Democrats and Republican Independents look for some lively debates on a number of President Hoover's recess and anticipated new appointments, especially those to the reorganized tariff and power commissions and the Federal Reserve Board.

Nearly a score of important recess appointments, including six members of the Tariff Commission, will have to be sent to the Senate for confirmation, along with approximately fifty nominations on which no action was taken at the last regular and special sessions.

Indications are the Democrats and Republican Independents who fought the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill will wage a contest against Edgar B. Brossard, Republican, Utah, who was reappointed to the Tariff Commission during the summer. Friends of Brossard, however, predict he will be confirmed.

CHALLENGE THREATENED

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, has said he will challenge confirmation of Eugene Meyer, Jr., of New York, recently named Governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Several members of the old coalition have indicated they will make a minute examination of the qualifications of Claude L. Draper, Wyoming; Marcel Garsaud, Louisiana, and Ralph B. Williamson, Washington State, if they are renamed to the new independent power commission.

The last three were nominated during the naval treaty session, but no action was taken by the Senate. President Hoover withheld recess appointments of the three men because of doubt as to his authority to make them under the law creating the new commission.

Other tariff commissioners facing Senate approval are Henry P. Fletcher, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman; John Lee Coulter, Republican, North Dakota, and Thomas W. Page, Virginia; Alfred P. Dennis, Maryland, and Lincoln Dixon, Indiana, Democrats. Dennis and Dixon are holdover commissioners, while Coulter is former chief economist of the commission.

NEW LABOR SECRETARY

The Senate also will have to confirm a new Secretary of Labor to take the place of James J. Davis, Senator-elect from Pennsylvania, who is expected to resign December 1, next.

Another post to be filled is that of Vice-Governor of the Philippines. Nicholas Roosevelt of New York, was given this place during the last session but opposition, particularly in the Philippines, was so intense that the President gave him a recess appointment as Minister to Hungary.

Other recess appointments awaiting confirmation include David Burnett of Ohio, as Commissioner of Internal Revenue; J. Reuben Clark, Jr., of Utah, Ambassador to Mexico; Harry J. Anslinger, Pennsylvania, Commissioner of Narcotics; Charles D. Mahaffie, District of Columbia, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission; J. Butler Wright, New York, Minister to Uruguay; Hoffman Philip, New York, Minister to Norway; Floyd R. Harrison, Virginia, member of the Federal Farm Loan Board, and David H. Kinchloe, former Representative from Kentucky, judge of the United States Customs Court.

A published review of Senate action on all nominations since President Hoover took office shows that of 12,202 appointments, four have been rejected and sixty-seven withdrawn.

ALICE BRADY LIVES UP TO OLD SLOGAN

'Show Goes On' for Week Despite Star's Injury That Threatened Serious Harm

DENVER, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Alice Brady has remained true to the traditions of her calling.

After the final performance of "June Moon" at the Broadway Theater last night Miss Brady, guest star of the company, was removed to her room at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, where her right leg was incased in a cast.

A week ago Miss Brady stumbled over an obstruction as she left her dressing-room to appear on the stage. She injured ligaments in her right leg which had been torn badly six weeks previously in an automobile accident at Atlanta, Ga. The mishap occasioned only a slight delay in the performance. Despite pain of the injury, which has been almost constant since then, she appeared, her leg incased tightly in bandages.

Miss Brady refused to leave the company until after "June Moon" was concluded, despite admonitions of her physician that delay might make the injury permanent and leave her with a limp.

Merchant Ship Program Drawn by Titus Group

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The American Institute of Shipping announced today that it had drawn up a program designed to establish the American merchant marine on a firmer footing by making it less dependent on government aid.

The recently organized institute, headed by Norman F. Titus, chairman of the United States Load Line Committee and general manager of the New York-New Jersey Business Associates, will be a clearinghouse for technical and general information calculated to benefit the industry, the announcement said.

Bound Guard Sees Robbery

SPOKANE, Nov. 16. (AP)—Two armed men awakened a night watchman, bound him and leisurely ransacked safes of the E. S. Burgan and Company Department Store of about $10,000, police were informed today.

L. S. Streyffeler, the watchman, said the two men awakened him early this morning, bound him with baling wire and told him he would not be harmed if he obeyed orders. Then they attacked two safes with a sledgehammer, chisels and punches, working about an hour.

WORLD COURT ENTRY DEMANDED BY WOMEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—The National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War, headed by Carrie Chapman Catt and comprising eleven leading women's organizations, sent a letter today to President Hoover, members of the Senate and national political leaders protesting against the government's delay in acting on this country's entrance into the World Court.

HOOVER STICKS TO JOB CLOSELY

President First to Forego Rest Since Wilson

Tradition Keeps Him Handy When Congress Meets

Physician Holds Executive's Health Good, However

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—President Hoover faces the assembling of Congress next month with nearly two years of his administration behind him, during which he has had no extended vacation from the White House.

Widely known before his inauguration as an inveterate traveler who virtually commuted across oceans and the Continent, the Chief Executive during the last twenty months has confined his wanderings to a few speaking trips in the eastern section of the country and one brief fishing trip to Florida.

CONGRESS ON HANDS

Following the precedent of other Presidents in remaining at home while Congress is in session, he will have no opportunity for a vacation before next March 4, and if a special session should materialize this span would be lengthened indefinitely.

President Hoover is believed by Capt. Joel T. Boon, the White House physician, to be in good physical condition on the eve of the opening of Congress and able to carry on vigorously.

The practice, begun soon after his entrance into the White House, of playing medicine ball with a few friends each morning before breakfast has continued. Except for about fifteen pounds which he dropped within the first few months after his inauguration—and this is held by his physician to have been beneficial—his weight is unchanged.

He has grayed about the temples and new lines have appeared in his face, but Dr. Boone believes he is in better condition physically than two years ago, when he just had completed his election campaign.

STICKING TO JOB

Mr. Hoover's stay in Washington is longer than has been customary since the days when the World War compelled President Wilson to remain constantly at his desk. President Harding traveled west during both of the summers he occupied the White House, and President Coolidge made a practice of spending the summers vacationing away from the capital.

The first summer of Mr. Hoover's term the special session of Congress kept him here but last winter he slipped away for a few days of fishing off Long Key, Fla. Early this spring he planned an extended tour of the Rocky Mountains National parks, but this outing was canceled because of the drought situation, which the President felt necessitated his personal attention.

MRS. HOOVER RETURNS FROM NORTH CAROLINA

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, wife of the President, returned today from Asheville, N. C., where she visited her son, Herbert Hoover, Jr., who is convalescing from illness. Mrs. Hoover left here Thursday night for her first trip to the temporary home of her son.

THREE KILLED IN RAID ON MEXICAN PAY AUTO

DURANGO (Mex.) Nov. 16. (AP)—John Streyer, French paymaster for the Montorio mine, and his chauffeur were killed by bandits who attacked their car today near the village of Encinal while en route to the mine with a $2500 pay roll. Guards accompanying the paymaster killed the leader and the others fled without obtaining any money. Troops were sent in pursuit.

MADRID STRIKE ENDS BLOODILY

Two Dead and Scores Hurt in Three Days of Rioting

Union Leaders Finally Call Off Costly Walk-out

Hungry Crowds Run Wild in Tempestuous Sunday

MADRID, Nov. 16. (AP) — After three days of riot and disorder, with two konwn dead, a number gravely injured and 200 with lesser hurts, the Madrid general strike began to end tonight.

Following upon a day in which more than a score of persons were injured in bread riots and an attack on Catholic students selling the newspaper El Debate, union labor headquarters issued a communique which put taxicabs back on the streets at midnight, ordered street-car men to resume work tomorrow morning and told all other strikers to be back on the job by 5 o'clock tomorrow evening.

MANY OUT OF FOOD

The news brought great joy to the population of the capital, because many had run out of food since the strike was declared following charges of police brutality at a funeral of four workmen Wednesday.

Bakers had not been working, hence bread almost was impossible to obtain; all stores were closed, and transportation was lacking. Strikers also attempted to prevent foodstuffs from entering the outskirts of the city, and the result was that many went to bed hungry tonight. Army bakers worked night and day to produce bread, transporting it in army trucks, but the supply was far too little for the great population of the nation's capital.

THEATERS PACKED

Even before the union labor communique was issued tonight the motion-picture theaters opened and drew packed houses, as the people had no other place to go. They watched American screen favorites as police and civil guards, mounted and afoot, with rifles and portable machine guns ready for action, protected the exteriors.

Troops, meanwhile, patrolled the city watchfully, although martial law was not officially declared. Nor was censorship invoked.

Socialist and Republican elements allied with the labor unions said tonight they had decided not, to attempt converting the general strike into a movement for revolution. They added an attempt at revolution will be made later, but the present time is inopportune.

"LET'S GO"

Government officials smiled when hearing such statements and in effect said, "Let's go; we are ready."

Much opposition developed to the strike, the Catholic labor unions and the Chamber of Commerce issuing statements decrying the movement. In addition, billboards were plastered today with statements signed by the "League Against Revolution," says in effect:

"We are more than 2,000,000 Spaniards who will never permit Spain to be dominated by Red Russia. We are against this Communist revolution. We will fight for our homes and our country. Down with this attempt at revolution in Spain."

GUARDS CHARGE

Several minor disorders occurred tonight, one of them centering around Puerta del Sol, which by some is termed the Times Square of Madrid.

Great crowds assembled in the square, attempting to impede the progress of private motor cars, and mounted civil guards charged several times to break up manifestations. A few persons were slightly injured.

Civil guards also dissolved groups of strikers in Glorieta del Bilbao Plaza, where a cafe had attempted to open in defiance of the strike edict. Several strikers were arrested.

HE'S "BONE OF CONTENTION"

Boy Loses No Flesh Over Parents' War

"Doody" Elsman

[P. & A. Photo]

RENO, Nov. 16.—The Elsman case, a fight over a 5-year-old boy, went to Judge Bartlett for decision yesterday, with all hands girding for new hostilities, no matter what the decision.

Judge Bartlett must decide whether chubby "Doody," as Ralph Elsman, Jr., is nicknamed, shall go to the natural mother, Mrs. Beatrice Elsman, or Elsman's third wife, formerly Florence Diehl and once "Doody's" nursemaid.

Vituperation, strewn across court records in what George Thatcher, attorney for Elsman, yesterday described as "Reno's most controversial case" was heaped upon Mrs. Elsman and Elsman, in bitterest mutual contempt.

Judge Bartlett, recently defeated in his campaign for re-election, is expected to give "Doody" to Elsman, former president of the Kings County (N. Y.) Lighting Company.

If he does Mrs. Elsman is ready to aim a new court barrage at Elsman in an attempt to regain the child. If Elsman does not win custody of his boy, for whom he has already spent nearly $500,000, he will go to legal war again, too.

BISHOP CANNON ACTION SOUGHT

Tinkham in Formal Demand on Attorney-General

Corrupt Practices Act Held Violated by Churchman

Approaching of Time Limit Cited by Bay Stater

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—A formal demand that Atty.-Gen. Mitchell place before a Federal grand jury charges that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., had violated the Corrupt Practices Act was made today by Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts.

Tinkham made the charges against the Southern Methodist churchman in previous letters to the Attorney-General, on the House floor and before the Senate Lobby Committee.

GIFT UNREPORTED

The Bishop was charged by Tinkham with violating the Federal act by failing to report to the House clerk $65,300 received from E. C. Jameson of New York for use by the Anti-Smith Democratic Committee in Virginia in the 1928 Presidential campaign. Later, Tinkham said, Cannon as chairman of the committee reported receipts of $17,000 of the amount, but refused to testify before the Senate Lobby Committee, "in relation to his political expenditures or those of his committee and to account for this difference of $48,300."

In a letter to the Attorney-General made public today, Tinkham said:

TIME LIMIT NEAR

"Unless the evidence is placed before a Federal grand jury shortly the operation of the statute of limitation will bar action against Bishop Cannon and he will be granted immunity by you from the penalty of a gross violation of a criminal statute and of conduct wholly lawless.

"Therefore, there arises for your determination the question whether this officer, Bishop Cannon, and other officers of ecclesiastical organizations may indulge in political activities in contravention of the Constitution and of the traditions of our country and be regarded nevertheless as immune from the operation of criminal statutes."

TIPS PROFFERED

Tinkham suggested the Justice Department inquire into certain bank records as to disposition of money contributed by Jameson for the anti-Smith campaign through Bishop Cannon. He mentioned the Lawyers' Trust Company of New York, the Continental Trust Company of Washington and the First National Bank of Blackstone, Va.

Meanwhile Dr. Ray Lyman Sexton, attending physician, said the condition of Bishop Cannon, suffering from arthritis in a local hospital, is satisfactory.

"The spread of the disease has been definitely arrested," Dr. Sexton said. "Our worst fear that it would spread to the heart has not materialized."

ITALY SURE OF WAR COST REPAYMENT

Minister Grandi Pleased With Young Plan Results; Debts Fully Covered

ROME, Nov. 16. (AP)—Foreign Minister Grandi in a report submitted to the Chamber for discussion after reconvening says the reparation conferences in The Hague and at Paris turned out an "indisputable success" for Italy.

"We have before all been assured of completed coverage of our war debts to the United States and England," he said, "and have obtained restitution for the Italian gold deposited in London.

"We conserve the disposable part of the Young plan annuity which is freely negotiable commercially. We thus consolidate what the Young plan assured for our benefit—namely 12 per cent for the first twenty-seven years and 22 per cent for the remaining twenty-two years."

He said the work of Italy's Young plan experts has fully reached expectations and that Italy's obligations toward England were balanced by Czecho-Slovakia's debt to Italy and France, the latter country having transferred her quota to Italy.

HUNGER AND DISCONTENT TO FILL RUSSIAN WINTER

Dissatisfied Too Disorganized to Halt Exporting of Food Needed at Home

While soviet citizens wait in ever-lengthening queues for their meager rations, Russia's bumper harvest is being sold abroad at cut-throat prices. Other staples, practically unprocurable in Russia, are serious competitors in world markets.

What is the explanation of this amazing situation, unparalleled in the history of the world? How far is soviet dumping legitimate competition? How far a deliberate attempt to run world markets in the interest of the doctrines of Bolshevism?

How long can it be expected to last? Are the Russian people heart and soul behind the sacrifices their rulers demand?

These are some of the questions considered in a series of three articles, of which this is the second, by Ronald Heymanson, journalist and economist, who has just returned from an unescorted visit of observation in Russia.

BY RANDALL HEYMANSON

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

LONDON, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Every bushel of wheat Russia dumps abroad betrays to the outside world the embarrassment of her rulers. No merchant whose affairs are in good order sells his goods at bankruptcy prices. No business man makes a slash of 25 per cent or more in his prices when a 5 per cent cut on a large turnover would be sufficient to win custom from his competitors.

Yet this is precisely what the soviet is doing. Only two explanations are possible. Either Russia is deliberately seeking to ruin the world's markets, or her rulers have lost their heads in their anxiety to obtain money.

GIVEN TO PEACE

The first explanation must, I think, be discarded. The small group of men who rule Russia are admittedly hostile to the capitalist countries and would be glad enough to strike a blow at their prosperity, but the position of this Russian group at home is far too insecure to risk any trouble with Europe or America.

Despotisms have been known to embark upon warlike adventures to distract attention from domestic failures. This, however, is not the policy of the Kremlin. Despite the ceaseless propaganda of the comintern abroad, the saber rattling of Communist orators at home and the restlessness of certain generals of the Red army who yearn to tread the path to glory, peace at any price is likely to be the policy of Stalin and his associates for several years to come.

When in the spring of 1928 the soviet Congress ratified the five-year plan the administration found itself committed to what may be one of the greatest gambles in history.

Almost incredible promises were made. Within five years industrial productivity was to be 2.67 times as great as in 1927-1928; the national income was to be raised from 24.7 milliards of rubles to 43.3 milliards; costs of production were to be reduced by 22 per cent; wages raised by 35.6 per cent; the output of each worker was to double itself.

INDIVIDUAL DISREGARDED

Thanks to a ruthless disregard of the individual amounting almost to cruelty at the end of the first year's work, the program was for the most part accomplished and in some directions surpassed. Success proved intoxicating to the younger and more ardent Communists and led to a demand for the "five-year plan in four years," to which the Congress committed itself last May.

Still further calls were made on the enthusiasm and patience of the worker. The five-day week, allowing one day's rest in every five, and the introduction of continuous shifts, that Russia's few and treasured machines might never be idle, separated husbands and wives and dealt a serious blow at what remains of family life in the cities.

Certainly conditions could not be described as idyllic. I chanced to visit a large industrial establishment toward midnight—contrary to general belief, few restrictions are placed on one's movements once one receives permission to visit Russia unescorted. Passing through a cold and draughty room I noticed a dozen or so workmen sleeping on the floor without covering or mattress. They had just come off duty.

In fairness it must be remembered that they were probably used to little better, certainly not in Czarist days. But the contrast between the promises and performances of Socialism was unexpected.

UTOPIA IN FUTURE

Russia, in fact, is placing its Utopia in the future—a risky procedure, often destructive of sane idealism. While I was in Russia people were beginning to remember that two years ago clothing might have been scarce but that food was plentiful. They were beginning to question the wisdom of a policy which refuses to import goods for immediate consumption, but purchases only machinery and raw materials.

A Communist justified queues to me as "workers' clubs," where people delight to exchange the gossip of the day. In summer perhaps, but no one could get much enjoyment from waiting in a shivering line ankle deep in Moscow mud.

Indeed, one hears nowadays more grumbles than gossip. In some parts of Russia, I was told, factory workers refuse to wait for provisions. "They will not even queue for vodka," said my informant; "and when a Russian will not queue for vodka his patience has been taxed to its limits."

His patience has been taxed to its limits. The phrase sums up the situation, and my impression was that the Kremlin is well aware that it can lay few fresh burdens on the people without danger. One becomes weary of reading the banners of scarlet and gold telling of past achievements and future projects. Those achievements have certainly been remarkable and the plans for the future are inspiring; but we are told so too often. Repetition is the most dangerous form of emphasis. What we hear ten times may be true; but how we long for a new tune!

PLAN NEAR COLLAPSE

It is frequently said outside of Russia that the five-year plan is on the point of collapse, that any moment the slumbering embers of discontent may burst into the flames of rebellion. This exaggerates the situation.

What is threatened is not the plan itself but the speeding up which the fanatics of the party demand. In March, Stalin denounced in the sternest language the ruthless collectivization of agriculture, which in the very first twelve month considerable exceeded the final aims of the five-year plan. This victory was won at the expense of peasant good will, as the spectacular trek of 10,000 Mennonites and the wholesale slaughter of cattle vividly showed.

There is a real danger that the pace of industrialization is similarly being made too hot. Realizing the necessity of consolidating peasant good will Stalin was wise enough to call a halt to the process of socializing the village. There is, however, no indication at this moment that industrialization will be slowed. Rather, the administration is straining every nerve to speed production, urging the people to fresh sacrifices and fresh efforts.

If this pace is to be maintained fresh machinery must at all costs be imported. But while the vast natural resources of the country might be expected to offer a strong inducement to the investor, foreign capital accounts for less than 1 per cent of Russia's industrial output.

CREDIT WEAKENED

In repudiating the debts of the Czarist government and municipalities, and in advancing counterclaims for damage suffered as a result of the Allied intervention during the civil war, the soviet has created a strong prejudice in the west against the granting of long-term credits. Most imports must therefore be paid for on the nail. The Kremlin has had resort to a device, not unfamiliar in Czarist times, of exporting foodstuffs at the expense of the undernourishment of the population.

Whether this policy will be continued and developed depends on the harvest and the docility of the population. Accustomed in the years immediately preceding the inauguration of the plan to a higher standard of living, people have not taken kindly to the reintroduction of rationing. It has been found useless to explain to a Moscow worker that he waits in a queue that a new factory may be built in the Ukraine. Consequently the administration has fallen back upon that familiar device of despotisms, sacrificing its servants to encourage the rest.

The day I arrived in Moscow everyone was talking of the sudden and dramatic execution of forty-eight well-known Russians for assertedly sabotaging the food supply. There seemed little doubt that moderate opinion was shocked. No trial was held; the crime of the accused was announced with their death.

CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED

A few days after I left Russia, Stalin, who had just returned from his vacation, directed the all-powerful secret police to redouble its efforts to crush "academic sabotage." That organization obligingly discovered a new antisoviet conspiracy on the part of a group of engineers allegedly supported by dispossessed Russian manufacturers abroad to create artificial crises in the soviet unions.

There seems little doubt that Russia will lie under the hand of a new terror this winter. It was rumored while I was in Moscow that some 500 people were visited nightly by G.P.U. soldiers, armed with general warrants to search and if need be arrest. These intrusions usually take place in the small hours of the morning, presumably with the idea of thoroughly frightening the victims. Yet many of these people are harmless enough, their only crime being that they were in some way connected with officials of the old regime.

These methods, iniquitous and even stupid as they must seem to us, doubtless serve their purpose of distracting attention and silencing the grumblers. Before I left Russia there were signs that they were to be followed by attempts to improve admitted evils.

While criticism of general policy is never tolerated by the ruling party, the soviet journals are almost immoderate in their exposure of failures to carry that policy through.

IN FOR HARD WINTER

It is, for instance, being realized that the state, however efficient as a producer, knows nothing about shop-keeping, and several factories are establishing depots from which the worker can draw a week's rations with his wages. The extension of this system, while not increasing the food available, should go far to ease the congestion at the co-operative stores.

Situations change with kaleidoscopic rapidity in a state where production can be regulated by a decision overnight. Since leaving Russia I hear that the shortage of commodities in the towns has been somewhat relieved. Manufactured goods, which were being sent to the villages to stimulate the production of grain, are now reappearing in the cities. Even agricultural produce is more plentiful and is being sold more cheaply.

Summing up, my impression, to repeat, is that Russia is in for a hard winter, during which there will be much discontent. But the malcontents are too disorganized to shake the strength of the government or change its export policy.

For my third and final article, tomorrow, the future of dumping will be discussed.

INDIA REPORTS NEW DISORDERS

Jawarhalal Day Celebration Brings Outbreaks

Several Europeans Injured in Native Attacks

Karachi, Surat and Bombay Trouble Centers

BOMBAY (India) Nov. 16. (AP)—Serious disorders were reported from Karachi and Surat today, with lesser trouble occurring in Bombay itself, during the celebration of "Jawarhalal Day," honoring the imprisoned bandit, Jawarhalal Nehru.

Several Europeans were injured at Karachi when stones and dust were thrown by Indian Congress adherents at the occupants of motor cars returning from the opening of the new Lloyd quay and Lloyd gate.

One of the injured is the wife of an assistant commissioner, who was struck over the eye.

More trouble occurred at dusk. By that time nearly all the cars had departed, but a taxicab knocked knocked down three women in the middle of a road and this incensed the crowd, which stormed the taxi, filled it with stones and beat the driver.

The president of the municipality suffered a leg injury while investigating the disturbances and two policemen also were hurt.

Fifty persons were arrested in Surat following attempts in various parts of the city to defy the district magistrate's order forbidding meetings and salutations to the Congress flag in connection with "Jawarhalal Day."

Many were injured slightly when police dispersed attempts at processions.

In Bombay large crowds gathered on Chowpatti Sands in honor of the occasion. Joseph Binnie, Indian Christian president of the Bombay War Council, walked among his followers while reading speeches by Jawarhalal Nehru, which have been declared seditious. He was arrested as were two other members of the war council.

Boy Drowns as Boat Capsizes

ALAMEDA, Nov. 16. (AP)—Losing his grip on the keel of his duck boat which had capsized in the wind-whipped water off the Alameda shore, Carl Hoppe, 16 years of age, Alameda, was drowned today. His companion, Henry Rothman, 16, also of Alameda, was near exhaustion when he was rescued by Dave Mitchell, 17. Mitchell found the oars of the capsized boat and later the boys' decoys. Realizing a boat had capsized he continued search and found Rothman clinging to the keel of the skiff.

Unable to lift him, Mitchell tied a rope to Rothman's wrist, secured it to his boat and towed the boy ashore. Rothman was treated for shock and submersion at a hospital.

Angeleno's Kin Takes Own Life

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Augustus P. Russell, 32 years of age, a salesman, committed suicide this afternoon at a local hotel. An empty glass and a bottle of poison were found at his bedside. Despondency due to financial losses evidently was the motive for the deed. Two sealed letters were found in Russell's room, one addressed to his sister, Mrs. W. E. Doren, Roosevelt Hotel, New York, and the other to C. D. Russell, associated with a Los Angeles business house.

Chester D. Russell, owner of an electrical-appliance firm, said last night he could give no reason for the suicide of his brother, August P. Russell, in Chicago yesterday afternoon. Russell said his brother was a resident of Texas and was employed by a middlewestern wholesale firm.

Waukegan Fire Out of Control

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—A fire which started shortly before 6 o'clock tonight and was still burning several hours later, swept a three-story building in the heart of the Waukegan business district occupied by stores and a hotel with a loss which may run as high as $500,000.

A call for help was sent out to fire departments of neighboring towns when the high wind swept the blaze beyond control and threatened the business district.

WOMAN TO WIN PAROLE CHANCE

Prison Board Reconsiders Mrs. Paddleford

Freedom Offer Renewed if Job Still Holds

Other Convicts' Pleas Heard for Commutations

SAN QUENTIN, Nov. 16. (AP)—Prison doors were unlocked again today for Mrs. Eleanor (Genevieve) Paddleford, former wife of a wealthy Los Angeles oil man.

The State Prison Board reinstated her parole from San Quentin prison, ordering her released to New Orleans as soon as her employment there is verified. She was paroled recently but the parole was suspended when bad debt charges were brought against her. These were subsequently settled. Authorities said Mrs. Paddleford's habit of running up bills and not meeting them had landed her in many jails in America and Europe.

Among other paroles granted by the board Edward Flores, sentenced from Calaveras county for assault with a deadly weapon, was given an immediate parole. Other paroles included Leona Carter, sent up from Los Angeles for manslaughter; Luther Bryan, Negro, Los Angeles, manslaughter; H. K. Brown, Orange county, issuing bad checks, and Lymus Allbright, Contra Costa county, burglary.

Jose and Leandro Rosales, brothers convicted in San Bernardino of robbery, were ordered deported to Mexico.

The board, considering ninety-eight cases, set fifty future dates, postponed eighteen cases, denied fourteen and deported three prisoners.

INVISIBLE REDS RAVAGE CHINA

Roving Communists Elude Nationalist Soldiers

Outlaws Pose as Farmers Till Troops Pass

Towns Plundered and Many Persons Kidnaped

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16. (AP) — Attempts of the Nationalist government to crush the roving bands of Communists which for months have ravaged the central Provinces of China appear to have met many more obstacles than were anticipated.

Although the Nationalists a fortnight ago on conclusion of the civil war against the alliance of northern war lords sent 100,000 soldiers into the Provinces and predicted suppression of the outlaws within a few months, throughout the greater part of Kiangsi and Hunan Provinces, dispatches today said, the Reds are roaming freely in groups numbering far into the thousands, capturing and plundering town after town, kidnaping anyone worthwhile, paralyzing trade and causing missionaries to seek safety in the major cities.

Dispatches from the district said this is true except in a small portion in the northwest corner of Kiangsi, where pressure from soldiers has caused the Reds to retreat westward into Northeast Hunan. All over the latter province the Communists apparently are holding a carnival of outlawry. Dispatches from most of Hupeh Province likewise indicate similar conditions.

Along the Yangtse River the Communists' mussle loading cannon continue to fire upon passing steamers constituting a menace to navigation. Nationalist gunboats, which were slated to conduct a campaign against the Red cannonaders on shore, like the military appear to be having difficulties in effectively opposing the Red strongholds. A majority of the Chinese craft are tied up at the various river ports and indications they are planning to engage the Communists soon are lacking.

Nanking's military apparently has not been able to oppose the elusive Reds effectively. Today the Communists may boldly uphold the Red cause while tomorrow, if necessity demands, they may appear to be peaceful farmers, thereby causing the troops blindly to search the countryside for an invisible enemy.

Changsha, Honan Province, is reported to be again menaced by the Red legions which are within fifteen miles of the city gates. The Changsha-Wuchang Railway has been cut below Yochow, where a strong body of Reds is operating. Virtually every other city of importance in Hunan is reported suffering from the Communist menace which has resulted in many of the wealthier inhabitants evacuating to Hankow.

CO-EDS OLD-FASHIONED IN IDEAS ON MARRIAGE

GAINESVILLE (Ga.) Nov. 16. (AP)—The senior maidens of Brenau College are not gold-diggers or flappers, but they do demand love.

At least that is how they voted in a test sponsored by Dr. John T. Miller, head of the educational department, on qualifications in selection of a mate.

Of the sixty-three girls, fifty-seven rated love as the most important attribute in the man to be led to the altar, and the other six rated it as "quite important." On the other hand, not one rated ability in dancing or card playing, or chances of inheriting wealth, under the heading of most important attributes.

Next to love, the girls listed health as "most important," fifty-six finding this a major matter. Mentality rated next, with fifty declaring it of supreme necessity.

Mother of Four Found Murdered

KINGSTON (N. Y.) Nov. 16. (AP) Mrs. Rozario Abato, 40 years of age, mother of four children from 9 to 15, was found slain in her beauty shop here today.

While police are detaining her husband pending further investigation, they say they have not been able to establish a motive and that they have no clew to the killer.

FILTH ORGY ATTRIBUTED TO THEATER

Bishop Manning Warns New York Play Producers Stage Must be Cleansed

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (Exclusive) New York's stage is in the throes of an "orgy of filth, degeneracy and corruption," Bishop William T. Manning charged today. His broadside, coupled with a declaration that unless there is an immediate house-cleaning from within it must come from without, was delivered before the annual memorial service of the Episcopal Actors' Guild in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

Bishop Manning said he does not approve of direct censorship, but feels it is inevitable unless producers clean up conditions.

"Something must be done to end the vile and filthy plays which now disgrace our stage," he told the actors. "Their dull, disproportionate and inartistic dwelling upon matters of sex are a sin against art, as well as against decency and God.

"There is such a thing as debasing the public taste by feeding it on that which is corrupt, degenerate and rotten, and that is what a large part of our stage is doing now. The same thing applies to many of our present-day novels."

ARSON SUSPECT SLAIN BY POLICE

Three Others Taken When Farmer's House Burns

Ex-Convict Beaten, to Gun by Would-be Captors

New York Art Dealer Held After Fire Losses

ROCK ISLAND (Ill.) Nov. 16. (AP) One man was shot to death and three others are held today as the result of what police say was an arson plot involving $3000 insurance.

The man killed was Edward Merreighn, 38 years of age, an ex-convict. Those held are Edward Macklin, a farmer, who owned the house they are asserted to have plotted to fire; Logan Debord, a real estate dealer, and Robert Powell, 19 years of age.

Police say they received advance information the trio held had employed Merreighn to burn the house last night and started for the place thinking to forestall the plotters.

Apparently, plans had been set ahead, police said, and the house was in flames when they arrived.

The officers found Merreighn at his home with young Powell. At their approach, they said, the man reached for a pistol, and Detective Dennis Bennett shot him through the heart.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

THREE PACKING HOUSES REPORT

Redlands Groups Hear of Prosperous Season

Encouraging Signs for Next Year Pointed Out

Citrus Fruit Returns About $1,500,000 to Growers

REDLANDS, Nov. 16.—Glowing reports from the past year and encouraging signs for the coming season, featured the annual meetings of three Redlands citrus-packing houses connected with Mutual Orange Distributors, held yesterday. At that time C. P. Earley, president of the Mutual Orange Distributors, announced that the annual meeting of the association, which will bring together 500 growers from all parts of California, is to be held next Wednesday in this city with a dinner in the hall of the First Baptist Church.

Real optimism was present at the annual meeting of the Redlands Foothill Groves last night with 168 members, or citrus growers, at the dinner. Directors elected at the meeting were M. W. H. Williams, George P. Cortner, B. J. Henry, Y. J. Attwood, C. W. Sotfel, H. P. Horton and W. R. Heacock.

ACREAGE INCREASED

G. E. Perry, the secretary and manager, made a report at this the sixth annual meeting showing that the acreage has grown from 835 to 1631, and the annual output from 202 cars to 505 cars.

Later it was stated by W. H. Blodget, field manager for the M.O.D., that the house now ranks second in the M.O.D. organization, next to the Anaheim Co-operative house. Blodget stated that the M.O.D. acreage increased 2770 acres in California the last season.

The financial report showed returns to the growers of about $725,000 and packing-house expense of about $50,000.

The annual meeting of the Redlands Orangedale Groves was also held, and Arthur Gregory was elected president; E. D. Nickerson, vice-president, and V. L. Gregory, manager. Directors are S. A. Grover, L. W. Nickerson, F. M. Wishard, Wilbur Armstrong, Roy Hufford and J. S. Benson. There was a 10 per cent gain in acreage and 200 cars of fruit were shipped during the season. A packing charge of 75 cents a box was made and 19 cents of this will be refunded to the growers. They received about $275,000 for their fruit.

LARGE REFUND FIGURED

The annual meeting of the Redlands Mutual Orange Association resulted in E. A. Stower, Walter Shearing, Allen Wheaton, H. S. Abbott, J. A. Steward, Walter Hanson, Harry Wagner, W. N. Barlow and M. M. Maxwell being elected directors. Manager John N. Hager reported a total of 222 cars shipped, of which 150 were navel oranges. The refund will be about $15,000 on packing charges.

Hager says the house will handle about 400 cars of fruit the coming season. There are 820 acres signed up with the company. C. P. Earley, president; J. A. Steward, sales manager, and W. H. Blodget, field manager, of the Mutual Orange Distributors, spoke at the meeting.

The three houses having their annual meetings sold fruit for citrus growers here to the amount of $1,500,000 during the season just closed.

Huff's Jerseys Sweep Arizona State Showings

ORANGE, Nov. 16.—Fifteen first prizes, including championships in every class shown, were captured by D. Eyman Huff's Anapaumo Ranch Jersey herd at the Arizona State Fair at Phoenix, it was learned here today.

Xenia's Sonny, Huff's prize-winning bull, which has won grand championships at every show this season, swept the field at the Arizona State Fair by winning both the senior and grand championships.

Other championship winners included Bullseye's Oxford Beauty, which won the senior and grand championships for cows; Gauntlet's Volunteer, which won the junior championship for bulls, and Precious Gem's Julia, winner of the junior championship for heifers.

Huff's herd has made a complete swing of the circuit, showing at St. Louis, Portland, Texas, Louisiana and Arizona State fairs, besides participating in California shows.

COUPLE WEDDED SIXTY YEARS

Monrovia Pair's Children All Living

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson of Monrovia, who today observe sixtieth wedding anniversary, have as their motto: "Give as well as take, and look on the bright side of life when possible." Theirs has been a model union, according to their friends. All five of their children are living and all residents of Southern California.

MONROVIA, Nov. 16.—"Give as well as take, and look on the bright side of life when possible," is the prescription for a happy married life, in the opinion of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson, of 123 Poinsettia Place, who will tomorrow celebrate sixty years of wedded bliss.

The Wilsons are fully capable of advancing advice about marriage for theirs is a model union, according to their friends.

Yesterday was the natal anniversary of Mrs. Wilson who proudly states that she is 87 years young, while Mr. Wilson celebrated his seventy-ninth birthday anniversary on September 4.

Although it is difficult for Mrs. Wilson to help herself about the house, she is the picture of health and the rose in her cheeks is natural.

Born in Kentucky, the couple spent most of their lives on farms situated only four miles apart, and their marriage culminated a romance which began in childhood.

The Wilsons came to California from Kansas, twenty-five years ago, and first made their home in Santa Monica and later in Pasadena before they moved to this city.

They have five children, all living in Southern California. Two sons, Harve Wilson and J. Frank Wilson, reside in Monrovia, as does a daughter, Mrs. Loretta Moulton. The two other daughters are Mrs. Laura Weihe of Hollywood and Mrs. Nelly Weihe of Santa Monica.

Snow Carnival Dates Set at Rim of World

The State and county highway departments will keep the mountain roads open during the winter storms.

City Responsible for Workman's Death in Cave-in ONTARIO, Nov. 16.—Charging that the city of Ontario was negligent in safeguarding the life of a workman engaged in digging a trench in a city street, a Coroner's jury held the city to blame in the death of Commodore Dewey Albright, employed by the city water department.

Albright was engaged in digging a trench for a water pipe at South Euclid avenue and Dessau street when the sides caved in, and buried him.

Another workman, seeing the sides begin to slide, yelled a warning to Albright, but as he was at the end of the trench he could not get out, and the tons of dirt and rock crushed him in an upright position.

The Coroner's jury, under Deputy Coroner D. F. Ralphs, held that the city did not take proper precautions in cribbing or banking the sides of the ditch against a cave-in. The verdict declared that Albright came to his death from "a basal fracture of the skull in a cave-in while employed in the city water department, caused by the city of Ontario not taking proper precautions."

Witnesses testified that another ditch had been dug a few days previously only four feet from the present excavation, and that it had been filled in two days before the fatality.

Fellow-workers dug for forty-five minutes seeking to extricate Albright. They succeeded in making an opening for his head, but he could not breathe because of the weight on his chest.

Albright died shortly after he was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital.

Transportation Vital Issue at Montebello

MONTEBELLO, Nov. 16.—In an effort to secure adequate transportation for the commuters of the city the officers and directors of the Montebello Chamber of Commerce, members of the City Council, J. P. Walker, City Manager, met with Max H. Green and J. L. McIlveen, officials of the Motor Transit Company, with the officials of the transit company responding to the suggestions made. They also stated that their company stood ready and willing to do its share in the furthering of transportation in accord with the city's onward development.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce is now contacting the commuters in an earnest endeavor to regulate and adjust schedules that might lend themselves to the growing need of the community. As soon as these records are completed they will be presented to the transit company and with their approval will be put in operation.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS SENT INTO VALLEY

VAN NUYS, Nov. 16.—Six newly appointed motorcycle officers have been assigned to duty in San Fernando Valley, and have taken their first spin over the 400 miles of paved highways in the police district, under the direction of Officers Frank Conkey and James Clementine, who have been on duty in the valley for some time. The additional men are the result of requests of citizens for a better highway patrol during day and night. The new men are William E. Friend, Frank Morris, George Sparks, R. H. Mathes, Jack Guyot and Victor Neggen. The officers have been instructed to arrest motorists who have the habit of using the moderately traveled valley roads as speedways. Since the first of the year there have been numerous traffic fatalities because of such reckless driving.

"LITTLE WILLIE" WRITES HOME

La Verne Elementary School Pupils Given Opportunity For Self-analysis by Inditing Letters to Parents Telling of Their Standings

LA VERNE, Nov. 16.—"Dear Pop and Ma: I have been a bad boy all month and caused the teacher a lot of trouble. I'm poor in reading, writing and arithmetic. In fact, I'm so poor in all subjects that you really ought to give me a good switching. Yours, Willie."

Had all pupils of the La Verne elementary schools been critical in their self-analysis, several parents this week might have received letters something like the above. For a new method of issuing quarterly reports to parents is being given a trial in the local schools.

A few days ago students were asked to write letters to their parents telling them about their standings in school, and in what they felt they could improve, in what they are doing their best, and what subjects they are slighting, together with an evaluation of their conduct. These self-made report cards were perused by the teachers. Some were turned back for revision and reconsideration; others were satisfactory from the first.

The pupils were then given back their letters, blue-penciled with the teachers okeh, to take home to their parents. According to educators, this method has caused many children to get a viewpoint of themselves in the way the old method of cut-and-dried grades did not and has led them to make an effort to turn over a new leaf.

Two Brush Fires Cost Ventura County $10,000

VENTURA, Nov. 16. — Cost to the county of fighting the ruinous Simi Valley and Malibu Hills brush fires two weeks ago totals $10,000, it was disclosed today by County Fire Warden Walter Emerick.

Making up the amount are expenses for paid fighters, emergency equipment, food and general needs, the warden explained.

Property damage reports are now being made out by Emerick and his staff at the Santa Paula headquarters. They will be ready in two weeks, he intimated.

Boys Throwing Tomatoes Hurt Two Motorists

REDLANDS, Jan. 16: — Police were busy today trying to discover the indenity of four boys in a small roadster who threw tomatoes, and not especially ripe ones at that, through the windshield of a car driven by Ronald Roberts of Alta Loma, seriously injuring Roberts and his companion, Kenneth White of Ontario.

The two boys were driving on Colton avenue and in the midst of considerable traffic, when all at once the roadster with the four boys in it, dashed through the traffic. As they passed the Roberts car, one threw, and the large, solid tomato thrown broke the windshield of Roberts's car into fragments.

Both boys were cut by the flying glass, a great gash being torn along Roberts's hand and forearm, and cuts about the face, and White also being badly cut about the face. The police hurried the boys to a doctor where the wounds were attended to, several stitches being necessary.

So far, no trace of the car has been found. No one got the number on the license plates.

Of this sum $10,000 was for missions, $15,000 for local expenditures and $15,000 for the building fund.

The average attendance showed a net gain of 81 over the previous year and the net gain in membership was 36 making a total membership now of 979. The enrollment in the Sunday-school showed a good increase.

H. E. Marsh was elected moderator and Paul Bruington, clerk. New trustees are Mrs. A. E. Frost, F. Arthur Cortner, Vinton L. Gregory and S. Guy Jones.

TENURE LAW IN BALANCE

Glendale Board of Education Calls Meeting of School Trustees of Southland to Discuss Problem

GLENDALE, Nov. 16.—Members of the Glendale Board of Education have taken the initiative in calling a conference of school trustees from all over Southern California to study the question of the modification of the clause in the teachers tenure law that gives the teachers the right of appeal to the courts. The meeting will, it is expected, be held in Glendale, for the purpose of discussing the tenure feature of the law from the viewpoint of the taxpayers and of the school boards, according to L. E. Olson, president of the Board of Education.

Olson pointed out that a breach has widened between the teachers and the boards throughout the State since the adoption of the tenure law, designed to protect teachers from loss of their positions through personal animosity on the part of board members. Under the present law, he asserted, after a teacher has held office for three years in any district, he or she can only be dismissed with the approval of the courts, provided that the teacher insists on carrying the case into court.

DIFFICULTIES EXPLAINED

Olson emphasized the statement that the difficulty in this procedure lies in the fact that the courts try such cases not only on points of law and justice but on their merits, and that a school board desiring to dismiss a teacher who has appealed to the courts must present evidence acceptable to such tribunals. Further, he added, the testimony of school authorities is considered as hearsay and must be supported by concrete facts. Under the existing conditions, it is declared, the only alternative possessed by the school authorities is to dismiss the teachers at the end of their three-year probationary term, if the tenure clause is permitted to remain in the law.

According to Olson's quotation of an opinion by the county counsel, such a teacher cannot be re-employed, as such employment would constitute an evasion of the law. The dismissal at the end of the three-year term is the only weapon available to compel the well-organized teachers to abandon the right of appeal to the courts, it is contended.

APPEALS SUSTAINED

In nearly every case where the teacher has appealed to the courts he has been sustained, Olson said, and the board has been compelled to reinstate him. Such conditions, he asserted, do not obtain in any form of private or public corporations with the exception of the schools, and he declared that school officials are leaning more and more to the belief that teachers should not be alone in possessing the tenure privilege.

WHY EINSTEIN SENT NO WORD OF COMING

PASADENA, Nov. 16.—Failure of Dr. Albert Einstein, famous German mathematical physicist, to notify local scientists regarding his plan to visit this city shortly after January 1, is in accord with Dr. Einstein's dislike for publicity.

In an article which appeared in the October issue of the Forum magazine, the author of theories which have revolutionized the world's thought, wrote:

"I have never belonged wholeheartedly to country or State, to my circle of friends, or even to my own family.

"My passionate interest in social justice and social responsibility has always stood in curious contrast to a marked lack of desire for direct association with men and women.

"Such ties have always been accompanied by a vague aloofness, and the wish to withdraw into myself increases with the years."

MODERN MEXICO ADDRESS THEME

Senor Aguirre, Nation's Head of Charities, Heard

Friends of Mexicans Confab at Claremont Closes

Harry Carr Speaks; Batten Re-elected Director

CLAREMONT, Nov. 16.—Bringing to a close one of the most successful Friends of the Mexicans' conferences held in its ten years' history, a throng of more than 650 heard an address on "Modern Mexico—An Interpretation," given by Senor Enrique Aguirre.

Senor Aguirre, who is leader of recreation for the department of charities, Mexico, spoke of the important changes that have been wrought in Mexico in the last twenty years, since the revolution in 1910.

Importance of the rural schools as integrating agencies through which a new spirit of freedom and independence is being brought to the Mexican peon, social welfare, progressive economic steps, and the teaching of the three R's, are all being brought into the rural communities by these rural teachers, he said.

AGUIRRE SPEAKS

Senor Aguirre spoke of his experiences as coach of the Mexican Olympic teams in 1924 and 1928. He is actively interested in seeing that a large delegation of Mexican athletes is brought to Los Angeles for the 1932 games.

In addition to the address given by Senor Aguirre, one of the highlights of the conference was the personal viewpoints given by Harry Carr of the Los Angeles Times on his recent trip to Mexico. The speaker told of many incidents which interpreted the spirit of the people below the border in a manner that won the interest and applause of the entire audience.

President James A. Blaisdell of Claremont Colleges, presided at the evening meeting.

A record number of well over 500 people gathered in Claremont yesterday to participate in the conference which was held here under the sponsorship of the Inter-American Foundation.

SHAFER PRESIDES

Harry M. Shafer, assistant superintendent of Los Angeles city schools, presided over the morning session, the invocation for which was read by Rev. E. M. Sein of Los Angeles.

Dr. Paul S. Taylor, associate professor of economics at the University of California, was the principal speaker in the morning program, addressing the conference on "The Contact of Two Cultures." He outlined the steps and methods by which the Mexicans brought their own culture into the United States.

Dr. Taylor brought out the interesting fact that the development of intensive crops in Imperial Valley and Texas had stimulated immigration of Mexican labor by almost exactly once again as much as several years ago. In connection with the Mexican reaction to the American environment, he pointed out the fact that 220 Mexicans now own town lots in Imperial Valley, as compared with only four in 1910. Similar increase in property ownership has been seen in other areas also.

CORRECT METHODS TOLD

Following Dr. Taylor's address, Hollis P. Allen of Claremont Colleges led a discussion, which involved a consideration of the correct method of dealing with Mexican children in the schools. It was the attitude of part of the assembly that foreign children for more efficient education should be cared for separately from white students, at least during the first two years while they are learning to speak English.

Rev. Thomas O'Dwyer, director of the Los Angeles Catholic Welfare Bureau, presided at the afternoon session. Ray P. Glenn, principal of the Ramona School in San Bernardino, started the program with a talk on "The Proper Balance Between Cultural and Vocational Training for Mexican Children."

Dr. Snyder of Chaffey High School in Ontario gave an interesting discussion of "Major Problems in Mexican Education," speaking of environmental and mental handicaps seen in many of the Mexican children.

AMUSING TALK MADE

Miss Druzilla R. Mackey, director of immigrant education in Fullerton schools, gave the most interesting and amusing speech of the afternoon in answering the question "Do Mexicans Respond to Our Educational Ideals?" She enumerated four household American gods, the bathtub, the clock, the savings bank and the Constitution, as being things that the Mexican people had taken for their own to a great extent.

Following another discussion period the committee on nominations reported the selection of the following for the advisory board of the conference: Dr. Aubrey A. Douglas of Claremont, chairman; Miss Grace Ruth Southwick, Santa Barbara; Miss Flora Dell Smith of Los Angeles, Archie Bartlett of Monrovia, Ray F. Glenn of San Bernardino, Miss Christine Lofstedt of Pasadena, Miss Mary De Villa of Los Angeles, and Hon. Rafael de la Colima, Mexican Consul at Los Angeles.

The committee's recommendations were passed unanimously. James H. Batten, executive director of the Inter-American Foundation, under whose direction the conference was planned, was re-elected director of the assembly.

KIWANIS TO CELEBRATE

RESEDA, Nov. 16. — The Reseda Kiwanis Club on the 26th inst., will celebrate its first anniversary. Cecil Wilcox, one of the founders of the club, will be on the program. Kiwanis Club members from various San Fernando Valley towns also will take part.

TWO DEAF MUTES IN JAIL COINCIDENCE

C. H. (Dummy) Abbott

PASADENA, Nov. 16. — Sixty thousand dollars' worth of bogus checks are asserted to have been cashed by two deaf mutes, one a 300-pound professional wrestler, who were arrested last night by local detectives.

The two suspects are the first "mutes" to occupy jail cells here in ten years, and in view of the fact that neither knew the other, their almost — simultaneous arrest was considered an unusual coincidence.

One of the suspects, Harry Ayers, faces life imprisonment under the Habitual Criminal Act, according to telegrams received by Chief of Police Charles H. Kelley from the Sheriff of Lynn county, Kansas. He admits serving sentences in Joliet and San Quentin penitentiaries, and through an interpreter, Russell Handley of the Los Angeles traffic fines bureau, declared he has cashed more than 1000 fictitious checks, averaging $25 each, in the last few years alone. Previous to that time, according to Detective Sergeant Leon Schuhl, arresting officer, Ayers was sent to prison for passing $25,000 in checks, using other deaf mutes as victims.

"The Frat," national society of the deaf, recently published a full-page warning regarding Ayers, who was characterized as "a notorious thief and swindler of the deaf."

Detective Schuhl arrested Ayers in Los Angeles, where he cornered him in a blind alley at the rear of a Seventh-street hotel.

An hour later, Schuhl received word that another man wanted here for cashing spurious checks had been seen in a Santa Ana pool hall. Accompanied by Detective Sergeant Frank Clendenen, Schuhl motored to that city, where the detectives took into custody "Dummy" C. H. Abbott, heavyweight wrestler, who recently won a grappling match staged at Oxnard.

Abbott, according to Clendenen, admits cashing more than $5000 in bad checks since he completed serving a sentence of one to fifteen years in a Kansas penitentiary for cashing a like amount of spurious paper, bringing the total cash secured by both mutes to $60,000.

The giant wrestler indicated that he had been unable to speak since birth and that he lost his hearing when he fell from a velocipede and struck his head at the age of 3 years.

This Cablegram Received Before Date of Filing

POMONA, Nov. 16.—A cablegram sent from Cape Town, Africa, on September 13 was received by Pomona Pump Company September 12, a day ahead of the date filed. The cable was dispatched by George Findlay & Co., agents for the local concern, and called for shipment of a Pomona water pump by first boat sailing from Los Angeles Harbor to Cape Town to be used in relief of water shortage which is becoming acute there.

Because of the international date line, the cable was received on September 12, although filed at Cape Town September 13.

This is one of several shipments of Pomona pumps made to the African agent. The cost of shipping the product by boat from the local harbor to Cape Town is less than the cost of transporting the shipment from Pomona to the harbor, according to W. H. Day, vice-president.

BANDIT SHOOTS POLICE OFFICER

Sergt. M. R. Zimmerman of San Diego Wounded

Broken Kneecap and Cut Over Eye Due to Bullets

Unarmed He Tackles Three Men Robbing Store

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16.—Police Sergeant M. R. Zimmerman is in Mercy Hospital here today with a broken right kneecap, and a deep cut near his left eye, received when he tackled single-handed one of a group of three hold-up men who were robbing a Mashlar grocery store at Twenty-second and J streets last night. Zimmerman is resting comfortably this afternoon and it is expected he will recover.

He was off duty at the time, at his home, 2119 J street. A neighbor, Mrs. Ralph Lyekberg, who from the window of her apartment had seen three men enter the store and the lights of the place go out immediately thereafter, hurried to Zimmerman home and told him what was taking place. Zimmerman, some one else telephoned police to Central Police Station.

Hurrying to the store, the officer first went to the back door. But about the time he got there he heard some one running from the place and ran to the front where he had seen an auto. Just as he reached the sidewalk a trio leaped into the car. Zimmerman, unarmed, tried to stop the men, one of them opened fire on him at close range with a gun, thought to have been a .45 caliber. One of the bullets struck the officer in the right knee cap, shattering the leg, and the other made a deep gash just over the left eye. The shots knocked Zimmerman to the running board of the car to the sidewalk.

Police later found two .45-calibre lead slugs fired from the bandit car on the sidewalk. One bullet glanced from the window sill of a store and the other pierced the officer's knee.

As Zimmerman fell wounded, one of the hold-up men started to run, but Ralph Lyekberg, Jr., who had seen the robbery and who had armed himself and hidden behind a telephone pole across the street, fired upon the men as they drove away. Whether any of Lyekberg's shots took effect is not known.

Lyle Ramsay, manager of the store, said the bandits had escaped with about $50.

COUNTY ASSESSOR SOUGHT

San Diego District Attorney's Office Will Give Testimony to Grand Jury on Records

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16.—The District Attorney and his staff have completed preparations to go before Tuesday's session of the county grand jury here to give final testimony in the matter of the records of County Assessor George W. Moulton. The District Attorney's office has decided upon a definite course of action and is prepared to recommend decisive steps to obtain a court hearing at which Moulton will have his opportunity to explain asserted discrepancies in his books.

The assessor has failed repeatedly to appear before the grand jury, subpoenas were issued for him on three occasions and he appeared only once, at the end of a three-day search for him, according to the District Attorney's office.

So far as known, Moulton has been at his office only once since the first of November. Just how widespread an investigation has been opened by the check into Moulton's books remains uncertain, it was said today. Dist.-Atty. Stephen Connell, however, said he intends to "go to the bottom" of the whole affair without regard to what other offices may become involved in the inquiry.

County Auditor Chauncey R. Hammond announced that Moulton has made up a discrepancy of $2975.22 for the fiscal year 1928-29. Files in Hammond's office revealed that on May 2 he had written to Moulton a demand for that amount as balance due on collection of unsecured personal property taxes. A total of $441,207.23 was called for but only $438,233.01 was paid in. Hammond said the deficiency was made good at once and a bookkeeping error was found responsible for the discrepancy.

SANTA CLARA WARRIORS RAP SAN DIEGO MARINES, 58 TO 0

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Santa Clara University defeated the San Diego Marines, 58 to 0, in a charity football game here today. The Broncos outclassed the Marines throughout the game. Santa Clara scored twice in the opening period, three times in the second and four times in the last quarter.

The Marine Corps eleven made a determined stand in the third period, holding the Broncos at just about every turn. The Devil Dogs outgained Santa Clara in this period, but never seriously threatened to score.

The field was soft, due to early morning showers, but the rain held off during the game. Santa Clara's running attack functioned well. Pames also figured in the scoring. The Broncos also aided their cause by intercepting half the fourteen Marine tosses.

LOS ANGELES CITY GOLF TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

Mrs. Green Defends Crown Over Harding Course; Brilliant Field Enters Annual Championship

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

It takes more than a little rain to dampen the spirits of local women golfers, who are going ahead with plans to qualify for the 1930 Los Angeles City Women's championship at Griffith Park today unless conditions absolutely prohibit play over the Harding course.

Mrs. Roy Green of the California Country Club defends the city championship against an outstanding field, which includes such well-known stars as Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Riviera, Miss Bea Gottlief of Rancho, Miss Helen Lawson of Wilshire, Mrs. C. J. Woerner of Lakeside and Mrs. Mark Steele of California.

MRS. ROY GREEN

Today's qualifying round will be eighteen holes and the low sixteen form the championship flight.

MRS. GREEN FAVORED

Mrs. Green reigns a favorite to repeat her victory of 1929, but the field is considerably stronger this year than last when the California star won from Mrs. Voerner in the finals.

Mrs. Lifur and Miss Lawson are conceded the best chance to upset Mrs. Green should they meet at match play. Helen, it will be recalled, defeated Mrs. Green in the semifinals of the California State championship at Wilshire last spring, and then went on to make a splendid showing against Mrs. Leona Pressler in the finals.

Mrs. Lifur, one of the Southland's finest golfers, has not had a good year. She has been experimenting and changing her game, but at last seems to have regained the form that has carried her to numerous championships in the past.

UNBEATEN LIST SHRINKS AGAIN

Sixteen Still Undefeated on Nation's Roster

Notre Dame Faces Tough One in Purples Saturday

Army Offers Opposition to Irish Following Week

BY RALPH HUSTON

The list of unbeaten teams in the country was reduced by eight Saturday, when upsets were registered in a number of cases, and in others, the unblemished squads tackled strong, though beaten, opponents.

Only sixteen teams are still unbeaten, and six of these are tied. Among the leaders, who dropped Saturday, were Fordham, Georgia, Oregon U., Texas Christian, Colorado, Muskingum, Akron and Santa Barbara. Marquette also suffered a tie with Detroit, to lose some prestige, although it is still undefeated.

Washington State, newly crowned champions of the Pacific Coast Conference; Notre Dame, Northwestern and Alabama are the four leading teams at present. Oklahoma City, which heads the list with nine straight victories; St. Olaf, Utah, Heidelberg, Western Maryland and Tulsa complete the perfect list.

Unbeaten, but tied, teams include Dartmouth, Army, Michigan, Ohio U., Marquette and Bowling Green. St. Olaf has the best offensive record, with 302 points, while Western Maryland and Marquette have been scored on but once.

Only six of the teams get into action Saturday, but one unbeaten major squad is expected to fall in the Notre Dame-Northwestern contest. The four other unbeaten teams meet minor opposition. If the Irish manage to subdue the Purple, they must face another undefeated squad the following Saturday in Army.

Alabama, which appears to be the popular choice for the Rose Bowl game, January 1, has but one more game to play, facing Georgia on Thanksgiving Day. Tulane knocked the Bulldogs out of the unbeaten list Saturday. Florida had previously played a tie with Georgia.

Standings of the unbeaten teams, Saturday's games, and the standings in three important conferences follow:

	G.	W.	T.	Pts.	O.P.
Oklahoma City	9	9	0	339	43
St. Olaf	8	8	0	302	13
Alabama	7	6	0	205	32
Washington State	8	8	0	268	32

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

Into the Stretch

A CERTAIN poetic philosopher told a good part of the football story in these two lines:

"As this old world goes roun' and roun', some go up and some go down."

That is what most of the football teams have been doing this season—going up and down through a campaign where only a few survivors are left with their escutcheons on straight.

The stronger teams that have won every game include, among others, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Alabama, Washington State, Utah and Western Maryland.

Fordham and Georgia passed from the picnic party on Saturday, driven out by Tulane and St. Mary's. Northwestern or Notre Dame must give way by next Saturday.

But this last week-end was the wildest of the lot with Tulane beating Georgia, 25 to 0, Holy Cross smashing Harvard, 27 to 0; Princeton threatening to beat Yale with a minute to play left, and Cornell leading Dartmouth into the last few plays. It all goes to show again that football form can run into stunning reversals on a moment's notice where mental attitude and physical condition can make a difference of three or four touchdowns within a week.

The circle is now fairly well set. Washington State has bagged the Far West crown and Utah governs the Rocky Mountain district. Texas leads in the Southwest and Alabama and Tulane are neck-and-neck in the South. Michigan and Northwestern will split the conference plum pudding, with the Big Six in something of a jam and a jumble, Kansas and Oklahoma leading. Tulane has come with a wild stampede since its defeat by Northwestern. So has Colgate and so has St. Mary's.

But Notre Dame, Alabama and Northwestern have never even faltered or run into a close call. Theirs has been the season's most consistent play on the side of winning power.

The Counter-Charges

There were many remarkable games played Saturday, but none that surpassed Princeton's comeback against Yale in Bill Roper's last stand. Here was a Tiger team that had won its first game against Amherst and had won nothing since, playing a Yale team that had warded off defeat by Brown, Army and Dartmouth. Yet this Princeton team against Yale played the better, harder, faster football most of the afternoon in two amazing 80-yard marches—one for a touchdown and the other up to within a 4-inch span of a first down on Yale's 1-yard line.

Led by Trix Bennett's running and passing assault, ably supported by Jack James and the entire team, Princeton needed only an even break in the fortunes of war to win. An unlucky fumble gave Booth his field goal chance.

A desperate long shot pass from Taylor to Sullivan on fourth down with 6 yards to go gave Eli its other score. The pass was perfectly thrown and perfectly caught on a corking play, but there were no 80-yard marches over or up to the line in such sustained attacks as the Tiger threw against an old rival that on the season's returns looked to be thirty points better.

Here was a Tiger team that couldn't score on Chicago, and that watched the Navy run up 31 points, not only holding a strong Yale team at bay most of the game, but ripping and tearing along, with one of the best all-around attacks the East has known this year.

Trix Bennett gave one of the all-star performances of the season. Supposed to be working with a lame knee he carried the bulk of the work with the full support of every member of his cast. Bennett dominated the field most of the afternoon, but James, McIver, Mestres and the others gave the fleet back all the help anyone can ask for. This was not only a battle full of thrills and melodramatic turns, but it was also full of high-class football.

Few will ever know just how close Bill Roper came to ending a twenty-five-year coaching career with his greatest miracle.

The Unusual

Two of the main shocks were Tulane's 25-to-0 win from an unbeaten Georgia team and the Holy Cross destruction of Harvard. Capt. McEwan and his team have had a hard year, but they got it all back in this one game. Tulane was given an even chance against Georgia, but no one looked for any such avalanche against a team that had beaten Yale and N.Y.U., which are none too easy to beat.

Fordham and Georgia met strong opponents, but they also showed how the strain of an unbeaten season after a hard schedule finally takes its toll.

Colgate again proved its high place, but there is a world of credit coming to Cornell and Columbia for the stands they made against what looked to be heavy odds. Dartmouth looked to have too much man power for Cornell and Columbia, minus Hewitt, seemed to be far on the outside. They proved again that you can't tell in these November games, or any other games. It was fine stuff against all the odds.

Southern Methodist showed again the power of southwestern football by beating the Navy. Dodd of Tennessee, proved once more that he is one of the best backs of the year. And in the meanwhile, Notre Dame, Northwestern and Alabama went pounding along the one-way road, not yet thoroughly tested by any rival squad. Minnesota made a fine stand again Michigan and Fesler kept Ohio State on the new path.

"PRO" GRID TEAM TO QUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. The San Francisco Olympic Club eleven defeated the University of San Francisco, 32 to 7, here today. The game was featured by the spectacular runs of Fred Schilling, Olympic Club halfback, three of which he converted into touchdowns. San Francisco made its only score in the third period.

TRIPLETT CAPTURES AUTO RACE

Drives to Victory Over Star Field in Phoenix Feature Event

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (AP)—Ernest Tripletti, Los Angeles, drove to victory today in the fifty-mile feature event at the Arizona State Fair track in a race that left Harold Peterson of Phoenix injured seriously, the victim of a wreck on the first lap. Tripletti's time was 25m. 36 2-5s. He went into the lead at the start and was never headed.

SHORTY CANTLON

Peterson's car crashed through a fence after it was struck from behind by a machine piloted by Johnny Krieger.

Shorty Cantlon, Los Angeles, was second, a quarter of a mile back. Arvel Brennaise, Los Angeles, was third; Francis Quinn, Pacific Coast champions, fourth, and Vic Flet, Los Angeles, fifth.

Twelve cars started, Peterson, Krieger and Babe Stapp, Los Angeles, were forced out on the first turn. Stapp quit when he broke a gear shift.

Today's win was Tripletti's second in as many days. The Coast speedster won yesterday's thirty-mile race.

OREGON STATE FACES BRUINS

Friday Night Game Billed for Coliseum

Santa Clara Meets Lions on Saturday

Trojans Prepare for Clash With Huskies

BY BRAVEN DYER

What normally is supposed to be a big week in Pacific Coast football circles is nothing more than another Saturday this time. Washington State, having bowled aside all opposition, attended to that.

BILL SPAULDING

Half a dozen Coast Conference games yet to be played and none of them can change the outcome in the slightest. California, Stanford battling in their annual "Big Game," with no chance of attaining the top position. Yea verily, 'tis an unusual situation and the terrible Cougars are to blame.

Oregon State comes here Friday night to tackle Bill Spaulding's up and coming Bruins in an after-dark contest at the Coliseum.

Tom Lieb's fighting Lions of Loyola, who have played a lot of good football this year, face Santa Clara in the Coliseum Saturday.

POMONA VS. OXY

Pomona and Occidental, long the big shots of the Southern California Conference, have a private score to settle at the Rose Bowl Saturday. The two teams have been soundly thumped on several occasions and the game, like the Stanford-California affair, has lost the glamour of other years.

Meanwhile the Trojans of Southern California, having assumed high scoring honors for the nation by virtue of that 32-to-0 victory over Hawaii, will bear down in their preparations for Thanksgiving Day entertainment here with Washington.

One other development of the week will be the departure on Friday morning of Howard Jones for Evanston, Ill., where the Trojan mentor will watch Notre Dame attempt to polish off the Purple of Northwestern.

Washington State goes east next week to play Villanova at Philadelphia. Babe Hollingbery's Cougars should give the East something to talk about, particularly Turk Edwards and Mel Hein.

Stamford will be a top-heavy favorite to knock California for a row of brick Bible factories and the score is very apt to be rather enormous.

Oregon State's decisive 15-to-6 victory over Oregon means that the Bruins will probably have to postpone their hopes for a conference triumph until the Idaho game. Of course, Johnny Kitzmiller did not

OAKLAND PAPER SLINGS LATEST MUDBALL AT S.C. IN COAST GRIDIRON WAR

OAKLAND, Nov. 16. (AP)—The Oakland Tribune says today "The answer to the present controversy raging in the 'Big Three' of California football may be an order from the presidents of the University of California and Stanford University to strike out the University of Southern California from the gridiron schedules of the two northern institutions."

The newspaper says this prophecy comes from observers "who claim to know the official attitude regarding the 'football war' at both Stanford and California and who, during the last week, have gleaned the conviction that elimination of the Trojans from major football in the State is contemplated.

"The background for this belief arises from an asserted knowledge of the state of mind in which the great bay region universities—not the student body state of mind but the faculty state of mind—are preparing to attack the problem which confronts them."

From unnamed sources, but which the paper says it considers authoritative, it summarizes the situation to give the following reasons for "the joint grievances believed to be nursed by California and Stanford against U.S.C.

"(1.) Subsidizing of athletes.

"(2.) Academic laxity permits longer and better practice hours for the Trojans.

"(3.) Use of a loophole in the 'triangular agreement' to get

JIMMY M'LARNIN FACES PETROLLE FRIDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 16. (AP)—Pistic interest centers principally on New York and Chicago this week.

In Madison Square Garden Friday night, Jimmy McLarnin, baby-faced slugger from Vancouver, faces another heavy hitter in the person of Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express. McLarnin, who knocked out Al Singer in three rounds in his last New York appearance, will be a heavy favorite to win, although Petrolle may give him plenty of trouble. Tait Littman of Milwaukee meets Harry Smith, Negro middleweight, in the ten-round semifinal.

At the Chicago Stadium Friday, Tommy Loughran, retired light-heavyweight champion, returns to the wars in a ten-rounder with King Levinsky, latest Chicago sensation among the bigger fellows. Barney Ross and Harry Dublinski, Chicago lightweights, furnish the entertainment in the ten-round semifinal. Other bouts on the national schedule include:

Monday—At Boston: Andy Callahan, Lawrence, vs. Sammy Fuller, Boston, lightweights, ten rounds. At Philadelphia: Johnny Jadick, Philadelphia, vs. Tommy Groves, Omaha, lightweights, and Billy Wallace, Philadelphia, vs. Jose Diaz, Cuba, lightweights, ten rounds. At Dayton: Jan Bakyra, Dayton, vs. Roger Rouse, Cleveland, heavyweights, ten rounds.

Tuesday—At Fresno: Sailor Fay Keeley, Chicago, vs. Joe Ayala, Los Angeles, lightweights, ten rounds. At Indianapolis: Joey Goodman, Cleveland, vs. Danny Belmont, Chicago, lightweights, ten rounds.

SMOKE-EATERS ROUT GOBS

Fire Department Team Trounces California Sailors by 70-to-0 Score

Fire Department football players, coached by Bill Blewett, broke into the high-scoring division yesterday at the Rose Bowl when they romped to a 70-to-0 victory over the U.S.S. California sailor team.

The game on paper loomed as a tough one for the Smoke-eaters as the Gobs boasted a neat record in service games this season, but it was nothing but a rout after the first five minutes of play.

BILL BLEWETT

Blewett used his regulars for the first part of the opening quarter and then yanked them in order to keep the score down, but his second and third team ran high, wide and handsome over the top of the sailors.

Jimmy Dyer had a field day scoring three touchdowns. Boots Byers tallied twice, Sumner, Moses, Grimes, Murvin, Weise and Fremont one apiece.

The highspot of the afternoon was a 73-yard run by Jimmy Dyer through the entire Sailor team. Moses when in the game starred at packing the ball and tossing lateral passes to his team-mates.

The Firemen play the San Diego Marines next Sunday at the Rose Bowl. E. O. Barnett, athletic director, expects a real crowd as the Marines are considered one of the best service teams in the country at present. Line-ups:

MOHLER LEADS SCORERS IN COAST GRID CIRCLES

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Orv Mohler, quarterback for Southern California, went on another scoring junket Saturday in the game with Hawaii to grab off two touchdowns with the result he has made a runaway of the individual point-scoring race between players of Pacific Coast Conference teams. In eight games, Mohler has scored fifteen touchdowns for a total of 90 points.

Marshall Duffield, team-mate of Mohler and alternate quarterback, scored one touchdown Saturday to replace Johnny Kitzmiller, Oregon halfback, in second position. Duffield's total is 62 points. Until a week ago Saturday, Kitzmiller led the race from the start of the season.

FERGUSON DEFEATED IN RACE AT SANTA BARBARA

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 16.—William Schuyler of Santa Barbara Powerboat Club took the honors of the third annual midwinter regatta of the local club in the channel here today, when he ran away from H. G. Ferguson, a world's champion outboard racer, in the Class C event.

A rough, choppy sea and a drizzle were handicaps for the thirty-six drivers from various parts of the State who competed in the events. About 1000 people, most of them remaining in automobiles, lined the boulevard along the beach to watch the races.

Loretta Turnbull, champion woman driver from Los Angeles, won a special event against Mrs Zalos Scott, local woman outboard racer. Her brother Raymond, took a wetting when his racer flopped in mid-channel.

The Mags rallied to chalk up three goals in the final period. During the first half, the club kept the Mags' offense bottled up, especially guarding Heppell, one of the best scorers in the league. However, the Mags broke loose in the Representative Teams Strikingly Uneven, Says Zuppke

ILLINI COACH NOT BOTHERED

Experience and Ability Play Big Part in Scores

Asserts Systems Not at All Important to Game

Believes Notre Dame Would Star With Any Style

BY BOB ZUPPKE
Football Coach, University of Illinois.

CHAMPAIGN, (Ill.) Nov. 16. (NANA)—A striking feature of the football season that is drawing to a close has been the uneveness in the strength of representative teams. Some people are alarmed at this situation, but I do not see anything significant in it. Top-heavy scores by teams over others presumably in the same class merely indicate a remarkable difference for the time in ability and experience of the rival personnels. This is just a cycle and the teams that are up today are likely to be down tomorrow.

BOB ZUPPKE

The biggest hokum is the suggestion that it is not sportsmanlike for the team with greater reserve power to throw its forces into a game against a less fortunate opponent. It is absurd to talk of equalizing competition by penalizing the stronger team in some manner.

There must always be a best in everything. The solution is simple. Play in your own class.

There were few changes in the rules this season and the code worked smoothly. Some people set up a howl that the rules committee had penalized the shift for some dark, ulterior motive but all the committee did was to legislate against the illegal use of the shift, not against the shift itself. I predicted that the slight change in the old rule, which merely made the shifting team stop "at least a second" instead of "about a second" would not bother Notre Dame and the other shifting teams and it didn't.

The truth is that a team like Notre Dame would be just as effective if it used some other style of offense than its backfield shift. Systems of offense depend upon the whims of the coaches and can usually be traced back to the style under which they played themselves. A great ado was made because Pop Warner decided to use a line shift as if he were a repentant sinner coming to the mourners' bench. But fifteen years ago Dr. Harry Williams at Minnesota developed the best line shift in the annals of the game. Warner, like all coaches, is merely trying to adapt his style to his material.

ROUGHING PREVALENT

I think the rules committee should do something about the unnecessary roughing of forward passers. Perhaps to instruct officials to be strict in enforcing the general rule against unnecessary roughing will be sufficient. It has struck me that passers have been unusually roughed this season. Blockers are going into the air and hurling their whole weight against the unprotected passers, who are knocked down and sometimes injured.

The lateral pass has not developed as its proponents predicted. It seems to be good for a threat and little else.

I do not believe the interest in football has waned. Americans demand the best and the winning teams have attracted the crowds.

If there has been a nominal falling off in attendance in some respects, this was due to the business depression undoubtedly.

ROPER LAUDS PRINCETON FOR GREAT SHOWING

BY W. W. (BILL) ROPER
Football Coach, Princeton University

PRINCETON (N. J.) Nov. 16. (NANA)—I have seen a good many football games in my day, but never have I looked on at a more sensational comeback than that shown by the Princeton team against a strong Yale eleven, Saturday.

One play showed the mettle of the Tigers' players. Early in the game Yale recovered a fumble on Princeton's 20-yard line. Three running plays failed to gain the required distance and Booth kicked a pretty goal from the field. Princeton had started the game with plenty of drive and right at the outset had to contend with this unfortunate break.

In addition the Tigers had a dismal season behind them. The logic of the situation clearly pointed to an overwhelming Yale victory. Such a break would have taken the heart out of an ordinary team but Princeton did not falter for an instant but played all the harder. In the second period the Princeton attack clicked and the Tigers scored a well-earned touchdown.

At the opening of the second half Yale put in an entire new team and in the third quarter Yale really in my opinion played its best football, scoring from the 35-yard line on a beautiful, left-handed pass.

At the start of the fourth quarter the Yale regulars re-entered the game and Booth shortly threw a forward pass that grounded in the end zone. It was Princeton's ball on their own 20-yard line. The score was 10-7 against them. The Yale first team with thirty minutes' rest had re-entered the game, and there was exactly six minutes to play. A dark outlook to face a team that had already given more than I thought it was humanly possible for them to give. But the Princeton players were not daunted nor did they falter for an instant, but started a last final attack that carried the ball 70 yards without a stop and ended on Yale's 2-yard line with less than one minute to play.

It failed by inches to gain the goal, but it showed the mettle of the Princeton team for determination, drive and gameness. I doubt if this drive against a powerful foe has been equalled in the annals of football.

Certainly not in a Yale-Princeton game.

The Yale players too deserve great credit for their stand on their own 4-yard line. Yale naturally expected a Princeton set-up before the game. They couldn't help it from the Tigers' record. To keep their power as they did throughout the game and score a touchdown as they did it, the third quarter is all to their credit. For to make no mistake about it Princeton was playing football.

Princeton used the double wing back formation with an unbalanced line. Yale used a combination of double and single wing back. The punting of both sides was beautiful. Booth, Bennett and Howson played their kicks beautifully.

CITY TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

Mrs. Green Defends Title on Harding Course

There is no more determined player in the West than the Riviera golfer. She has lost twice to Mrs. Green this year in the Southern California championship semifinals and in the second round of the national last month. If the two meet this week, however, the match can be considered a toss-up.

Mrs. Lou Berrien, wife of Lou Berrien, Santa Monica professional, is entered. Mrs. Berrien has been making rapid strides in tournament play and may surprise. She plays her qualifying round this morning with Miss Barbara Bastheim of Hillcrest, a young golfer who is also rapidly coming ahead.

Mrs. George Crook of Hacienda is another who can be depended on to play some fine golf during the tournament. She plays in several women's auxiliary tournaments during the year and always gives a good account of herself.

Feature twosomes teeing off this morning are as follows:

9:30. Mrs. Roy Green and Miss Helen Lawson.

9:35. Mrs. Rex Taylor and Mrs. George Crook.

9:40. Mrs. Gregg Lifur and Miss Bea Gottlieb.

9:45. Mrs. C. J. Woerner and Mrs. Willie Hunter.

9:50. Mrs. Mark Steele and Mrs. R. C. Noble.

Post entries will be accepted at the first tee until 12 o'clock noon. Women golfers with or without club affiliations are eligible to enter, providing they have handicaps from scratch to 36.

BAY DISTRICT WOMEN'S TOURNEY SCHEDULED

Qualifying play for the second annual bay district women's golf championship is scheduled on Monday and Tuesday. Two days have been allotted as a number of women golfers from private clubs who intend to enter will be engaged in team matches at California on Monday.

Match play begins Wednesday and the thirty-six-hole finals are billed for Sunday. All women golfers in Southern California are invited to play. Prizes are offered for low gross and low net, and there will be trophies for winners and runners-up in each flight.

The tournament will be played over the Santa Monica municipal course at Clover Field.

CLIFF LITTLE WINS VICTORIA TOURNEY

Cliff Little won the thirty-six-hole medal play invitation tournament at the Victoria Country Club yesterday, 77-79—156. Low net was won by H. E. Pattee, 161-14—147.

Class B trophies went to A. O. Allen for low gross, 84-87—171, and J. B. Patrick for low net, 172-24—148. Troup Miller won low gross in Class C, 93-93—186. George Perry took low net, 190-40—150.

Prizes were also awarded for the best eighteen holes as follows: Class A—Low gross, D. C. South and D. E. Pole, 78; low net, Doug Lewis, 78-6-72; Class B—low gross, L. J. Kelly, 84; low net, Harold Johnson, 90-16—74; Class C—low gross, E. L. Williamson, 93; low net, Roy Voorheis, 96-20—76.

The Victoria tournament attracted a fine entry of seventy-eight.

BOURNE GOLD BALL PLAY STARTS TOMORROW

The A. K. Bourne gold and silver ball tournament starts tomorrow over the Pasadena municipal course at Brookside Park. Play is thirty-six holes medal with one round scheduled tomorrow and the second round on Wednesday.

Among the entrants are Johnny Dawson, Fay Coleman, W. L. Jelliffe and a score of other low-handicap stars.

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 16. (AP)—J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., and Ronaldo Boyd of Argentina, defeated the Argentines, Zappa and Del Castillo, 7-5, 6-2, in an exhibition tennis doubles match here today.

Gaels to Be Given Warm Welcoming

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Elated with the 20-12 football victory of St. Mary's College over Fordham in New York, yesterday, civic leaders of San Francisco and Oakland discussed plans today for a great public reception to the Gaels when they return to this section. Mayor James Rolph, Jr., Governor-elect of California, entered enthusiastically into plans to greet the returning victors. Mayor John L. Davie of Oakland said he would be glad to co-operate with Mayor Rolph in arrangements for a joint reception. The team is expected to arrive here Wednesday.

BARNSTORMING TOURS OF AMATEUR ATHLETES FIXED UNDER NEW RULES

BY TED VOSBURGH
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16. (AP)—A new rule designed to prevent American amateur athletes from commercializing their activity by accepting money for barnstorming tours through foreign countries was adopted tonight by the foreign relations committee of the Amateur Athletic Union at the opening session of its forty-second annual national convention.

The rule provides that all A.A.U. athletes accepting invitations to appear in other countries take an oath they have not received and will not accept any gratuity outside of their bare expenses.

At the same time the foreign relations committee approved the acceptance of an invitation to compete in New Zealand this winter by three of America's leading athletes.

Harlow Rothert of Stanford University, weight star and all-around man; George Simpson, Ohio State's great sprinter, and Rufus Kiser, former University of Washington middle-distance performer, will sail December 24 from San Francisco for New Zealand to be gone about three months.

This trio will be the first to come under the provisions of the new rule.

Meanwhile, a decline of interest in track and field sports in the United States was reported by Avery Brundage of Chicago, national president of the union. This observation is a part of his annual report, which will be submitted tomorrow. He also criticised commercialism in amateur sports.

Virtual assurance that the magic figures of 9 2-5 for the 100-yard dash will be inscribed on the official record book opposite the name of Frank Wykoff of the University of Southern California was given when the records committee approved his application for recognition as a new American record-holder.

If accepted by the convention proper tomorrow, as is predicted, it will be in line for submission to the International Amateur Athletic Federation as a new world's record.

No important record application was rejected by the committee. Among the others expected to go through without difficulty are a discus throw of 169ft. 8 7-8in., by Paul Jessup of Seattle at the A.A.A.U. Games in Pittsburgh, August 23, last, a world's record performance; and a 4m. 12 2-5s.-mile run by Ralph Hill of the University of Oregon at Eugene, Or., May 17.

The basketball committee recommended that the A.A.A.U. girls' basketball championship tournament be held in Dallas this season, but postponed action on the men's tournament until tomorrow. Wichita has held the girls' event for the two years of its existence and made an unsuccessful bid for it again. Denver hopes to land the mean's tourney.

The long-distance running committee recommended the award of the national marathon championship to Baltimore, for next March.

After a hot discussion in the boxing committee room, New York won the award of the national senior boxing championship over Boston, by a vote of 10 to 9. An unanimous ballot then was cast for New York, but New England Association leaders considered carrying the battle to the floor of the convention tomorrow.

The boxing championship has been held in Boston annually for twenty-eight years with two exceptions and it took a record bid of $18,100 by New York to win out. Boston did not make a definite financial bid, but offered to turn over to the national association all the net proceeds, which last year amounted to $11,289.

AMATEUR BOUTS COPS LIMELIGHT

Simon-Pure Battlers Will Tangle This Week

Simon-pure boxing comes back into the limelight Wednesday and Thursday night at the Olympic Auditorium, where the Los Angeles A.C. is sponsoring a two-day tournament. The tourney incidentally will be the biggest ever staged anywhere outside of the national championships at Boston. One hundred and eight entries have been received by Charley Keppen, athletic director of the Mercury Club.

CHARLEY KEPPEN

Never before in the history of the game here has there been such a response, Keppen states. The amateur sport for two years has been in the discard locally since the Los Angeles A.C. took it off its list of activities. When the Mercury Club announced that they would again sponsor the simon-pure mitt game boys sprang up from everywhere, it seemed, with entry blanks in their gloves.

Entries have been received from nearly every athletic organization in the Southland. San Diego and Imperial counties are sending the champions from their territory. The harbor district and the fleet at San Pedro will have a host of boxers competing for the honors here.

As yet the Los Angeles A.C. has not named any boxers to represent the club. That may come later, Keppen and Clayton Frye, boxing officials, announce. In the past the Mercury Club has produced some of the greatest teams and individual stars in the history of the game. Fidel La Barba and Jackie Fields are products of L.A.A.C.

Lieutenant - Commander Duke Kenworthy and Lieut. Jack Kennedy of the Navy will referee. Snowy Baker and Ernie Clark will act as judges.

The action starts promptly at 8 p.m. All entrants must be at the Olympic Wednesday at 5 p.m. to weigh in and be examined by State physicians.

RING BABIES MIX TOMORROW

Pacho. Reister figures over Anderson since Anderson is an unknown quantity.

Five boys have been selected to meet the winners on the second youngster card. They are Hymie Miller for Pacho or Pelx, Baby Sal Sorio for Reister or Anderson, Sandy Garrison Casanova for Papke or Wagner, Paulie Walker for Macias if he wins, and Canto Robleto for Wright or Cervantes.

Portillo and Walker are in the same stable so would be unavailable for Paulie. Macias with his record of thirty-nine knockouts in fifty-three fights looms as a big card once he is introduced uptown.

Papke is being picked to beat Wagner although Wagner is a good puncher himself. But the spirit which is firing Papke is making him a great fighter in spite of his short experience.

Cervantes is a young Mexican. He was unknown until he held the highly touted Jimmy Mack to a draw recently. Cervantes may surprise the flashy "Kid Chocolate from San Bernardino."

Cecil Payne will open training today at Soper's ranch. He boxes Eddie Mack on the Olympic card the 25th inst. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams is trying to close a Claude Varner-Kid Francis bout for December.

Plans to stage a Tod Morgan-Benny Bass nontitle bout have been abandoned by Wadhams due to the heavy guarantee asked by Bass.

ANGIER VICTORIOUS IN MARATHON RUN

In yesterday's run of the mud-splattered members of the Marathon Club of Southern California, Jimmy Smith, the Indian representative from Orange county, failed to get away to his usual fast start, because of a cold and the strong head wind that the runners had to face, and so he and his Los Angeles team-mate, R. M. Angier, ran neck-and-neck on the out trip through Montebello. At that point Angier, who is usually a strong finisher, began to "feel his oats" and took the lead on the return trip, covering the 11.2-mile course in 66m. 40s., with Smith finishing in 1h. 30s.

The time, while only fairly good, shows that the M.C.S.C. squad may do some execution in San Francisco on Thanksgiving Day. Challenges are being issued this week to several local institutions in the hope of getting some competition for next Sunday that will put them in shape for their excursion the following Thursday.

GLADYS PATZ AND WILLIAMS WIN

Two mixed doubles matches were played yesterday afternoon in the first annual Sycamore Grove reunion doubles tennis tournament on the Sycamore Grove Park courts. The tournament was expected to be completed yesterday, but because of a deficiency in the California weather system, the concluding matches of the two events, men's doubles and mixed doubles, will be played Sunday. Howard Williams and Gladys Patz defeated Reynolds and Williamson, 6-0, 6-4, in the only match completed yesterday, while Crockett and Hauswald defeated Jack De Lara and Dorothy Workman, the first seeded combination, by default, and split sets with Dave Ordway and Mrs. Prentiss, 3-6, 6-4, before the match was called because of darkness.

MIXED FOURSOME MATCHES POSTPONED FOR WEEK

It was necessary to postpone first round matches in the mixed foursome match play tournament yesterday when the Flintridge Country Club course was found to be too wet for play. The event has been shifted ahead a week and first-round matches will be played Sunday over the Pasadena course.

RAMBLERS DEFEAT TARTARS AT POLO

With its attack led by Buddy DuBrock, who tallied five goals for high scoring honors, the Ramblers defeated the Tartars, 9 to 7, yesterday in a fast polo tilt on the Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club field.

DuBrock played a great all-around game and was assisted in his scoring by Buddy Sherwood and Bill Ray, who each chalked up two points apiece. Mickey Millrick and Joe Smith played well for the losers, while Fred De Lacey also featured with some nifty placement shots from difficult angles of the field.

The losers staged a desperate rally in the last chukker but were unable to catch the hard-riding Ramblers in the point column.

OAKLAND PAPER NOW POPS OFF

poor scholars on the U.S.C. varsity."

The Tribune says in effect it has reason to believe matters will come to a head at the Pacific Coast Conference meeting, in Los Angeles, December 8, next. Next season's football schedule will be drawn up then. The faculty athletic representatives make the final approval of the schedule and, the article states, "The dope is the faculty representatives of Stanford and California, on the orders of their presidents, may strike U.S.C. from the list, without any ifs, ands, buts, or explanations.

"The basis for this action, if it is taken, according to the observers, will be the feeling that U.S.C. has a triple advantage over Stanford and California.

"In the matter of practice, it is pointed out, Trojan players are given academic schedules permitting them to start practice at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. At Palo Alto and Berkeley, practice is vastly more limited, it is declared. At Berkeley, football men begin their afternoon's toil at 4 p.m., and must work under floodlights until far into the evening if anything is to be accomplished, they say."

THIS IS AWFUL

On the scholarship standards question, the paper says it has been informed as follows:

"Following the break some years ago, with Stanford and California on one side and U.S.C. on the other, a triangular agreement was drawn up. This stipulated that no student was eligible to the freshman squads unless matriculated through passage of college entrance board examinations, or through graduation from a California high school accredited to at least two of the three universities, with grades of '1' or '2' in at least twelve of his fifteen units of high-school work. It further decreed that if the student entered college on high-school credits, he must have been in attendance in said high school for at least his senior year.

"The teeth of this agreement was drawn, however, it is explained by a clause merely specifying that, to be eligible to the varsity, a player must merely have been a student of the university one year and must have received passing grades in an average number of subjects.

"This has made it possible for a university to recruit a player anywhere, skid him through his classes with passing marks and let him draw a 'bye' during his first year in athletic competition, because he would be ineligible for scholastic reasons, and then let him burst forth on the gridiron on attaining his sophomore standing.

"There are some factions among those in power at California and Stanford, it is understood, who are urging an investigation to determine how many men now playing on the varsities of major California colleges were not listed on freshman teams during their first year."

The paper quotes an unidentified faculty man as saying the sentiment of the Bay region universities is summed up as follows:

"At Stanford and California we put football second. At U.S.C. they put football first."

second half and proved their right as the highest scorers in the league.

The first battle, the Viking-Vic game was a scoring orgy, with the Vikings leading, 4 goals to 1, in the first half, and the Vics reversing the order to chalk up 4 scores to 1 in the last. Ernert copped the scoring honors of the day with three goals for the Vics, while Hinkel and Seedorf were responsible for that team's other scores. Whatne, with two goals, and Hedbloom, Christenson and Baron, with one each, were the Viking tally-makers.

The Richfield Oilers showed an improved offense in their game with the Sons, scoring twice in the first half and once in the last. Saunders, inside left, and Madin, center forward, who is a new man, and Liggett, inside right, were the Oilers who chalked up the goals.

Canzoneri to Perform for Chicago Fans

CHICAGO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, new lightweight champion of the world, has agreed to box in the Chicago Stadium December 29, next, meeting any opponent Matchmaker Nate Lewis might select. It is possible the winner of the Barney Ross-Harry Dublinsky bout in the Stadium Friday night will be named to meet Canzoneri.

State end, sent the Beavers off to a 9-to-0 lead in the first quarter and Oregon was never able to overcome this handicap. McKalip first blocked a punt on Oregon's 15-yard line and Buerke passed to Moe for the opening touchdown. Later McKalip blocked another kick and the ball went out of bounds in the end zone for a safety. Oregon was undefeated until Oregon State came along.

Other games Saturday were of minor importance compared to the two in the Northwest. Stanford defeated California Tech, 57 to 7, after trailing, 7 to 6, at the end of the first quarter.

California won over Nevada, 8 to 0, while Southern California had a comparatively easy time with the University of Hawaii, 52 to 0.

One of the most unique scores of the day was Loyola's 7-to-4 victory over the California Aggies of Fresno. Coached by Tom Lieb, Loyola scored a touchdown early in the game, which was played in the rain, but only after the Aggies had first made a safety. With only a few minutes left to play and victory assured, Loyola was called upon to punt the heavy, slippery ball from behind her goal. Rather than risk the danger of a blocked kick Loyola's punter grounded the ball for an intentional safety.

Utah University won the championship of the Rocky Mountain Conference for the third consecutive season by drubbing Colorado University, 34 to 0. The Utes have dominated play in their conference for so long that their victories are being taken pretty much as a matter of course by now.

EAST PRAISES GAEL GRIDMEN

touchdowns, but Brovelli was the hero of the day. When he was finally carted off the field, a broken hulk of human power, the crowd rose to cheer him roundly . . . a tribute to one of the most gallant men ever to wear the moleskins.

St. Mary's comeback was heroic. The team did the West proud, and earned the sincere respect of eastern football fans. Boyle's 62-yard run to a touchdown, Speerbeck's receiving, Stennett's all-around play, Hunt's aggressiveness and the whole team's spirit will not soon be forgotten in these parts.

Bill Roper of Princeton was treated to a rare sight on the occasion of his last appearance in the role of Tiger coach, when Princeton came within 1 yard of beating Yale, after going through the worst season in old Nassau's football history. Princeton, kicked about all season by Navy, Brown, Cornell and even Lehigh, completely outplayed Yale in every department of football save that of scoring. James, McIver, Howson and Bennett marched through Yale's supposedly powerful line with comparative ease, and put the ball within inches of the Blue goal line as the whistle ended the game.

The fact that Princeton played Yale off its feet, lowers the prestige of the sons of Eli in football circles. Princeton is obviously a weak team. Before playing Yale it could not be classed better than a third-rate eleven. And Yale has not done too well in other important contests. Against Dartmouth, the New Haven eleven failed to score, and before that it lost to Georgia.

With the season drawing to a close, it is becoming increasingly difficult to find an eastern team that stands out as a superior eleven. Dartmouth, which a few weeks ago gave promise of being a brilliant team, has slipped backwards. The Green's only claim to fame was a victory over Harvard, a team which has since been badly trounced by Holy Cross, an eleven which it will be recalled was beaten by Fordham.

Penn, once a good prospect, was so badly trimmed by Notre Dame that one dare not mention the Quaker eleven in football circles without blushing.

Pitt, once highly recognized, also lost to the South Benders and Fordham dropped an intersectional contest to St. Mary's, a team which was defeated by California. And since the last-mentioned outfit lost to Southern California and Washington State, it appears as though the East is entirely out of the picture, and that football supremacy rests somewhere among Notre Dame, Washington State, Southern California and Northwestern.

The nearer the time approaches for the Dartmouth-Stanford game, the more convinced do we become that the boys of Palo Alto will find the Green team easy pickings. Cornell, a fairly strong team, but not an exceptionally powerful unit, gave Dartmouth a great battle at Ithaca last Saturday. Cornell, you recall, lost to Columbia, one of the poorest teams in these parts.

UNIQUE A.C. TIES OLYMPICS, 0-0

Battling to a scoreless tie, the Unique Athletic Club and the Olympic Club staged a thrilling football game yesterday on the Sawtelle Playground. Both teams scored touchdowns but the plays were called back because of penalties. The teams went all over the field, but lacked the final punch to put over the touchdown. Joe Gibson, former Riis High School star, and Brown of Lincoln High, were the stars for the Olympians, while Ben Shine and Bob Bench were outstanding for the Unique Club.

KOLOFF MEETS GEORGE

Powerful Bulgarian Signs to Take on Youthful Mat Star in Olympic Feature

Dan Koloff, the powerful 225-pound Bulgarian mat lion, rated as the roughest in the heavyweight division today, was signed yesterday to meet Don George, the Hollywood wrestling sensation, in the feature event of the all-star mat card being scheduled by Promoter Lou Daro for the Olympic, November 26.

George is on the trail of "Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's mat king, now that he has recovered from the injuries he received in his first meeting with the champion. This will be his first bout since his battle with Sonnenberg. Daro is known to have wired the title-holder several offers to meet George here in a return bout, but the mat king has yet to be heard from. He is in the East at the present time and it is reported he does not intend to make any more trips to Southern California this year.

DON GEORGE

Koloff is the grappler to give George his first test here as a top-notcher. The Bulgarian believed George would be a set-up, and did not prepare for the match as he usually does for bouts with first-raters. George won, and in doing so displayed some of the most colorful wrestling seen here up to that time. Many of the local experts declare that the shewing he made in beating Koloff was only topped by that he made in his battle with Sonnenberg here three weeks ago.

Koloff demanded a return match with George at this time and, as the latter declared he was ready to meet anyone selected for him by Promoter Daro, the match was signed. Koloff is being given another shot at George because of the wonderful record he has established on the eastern mats during the last few months. He has defeated every top-notcher in the East who has cared to meet him and he is known to have chased others through several different States in an effort to force them into bouts.

play much Saturday and his absence undoubtedly hurt the Webfeet tremendously, but Paul Schissler has far better material than Spaulding and if the Beavers don't win it will be because they allow themselves to be outfought by the Bruins, which can happen in any football game.

BRUINS IMPROVE

U.C.L.A. is capable, however, of making it a mighty interesting struggle and if the weather is good a large turnout should greet the two teams. The Bruins claim they found themselves against Oregon and that they will give Schissler's gang all the competition the Corvallis outfit desires.

Lieb has done remarkably well with his material at Loyola. In fact I rather believe that Tom has turned in the best piece of coaching exhibited in these parts this season. That is the best results from the least material. Holding the Olympic Club to a scoreless tie, and beating the California Aggies, 7 to 6, are the two major achievements by the Lions. Santa Clara will be favored Saturday but it should be a good game to look at.

Unless the Sagehens improve with amazing rapidity they are due for a pasting at the hands of their Eagle Rock friends. Pomona has scored only two touchdowns all season and doesn't give much promise of going point-crazy all of a sudden. It should be a hard-fought game, however, and anything can and may happen.

The Trojans will begin bearing down on general defense against the Notra Dame system, for Washington and the Irish come one after another now. Sam Barry and Clifton B. Herd saw the Washington-Washington State game and will be home today with all the dope.

There is no doubt but what the Huskies will make the going tough for the Trojans. Any team which can hold the Cougars to a mere field goal has something more than a bunch of uniforms and a few signals. The Huskies made more yardage than Washington State, 162 to 136, which indicates that Southern California won't have the easy romp which seemed likely after Stanford trounced Jimmy Phelan's team, 25 to 7.

CASANOVA MEETS MOORE SATURDAY

Sandy Casanova, Mexican lightheavyweight, will meet Tom Moore, a tough old veteran, in the six-round wind-up at the Main Street Athletic Club Saturday night. Casanova is a great Main-street card, having scored nine straight knockouts at the downtown club. A six-round semi-wind-up and three four-round bouts will complete the card.

Able Miller took a clean-cut verdict over Bobby Garcia in Saturday night's main event. Miller outboxed the Mexican all the way. Stafford McCoy decisioned Leo Domingo in the six-round semi-wind-up, and Joe Pimenthal won over Louis Ramos. It was a tough fight. Vincent Martinez took the decision over Jack Keenan in the other six.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA SENIOR ICE HOCKEY LEAGUE

Los Angeles Bruins	2	4	.333

Jim Hooker and the fast-traveling Hollywood Monarchs will have a chance to go into a tie with the Maple Leafs for first place when they skate on the ice at the Palais De Glace tonight in a Senior League battle. Only one game separates the teams and if the Movie pucksters win, the two sextets will be deadlocked with four victories and two losses apiece.

"Little Frenchy" Hebert, young wingman of the Monarchs, figures to be the marked man this evening. His bullet shots literally took the Bruin goalie off his feet last Monday night and two of his thrusts went for tallies.

DE PALMA OPENS DRILL FOR ASCOT LEGION RACE

Ralph De Palma, who is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles today from Phoenix to begin preparations for his return to racing ranks at the Legion Ascot Speedway next Sunday afternoon, is to be feted in the style of a "conquering hero" by the Italian colony of the city this week.

Ralph De Palma

Headed by the Val brothers—James and John—who for years have been prominent in auto racing circles of this section, the leading lights of the Latin district have arranged a large celebration in honor of the driver who for twenty-three years has reigned as a monarch of the "roaring road."

The program for the week includes a banquet to be held at the Paris Inn, where Bert Rovere will play host to an assemblage of 300, among them to be newspaper men, racing celebrities and prominent Italians of the city. The latter group includes Dominick Basso, the Bozzani brothers, Louie Baltergia, president of the Italian Chamber of Commerce here, and Peter De Paolo, nephew of the great Ralph and a former national speedway champion who was started in the game by De Palma.

Those in charge have not decided whether the dinner reception will be held Wednesday or Thursday, the question being reserved for De Palma to settle when he arrives.

According to smart racing men, De Palma will stand a good chance of winning next Sunday at Ascot, even though the competition will be stiff and in spite of the fact that he has not driven the track in several years.

VEARL WHITEHEAD TO MEET FRITZ TONIGHT

What is said to be a Bay District natural is the main event offering by Promoter "Cy" Saenz for his Culver City Stadium show tonight. Vearl Whitehead vs. Howard Fritz, a pair of Santa Monica sluggers, both who have won their last six starts, is the scheduled six-round main, at 146 pounds. For the semi-final melee, Saens throws together Tiger Joe Arciniega and John Willis, four rounds, at 165. This is a rematch following a grudge fight last week ending in a draw. Following is the balance of the card: Lawrence Navarro vs. Jack Smith, four rounds, 165; Ramon Navarro vs. Kid Williams, four rounds at 120; Johnny Uscudun vs. Jack Grande,

Two of the bitterest rivals in the Southern California Hockey League clash tonight for first place, when the Sunfreze Bears and Gilmore Lions tangle at the Winter Garden Ice Palace. These two clubs staged a merry race all last season and they have been pointing at one another since the start of the loop last month.

Manager Coleman of the Bears has assembled one of the best scoring combinations in the circuit with McLellan, Roy and Woodley on his No. 1 forward line. Woodley and McLellan are leading the league in scoring while Gudios Roy, the young Frenchman, is just a few notches below.

To offset this array of expert shooting, the Oilers will send "Big Bertha" Newell, Ash Gaudin and Jack Wilson, their defensive stars, into the fray. All these players are powerful hockey players and they ask for no quarter nor give any.

Swiftly and surely, The Ford Truck makes its rounds

FOR the business of quick service, where the trips are short and many, the Ford 1½-ton truck is well suited because of its sturdy design and careful construction. The quick starts, the sudden stops of hauling through heavy traffic serve to emphasize the value of the excellent materials built into the truck.

In such businesses and in numerous others, Ford trucks meet the stern requirements of daily operation through every season with faithful, swift and economical performance.

The engine, for example, develops forty horsepower at 2200 revolutions per minute—a medium engine speed. This, by reducing the wear on moving parts, adds to the life of the truck, while the four-speed transmission increases the range of speed and power. More than twenty ball and roller bearings, at important points in the chassis, ease the strain of schedules that demand speedy and reliable transportation.

Bearings and reciprocating parts are held to close limits of accuracy by means of precision gages in the hands of expert workmen, and extra strength is contributed by the use of forty different kinds of steel in the manufacture of the truck.

Ford trucks are so designed that they can be economically adapted to a large number of businesses. It is possible to procure the Ford truck with a wide variety of bodies, in two different chassis lengths, with single or dual wheels, with open or closed cabs, and with high or low rear axle gear ratios. For light delivery purposes, there is a selection of commercial cars available on the Model A chassis. Go to your Ford dealer, and examine these units in detail.

There is a special exhibit of Ford trucks and delivery cars with a wide variety of bodies at

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

An inkling of the truth flashed into the monkey's mind. Cadj and his people were pursuing Tarsan of the Apes to slay him. He forgave "Tarsan's" indifference of the night before. All the energy of his loyal brain was focussed on the necessity to rescue his friend, strange as that friend's actions had been. Save him, he must! With the agility of his kind he scampered down the kopje and was off at great speed toward the golden city. . . . La, High Priestess and princess of Opar, in company with several of her priestesses, was bathing in the opal pool of one of the temple gardens.

...the screaming of a monkey, swinging by his tail from a branch hanging ... screamed, "La! They have ..." At the sound of that name, ... and attentive to the chat... deep in the pool, she looked up ... "What do you mean, Manu?" ... have come and gone since last ... You must be wrong." Deep in La's heart burned the fires of her great love for Tarzan. What if Tarzan was alive? What if Manu was right and the god-like forest man had come again to Opar as he had promised? The thought was like reopening a wound. When the ape-man had not returned to Opar, La's love had become but a sorrowful memory. But now . . . the High Priestess of the Flaming God sprang quickly from the pool. "Who has gone to kill Tarzan of the Apes?" she demanded. "Cadj!" shrieked Manu. "With many men he follows Tarsan. La, quickly adjusting her girdle and draperies, sped through the gardens and into the temple.

OIL and MINING

TWO PRODUCERS ADDED IN HOBBS

Tidal Oil Project Records 9100 Barrels Daily

Texas Pacific's Completion Reported at 6500

Deepening of Discovery Well Fails of Purpose

HOBBS (N. M.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Two completions kept interest at the usual pitch in this field dring the week just closed. The Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil Company's State No. 2-G on Sec. 25, 18-37, was brought in from a depth of 4218 feet for an output of 6800 barrels, while the Tidal Oil Company's Hardin No. 3 on Sec. 19, 18-38, was completed at 4220 feet for 9100 barrels daily.

Deepening of the Bowers No. 1, the discovery well of the Hobbs field, by the Humble Oil and Refining Company on Sec. 30, 18-38, to 4215 feet failed to increase its flow. This well, which came in for better than 7000 barrels daily in the opening of the Hobbs pool, has been holding up in production, but drilling the test eight feet deeper made no material difference in its output.

The Midwest Refining Company has filed notice of intention to drill three wells near the towns of Hobbs and New Hobbs. All three holes are to be located on town-site property, situated as follows: The first well to be on Sec. 4, 19-38; the second on Sec. 4, 19-38, and the third on Sec. 33, 18-38. It is not believed that Midwest will start drilling operations on these locations for some time.

GOLD SEARCH IN SIERRA ACTIVE

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Increasing activity is reported from many lode and placer sections of Sierra county. The South Fork Mining Company of Los Angeles is rehabilitating the South Fork placer at Forest and has cleaned out and repaired about 700 feet of the Extension tunnel. It is intended to open a virgin section of the channel and conduct extensive work during the rainy season. New equipment is being installed on the adjacent Bald Mountain gravel property, preliminary to extending the old Copeland tunnel 1400 feet. The bore is expected to reach the deep channel

Sale of the Willow Ranch quicksilver property, Modoc county, to a group of Nevada and Oregon mining men for $25,000 has been announced by Harry Mills, owner. The property has been worked intermittently many years and is said to contain veins of gold-silver ore besides extensive quicksilver deposits. Rich quicksilver ore is said to have been recently uncovered.

The Treadwell-Yukon Company has opened good ore on the 700-foot level of the Noonday mine at Bodie, according to a statement credited to Supt. D. J. Duncan. The discovery is said to prove persistence of the vein system below the old workings. Further work will be needed to determine the extent of the ledge.

The company has installed a steam shovel on Standard Hill to work soil and tailings believed to carry profitable values in gold, and is completing a testing mill. If returns prove as satisfactory as indicated the management plans to work the hill with several power shovels and build a large reduction plant.

Arizona Placer Option Dropped

PARKER (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—There is report that the Virginia Louise Mining Company has not taken up its option on placer ground in La Paz wash south of here, east of the Colorado River. Title is in the New La Paz Gold Mining Company, which is headed by George Renwick of Peoria, Ariz.

The gravel beds were washed as early as 1860, discovered by miners from the Gila River placers. The main trouble lies in the high cost of securing water from the river for any separation process. No doubt appears to exist concerning the value of the gravel banks.

Bardeen Plans to Retest Hole

SAN EMIDIO, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—H. A. Bardeen plans another test of his Ramsey No. 1 well on Sec. 10, 10-23 in the Pattiway district of Kern county.

With a satisfactory test completed on the casing at 3327 feet, Bardeen will test at 4176 feet. In the event that commercial production is not found as a result of this examination, Bardeen intends to continue drilling ahead.

WINKLER FIELD OUTPUT WANES

McCAMEY (Tex.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—On the 1st inst. the Winkler county oil field passed its fourth anniversary. During that period it produced a total of 135,795,901 barrels of oil. The field is now on a steady decline and under the proration order of the Railroad Commission it now has a daily allowable of 60,000 barrels, with a rated potential of 126,562 barrels.

Its peak of daily production was reached in May, 1928, when, without any restrictions being applied to the field, it made a record of a daily average of 326,327 barrels. The discovery well was brought in on the ranch of T. G. Hendrick.

INSPIRATION ORE OUTPUT DATA GIVEN

Total Copper From Mine at Miami Reported as 68,600,000 Tons

MIAMI (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive) — Inspiration Consolidated, from its local ore deposits, has mined a total of about 68,600,000 tons, these figures from a recent statement of A. C. Stoddard, assistant mine superintendent. Gross ore reserves at initiation of work are reported to have been 145,621,714 tons, within 299 acres of the company's total area of 6108 acres.

The minimum production in one year was 899,500 tons of ore and the maximum, in 1929, was 5,799,567 tons. The camp, which has been the heaviest copper producer in Arizona, now is marking time till copper shows a better value.

Inspiration is operating only its leaching plant, the immense mill, largest in the Southwest, being idle, though kept in shape for renewal of production as soon as a need for copper shall arise. The local smelter also shows slight production, mainly from Inspiration, Miami and Old Dominion concentrates.

BELRIDGE FIELD SITUATION TOLD

BELRIDGE, Nov. 16. (Exclusive) The Richfield Oil Company's Belridge No. 1 well on Sec. 22, 27-20, in the Belridge field, is drilling ahead beyond 3850 feet, in hard gray sandy shale formation, with excellent cuts, it is reported.

The top of the Temblor zone was cored at 3590 feet in this well, while cores from 3586 to 3630 feet showed hard sandy shale giving excellent cuts, and a core from 3661 feet to 3671 feet indicated a good oil sand.

On Sec. 30, 28-21, General Petroleum Corporation's Berry No. 1 is near 2900 feet, in the brown shale formation, while the Ohio Oil Company's Bloomer No. 1, spudded a week ago, is going through the first several hundred feet of usual surface formations. The Belridge Oil Company's No. 15 on Sec. 26, 27-20, continues to build up its production, and is doing more than 3300 barrels of 45.7 deg.-gravity oil and 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas, an increase in oil of about 700 barrels from its initial production.

The Reward Oil Company is rigging up its No. 1-A on Sec. 34, 27-20. Reward is said to be controlled by the Associated Oil Company.

On Sec. 18, 28-22, the Rio Grande continues to idle its 3681-foot Garcia No. 1, and on Sec. 14, 28-20, the Shell Oil Company is ready to abandon its Core Hole No. D, which has reached a depth of 913 feet, at which three other core holes ceased activities.

The Standard Oil Company is rigging up its McPhail No. 1 on Sec. 36, 27-20, and Texas Company, which spudded in its Martin No. 1 on Sec. 22, 27-20, on the 3rd inst. is drilling through the brown shale at around 1000 feet.

The Union Oil Company's Bacon No. 1 on Sec. 27, 28-20 still is a location. K. C. Wallace has recommended drilling his No. 1 on Sec. 32, 29-21. It is down more than 3800 feet, in sandy brown shale formation.

Standard Unit's Tankers Load at Humble's Plant

PORT ARANSAS (Tex.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—The Standard Shipping Company, subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, has begun taking large oil shipments from the terminal here of the Humble Oil and Refining Company and two of its largest tank steamships, the Charles G. Black and the G. Harrison Smith, each with a capacity of 154,000 barrels of oil, lifted their cargoes of crude at this port.

Other of its tank steamships scheduled to take oil cargoes here this month are the William Rockefeller and the John G. Archibald. The tank steamships Halo and Petrol, belonging to the Cities Service fleet, also loaded out on the same day that the two big tankers of the Standard Shipping Company were in port, each with 100,000 barrels of crude oil. The U.S.S. Patoka, tender of the dirigible Los Angeles, took on 55,000 barrels for the naval base at Newport, R. I.

Union Bails for Water Test of Maricopa Well

MARICOPA, Nov. 16. (Exclusive) Bailing for a water test is under way in the Union Oil Company deep-test well on Sec. 10, 11-23, at Maricopa. Houchin No. 4 has a total depth of 7856 feet, the greatest ever attained at Maricopa, and the 6 5-8-inch casing at 7260 feet, which was cemented recently in the hole was drilled out a few days ago.

On Sec. 8, 11-23, the Wellington Oil Company has plugged its No. 4 well to 3264 feet and will test at that depth. Total depth of the project is 4568 feet.

Hart Oil Hole Drilling Ahead

TAFT, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—While the Midland Exploration Company continues its preliminary construction work on its first site in the Buena Vista Hills district of Kern county, on Sec. 34, 31-24, the Hart Petroleum Company is drilling ahead.

Hart's well has progressed to more than 3200 feet and is going through the sandy blue shale formation.

CURTAILMENT OF VENICE OIL DUE

Inclusion of Area on State List Expected Today

Agreement to Cut Signed Up About 80 Per Cent

Stabilized Price Forecast as Result of Move

The oil-curtailment program, which has been in effect in practically all oil fields in the State, is today expected to include the Venice field. Approximately 80 per cent of the production there is said to be signed to the agreement, which has been circulated by the various operators' committees, under the direction of Umpire Neil H. Anderson and his assistants.

Decision to curtail production at Venice was recently brought about by a number of operators' meetings at Venice. Most of the active companies agreed to curtail to encourage a stabilized price for the crude.

Since discovery of the field last December by the Ohio Oil Company Venice crude has been selling at 80 to 85 cents a barrel, and it is said that a higher price is in prospect if curtailment becomes effective and the daily yield is cut to about 20,000 barrels of oil.

During the past week Venice has been yielding in excess of 42,000 barrels of oil a day. There are eighty steady producers there, ninety-five drilling projects and twenty-three idle wells, most of which are thought to be good for production.

OPERATIONS AT TONOPAH MINE SOON

Caliente Cobalt Plans Start of Production in Near Future

TONOPAH (Nev.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—The Caliente Cobalt Mining Company reports that production will start shortly. A strong orebody was opened some weeks ago in the upper workings, with three feet said to sample more than $20 in gold to the ton. A lower tunnel is advancing, to cut the extension of this ledge. The ore also carries some silver.

Construction of a fifty-ton mill at the old Tramps gold mine, near Rhyolite, is being finished by David Findlay and associates. Old workings are said to contain sufficient commercial ore to keep the plant running steadily for a year, with indications regarded as favorable for development of extensions of known veins in virgin ground.

The Gold Zone Company has started crosscutting from the 100-foot level of its new shaft in the Gold Hill district. The crosscut is expected to cut an orebody known to exists south of the shaft. The claim adjoins the producing mines of the Gold Hill-development Company.

Mexican Eagle Gets Ready to Drill Holding

MONTERREY (Mex.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Preparatory to beginning extensive explorations of its oil and gas lease holdings in Northern Mexico the Mexican Eagle (Aguila) Oil Company has started the construction here of an office building which will be two stories and of reinforced concrete material. The oil-producing operations of the company at this time are confined principally to the State of Tabasco on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec.

It has maintained its principal office in Tampico for several years and it was stated that a considerable force of employees will continue to be maintained there. The leases, which the company owns in Northern Mexico, are located principally in the States of Tamaulipas and Nuevo Leon, where other companies already are active in drilling test wells, with some production obtained.

Mining Bureau Papers Issued

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Arizona experts recently have written a number of service papers for the United States Bureau of Mines, especially concerning methods of ore production. These papers, to be secured through the Department of Commerce, include: "Milling Methods and Costs at the Concentrator of the United Copper Company, Clarkdale," by C. R. Kuzell and L. M. Barker; "Milling Methods and Costs at the Concentrator of the Magma Copper Company, Superior," by J. H. Rose and J. C. McNabb.

NEW LEACHING PLAN ON TRIAL

Demonstration of Process Is Seen by Many

Method Declared Successful on Silicious Ores

Sponsor Points Out Benefits to Southwest Area

Public demonstration was made a few days ago at No. 1824 East Slauson avenue of a new leaching process, which is being exploited by the Pacific Ore Testing Company of Los Angeles.

Charles A. Palmer, veteran mining man of this city, declares that the method demonstrated is entirely a new one, for which a patent has been sought. It was created by a group of local chemists for the purpose of handling silicates, of which there are a great many in the Soutwest.

The process, it is said, will leach copper, lead and zinc from silicious ores without smelting and has registered an exceedingly high recovery at a cost of approximately 9 cents per pound on copper. It leaches the copper out of the ore and it is precipitated upon iron, after which it is melted and cast into pigs or bars.

According to Mr. Palmer, there are vast quantities of silicious ores in the Southwest which could be advantageously processed by this method. He believes that if a suitable plant were erected in or near Los Angeles it would result in attracting many copper and brass industries to this city.

At present pure copper bars can not be obtained west of Baltimore without shipping them direct for whatever purpose they are needed, and the freight haul is such a large item that copper and brass industries do not locate in the West, Mr. Palmer declares.

There are said to be vast deposits of silicious ores in Western Arizona and Eastern California which could be worked at or near the deposit by the new process and the refined ore shipped to Los Angeles.

Postoffice at Walker Mining Camp Restored

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—The historic camp of Walker, fifteen miles from Prescott, again has a postoffice, after fervent protest when an order of abandonment was made following discontinuance of operations at the nearby Sheldon mine and mill.

The settlement was established in 1863 by the noted Joe Walker, who for several years there was Czar of a hard-bitten aggregation of placer miners. Then great wealth was taken from the sands of Lynx Creek, which flowed directly in front of the present postoffice and which furnished water for later mine operations. At the camp is the upper entrance of the long Poland tunnel, through which ore and supplies were hauled to and from a spur of the Santa Fe system.

Promising Gold Claim Opens in Randsburg Area

RANDSBURG, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—It was reported here today that August Bender has taken out $1000 worth of gold from his Hercules claim which he recently purchased from three prospectors.

The property is situated three miles from Randsburg and is regarded by some mining men as an excellent gold prospect. Bender is down thirty-six feet and is said to have struck three different veins assaying high as an average.

It is understood that Mr. Bender expects to develop the property himself. Quite a number of adjoining claims have recently been staked by local prospectors.

Placer Washer of New Design Being Tested

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—A new dry washer is being tried out in local placer fields. The inventor is Charles L. Parker of this city, now operating at the Albertson ranch. Ready for packing, the machine weighs only thirty-five pounds.

Operated by two men, it is said to have made a satisfactory separation between the sand and the heavier materials, this done by an air blast that carries away the lighter materials.

"Colors" are to be found in almost every dry creek bed in this vicinity and belief is expressed that Parker's invention especially will be valuable for sampling purposes.

HISTORY OF LEACHING PLANT OUT

Story of New Cornelia Unit at Ajo Offered by Federal Mines Bureau

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—What practically is a history of the leaching plant of the New Cornelia works at Ajo has been issued by the United States Bureau of Mines in circular form. It was written by George A. Bell, chief chemist for the operating corporation and former leaching plant foreman.

The record starts with the inauguration of the plant in 1916, till the time of exhaustion of carbonate ores a couple of years ago. At Ajo was the first successful operation of leaching processes on a large scale in the Southwest, with large economies effected by mechanical methods perfected by extracting and handling the material treated.

Acid of relatively low grade was secured from the Calumet and Arizona smelter roasters in Douglas, even before New Cornelia was absorbed by the Calumet and Arizona. Deeper exploration at Ajo ran into sulphides, which better could be handled by flotation milling. Only a part of the 15,000-ton mill now is in operation.

ANGELENO MINE MILL IMPROVED

LOVELOCK (Nev.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—The Seven Troughs Extension Company, controlled by Gus Warmoth and associates of Los Angeles, has added concentrating tables to its floation mill, and expects to have all departments of the plant operating at capacity about the 20th inst. The plant has a capacity of thirty to forty tons daily. The management states that a substantial reserve of profitable ore is exposed, with development of new ground expected to materially augment the tonnage.

Lacey Brothers of Los Angeles, connected with foundries in the metropolis and heavily interested in the Seven Troughs Gold Mines, have taken a bond and option on the Wild Goose gold property in the Farrel district, near Seven Troughs. The Wild Goose has been under development several years and is said to contain strong ledges of mill ore. Under the control of the Lacey interests a new section of the group will be explored. It is planned to send the ore extracted in development work to the mill of the Seven Troughs Gold Mines.

Installation of the new rotary furnace has been practically completed by the Antelope Springs Mercury Company. The plant will treat twenty tons of cinnabar daily, with a good reserve of excellent ore said to be exposed. The cross-cut tunnel has been driven 380 feet and is expected to tap the ore body at any time. In the upper workings this ledge shows a four-foot width of excellent ore.

Los Angeles interests have leased the properties of the Alunite Company of Nevada, located near Sulphur, a station on the Western Pacific Railroad, according to advices received here. Shipment of ore has begun, and heavy production is said to be planned if the material proves as satisfactory for special uses as anticipated.

Barium Crusher in Texas Field

ODESSA (Tex.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—An unusual new industry has just been started here. It is a plant for the crushing of barium sulphate into a fine powder. The product is shipped to oil fields throughout Texas and Oklahoma, where it is mixed with clay and largely used in oil wells for holding down the gas pressure.

This powder is much heavier than ordinary clay. It is ground so fine that it resembles talcum powder. It is light pink in color. Barite, as the powder is called, is also used in manufacturing paints, paper, automobile tires and for other purposes. Large deposits of the product are located in the vicinity of the new plant.

Umpire Reports Show Total of 13,209 Wells

Number of Shut-in Projects Lists as 4211

Figures on East Coyote and Newport Omitted

According to a report recently prepared by Umpires H. Paul Grimm and Neil H. Anderson, showing the number of actual producing wells in California oil fields, there is little difference noted in comparison to former peak years when curtailment was not in effect.

The report discloses that there is a total of 13,209 wells in the State capable of producing, of which 10,571 belong to the group of thirty fields under the supervision of Umpire Grimm, with 2638 wells listed under Umpire Anderson's supervision.

Of the 13,209 wells, 4211 are not producing. In Grimm's group the number of shut-in projects totals 3652, and on Anderson's list the number is 559 wells. Neither of the two separate reports prepared by the oil umpires includes the production being obtained from the Newport and East Coyote districts. Daily production there is thought to be approximately 1300 barrels of oil, under curtailment.

The number of leases represented throughout the State totals 2405, not counting Newport and East Coyote. Idle projects are not listed in Grimm's report, but on Anderson's list there are 422 idle wells, most of which are said to be capable of producing. There are 458 operators listed in Grimm's report and 550 operators reported by Anderson, being a combined total of 1008 operators at present for the State. The potential for the State, according to the reports, would be approximately 1,197,650 barrels daily.

Los Feliz Gold Said to Have Passed to St. John Copper Company

MAYER (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—The St. John Copper Company is reported by its manager, John Siak, to have secured control of the Los Feliz gold property in Black Canyon district, a mile east of Cleator. For a time is to be abandonment of the company's copper operations, work to be concentrated on the gold claims.

The gold group has had expenditure of $10,000 in development work on a great dyke that is 300 feet wide and is exposed for over a mile. Within this are many smaller veins, with gold and silver carried in silica and with occasional samples that assay high.

Workings still are in the oxidized zone, though there is expectation that sulphides of value later will be encountered. Statement has been made that "about 15,000,000 tons of the oxidized stuff will net $3.50 a ton."

The first work will be the sinking of a vertical shaft to the water level sulphides, expected to be reached around 300 feet of depth. Surface ores are to be shipped for reduction.

OIL PRODUCTION LOWER IN TEXAS

AUSTIN (Tex.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—During the four weeks ending October 25, last, a decrease of approximately 1 per cent in daily average production of petroleum, as compared to a similar period in September, brought the State's total down to approximately 775,000 barrels, the prescribed quota set by the Railroad Commission, according to the bureau of business research at the University of Texas.

October production in Southwest Texas exceeded that of August, before the proration order became effective, this increase being offset by less than allowable production in North, West Central and West Texas. Cumulative excess of the Southwest section since curtailment was ordered amounts to approximately 2,000,000 barrels.

In the Panhandle region October production was 80,275 barrels, as compared with 85,862 barrels in September, while the proration limit was set at 80,000 barrels. In North Texas, October production was 63,100 barrels, as compared with 66,412 barrels in September and a proration limit of 69,000 barrels.

In West Central Texas, October production was 47,678 barrels, compared to 49,912 barrels in September and a proration limit of 52,000 barrels. October production in West Texas was 272,800 barrels, as compared to a September production of 269,887 barrels and a proration limit of 274,000 barrels.

The East Central Texas production in October was 41,500 barrels, compared to 41,450 barrels in September and a proration limit of 40,000 barrels. The Southwest Texas production in October was 102,137 barrels, as compared to 94,137 barrels in September and a proration limit of 82,200 barrels. The Coastal Texas production in October was 167,537 barrels, compared to 175,187 barrels in September and a proration limit of 177,800 barrels.

Falling somewhat under September's record of 10,114,130 barrels, the October movement amounted to 9,573,718 barrels, which was slightly less than the monthly average for the year thus far.

Gasoline topped the list in October with 3,736,474 barrels shipped. Fuel oil was in second position with 3,123,013 barrels, crude being third with a movement of 1,443,595 barrels, while Diesel leaped into fourth place with a total of 1,004,951 barrels.

Tom Reed Mill Tones Down Ore

OATMAN (Ariz.) Nov. 16. (Exclusive) — The Tom Reed mill is operating steadily on ores said to have been "toned down" to $40 a ton, mainly from the 950 and 1100 levels, with some from stoping on the 800. The pumps are handling much water coming into the 1100 level Aztec crosscut. Ore also is coming to the mill from the Siders lease on the Tom Reed ground and from the United American.

Big Jim's shaft is cleared to below the 600 level, with the 500 cleared of caveins and muck, preparatory to important lateral work to the northward. Much ore of value is declared available on this level in the old workings. Sampling has been started on the 600.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

Boyd's, Eighth, between Broadway and Hill—"The Spoilers."

Boulevard, Washington at Vermont — "Her Wedding Night." Two humorous gentlemen help Clara Bow out of an amusing mess.

California, Main and Eighth—"El Precio de Honor," the Spanish version of "The Bar Sinister," retains all the thrills and fine acting of the original version.

Carthay Circle, Carthay Center—"Just Imagine," a fantasy and simply swell. El Brendel and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood — "The Big Trail," spectacular in setting and photography, this production demonstrates the power and sweep of Grandeur film.

Criterion, 643 South Grand—"Billy the Kid," an exciting series of escapes identified by the large film. John Mack Brown.

Fiesta, Figueroa at Santa Barbara—"Monte Carlo."

Filmarte, 1228 North Vine—"The Wild Men of Kalihari." Another adventure film which merits some attention.

Fox, Fairfax and Santa Monica—"Lone Wolf." Bert Lytell in his usual versatile self in this, his first talkie.

Loew's State, Broadway at Seventh—"Renegades." The Foreign Legion seen from an interesting and unique angle. Warner Baxter.

Majestic, Broadway at Ninth—"The Fourth Alarm." Climaxed with a spectacular fire, the film is fair entertainment.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—"Monte Carlo." Delightful entertainment by Lubitsch. Jack Buchanan and Jeanette MacDonald.

Pantages, Hollywood at Vine—"Playboy of Paris." Disappointing in spite of Maurice Chevalier.

Paramount, Hill at Sixth—"Fast and Loose." With certain reservations this is still a swell show, acted by an eastern cast and Carol Lombard.

Rialto, Wilshire at La Brea—"Her Wedding Night."

R.K.O., Hill at Eighth—"East is West." A comic twang is heard in this ancient Chinese epic, delivered in Mexican accents by Lupe Velez.

R.K.O., Orpheum, Broadway at Ninth—"Check and Double Check." Amos 'n' Andy bring their droll talk to the screen in an efficient and humorous vehicle.

Tower, Broadway at Eighth—"What a Widow." Silly something not exactly worthy of Gloria Swanson.

Uptown, Western at Tenth—"Outside the Law." Mary Nolan and a band of crooks furnish excitement.

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"Free Love." Laughable and thrilling is this new Harold Lloyd comedy.

Warners' Downtown, Hill at Seventh—"The Costello." The old monkey act presents some new laughs. Joe Frisco and Harry Gribbon.

Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood Blvd. at Wilcox—"The Truth About Youth." Trivial but then you might enjoy it. Loretta Young and David Manners.

Wiltshire, 8440 Wilshire Boulevard — "Leather." One of the best comedies, with Nancy Carroll.

STAGE

Belasco, Hill at 11th — "The Bird of Flame." The exotic tropics and that charming vamptre, Dorothy Burgess.

El Capitan, Hollywood Blvd. at Highland —"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath." Charlotte Greenwood strides onto the stage, and the play matters not at all. Destined for a healthy and wealthy run.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"Mister Antonio." The favorite Duke Carrillo returns in an ancient vehicle that creaks.

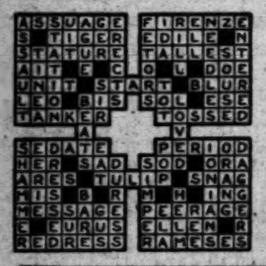
Music Box, Hollywood Blvd., nr. Gower —"The Apple Cart." George Bernard Shaw's comedy of the future is ably portrayed by Alan Mowbray and fellow-actors.

Vine St., Vine near Hollywood Blvd.—"The Green Bottle." Clutching hands and other things that go into a mystery play formula are here in profusion. Oscar Adel is the featured player.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

PUZZLE SOLUTION



Sunlight Makes Hens Lay More Eggs in Winter

DAVIS, Nov. 16. (Exclusive)—Sunlight increases the comfort of hens in winter by bringing warmth and cheer. It is a powerful drying, disinfecting and purifying agent, Mother Nature's source of ultra-violet light. It not only has been proved to be a preventive and cure for rickets but it also seems to stimulate egg production and improve both the strength of shell and the hatching quality of eggs.

These are the conclusions of Prof. J. E. Dougherty of the poultry husbandry division of the University of California, at the branch of the college of agriculture here. Prof. Dougherty urges the building of poultry houses so a maximum of direct sunlight may be obtained for the fowls.

PLATICAS DE LOS LUNES

POR EL PROF. R. GUERRERO

Encargado de la Sección Española de Este Diario

Al principio del tercer párrafo del cuento publicado en mi Plática anterior, leemos: "Las arcas del tesoro de Fuentedeaguamuyclara, que ya estaban repletas de por sí, fueron sucesivamente, etc."

Nos dice el diccionario que "arca" es una caja grande que se cierra con llave y sirve para guardar toda clase de objetos, y que, en particular, es una caja para guardar dinero, o sea, una caja de caudales o caja fuerte. De allí que se emplee esa voz, sobre todo en plural, para denotar los fondos públicos, ya sean los nacionales (tesoro público, erario del Estado, fisco, hacienda nacional), ya los de provincias o estados, ya los municipales; y así hablamos de "las arcas nacionales", "las arcas de un estado o provincia", "las arcas municipales", "las arcas reales", y aun las arcas de cualquier particular

Recordamos que el Arca del Testamento o Arca de la Alianza (Ark of the Testimony, Ark of Covenant) es el cofre de acacia, ricamente guarnecido de láminas y de anillos de oro puro, que ocupaba el lugar más sagrado del templo de Jerusalén, y que se destinó a guardar las Tablas de la Ley. El Arca de Noé es la gran embarcación cubierta que construyó Noé para salvar a su familia, y a numerosas parejas de animales, del diluvio universal.

Sin duda conocen muchos de mis lectores el refrán que dice, "En arca abierta el justo peca", y que vale lo mismo que aquel otro de "La ocasión hace al ladrón". Ambos denotan que una poderosa tentación llega a veces a vencer a la virtud.

"Hacer arcas" es abrir las de una tesorería, con asistencia de los claveros, para recibir o entregar alguna cantidad. Es también recontar las existencias de dinero que hay en las cajas de una oficina de Hacienda o de una negociación cualquiera, para ver si esas existencias están de acuerdo con las que indican los libros. Dícese también "arquear", "hacer o practica run arqueo"; "El cajero hizo un arqueo de las existencias en caja para ver si no había ningún desfalco".

Correctamente nos dice la escritora: "Las arcas . . . que ya estaban repletas de por sí . . ." empleando el caso terminal "sí" del pronombre de tercera persona (él, ella, ellos, ellas, usted, ustedes). Habría sido un error decir "repletas por ellas". De análogo modo hay que decir: "Ustedes, ya amables de por sí, lo han sido conmigo de un modo especial"; "Ella, hermosa de por sí, lo parecía mucho más en medio de aquellas tarascas", etc.

Y ya que hablamos del caso terminal "sí" juzgo de utilidad transcribir aquí lo que nos dice el señor Cuervo sobre la incorrección de emplearlo, como hacen muchos, en lugar de "mí" o "ti". Con frecuencia oímos decir, nos hace notar el sabio filólogo citado: "yo no volví en sí sino después de cuatro horas"; "cuando volvistes en sí". Es de todo evidencia que, siendo "sí" pronombre de tercera persona, no puede representar a la primera ("yo") ni a la segunda ("tú" o "vos"), y que, consiguientemente, habremos de corregir esos adefesios diciendo: "yo volví en mí"; "cuando volviste en ti". Tompoco arguyen mucho en favor del chirumen de quien las emplea, locuciones como éstas: "Yo lo hice de por sí"; "tú lo hiciste de por sí". Este modo de decir "de por sí" se refiere sólo a la tercera persona. Para que no se eche menos disparate alguno de esta calaña, no escasean personas que se expresan así: "yo dije entre sí", "tu dijiste entre sí"; en vez de "entre mí", "entre ti", respectivamente. Ejemplos:

"Entiendan no han sido de las mal libradas, según lo que por acá ha pasado, y cuán largas han sido las enfermedades. Aun yo nunca acabo de volver en mí" (Santa Teresa, "Cartas", tomo II, XCVIII); "Desmayéme, y tú piadosa . . .—Puiste mi segundo cura. — Bautizándome otra vez. — Volví en mí, miré la tez — De esa gallega hermosura . . . (Tirso, "La Gallega Mari-Hernández", acto II, esc. I); "En tí vuelve, señor; con la divina — Voluntad es forzoso conformarse" Angel de Saavedra, "Moro expósito", rom. VI); "Alma del cielo enemiga, — Despertad, volved en vos, — Ya que con azote Dios, — A fuer de esclavo os castiga" ((Tirso, "Tanto es lo de más como lo de menos", acto III, esc. IX); "Dio un profundo gemido, se llevó la mano al corazón, y volvió en sí tan azorada como quien recuerda de un pesado sueño" (Martínes de la Rosa, "Dona Isabel de Solís", pte. I, cap. XI); "Todos se santaron a la mesa, que cenaron de por sí en su aposento" (Cervantes, "Quijote" pte. I, cap. XLII).

En la Plática próxima acabaremos de transcribir los emeplos de esta clase de construcciones que nos presenta el señor Cuervo en sus Apuntaciones Críticas.

Are you "Coming Down the Home Stretch"

MANY PEOPLE who financed the ownership of their own homes on the instalment plan several years ago, are now "coming down the home stretch" toward the completion of their payments.

Starting with a slender equity...a small down payment...such buyers have been paying a high rate of interest. In many cases the equity in the home is now great enough so they can re-finance with Security-First National Bank and get a considerable reduction in their interest rate. If they wish, they may continue paying off the principal in instalments and still have the benefit of lower interest.

Security-First National Bank has money to loan on improved residential and business property in Los Angeles. The Bank charges no "commission" on loans, only the necessary expenses of making and recording the transaction.

FORECASTER SAYS MORE RAIN TODAY

Extent of Downfall Not Estimated, But Weather May be Fair Tomorrow

Continued rain today and tonight with unsettled weather was predicted for the Southland yesterday by the United States Weather Bureau. Showers sprinkled the coastal plain yesterday registering .25 of an inch downpour in Los Angeles. This brought the total for the storm to .30 of an inch and .41 of an inch for the season, for this city.

Absence of oceanic reports on Sunday made the prediction as to the extent of the promised rain indefinite, weather officials said. Fire danger, however, was reduced greatly not only by the rain, but by the high percentage of humidity registered. At noon yesterday 79 per cent was recorded here. At 5 p.m., 74 per cent was shown.

The highest temperature of the day was 64 deg., while the lowest recorded was 49 deg.

According to the weather man's outlook it probably will be fair Tuesday. At least there will be clearing weather, it was announced. Normal rainfall to date is 1.32 inches. This time last year .32 of an inch was recorded here.

Several inches of snow fell on Mt. Wilson but melted immediately. The Big Pines country also was blanketed with white, but the snow melted quickly.

At Downey .25 of an inch of rain fell, while at Glendale only .10 of an inch was recorded. Huntington Park fared better, getting exactly twice as much. At Girard the precipitation was .29 of an inch. Redlands drew .17 of an inch.

The Harbor District and towns along the Coast received the heaviest downpour. At San Pedro, .58 of an inch was recorded and Long Beach got .32 of an inch. Ventura received a .51 of an inch downpour and Santa Barbara, .26 of an inch. Santa Monica drew .32 of an inch. Whittier drew .17 of an inch, and Anaheim, .26.

RESCUERS GO AFTER PAIR TRAPPED BY SNOW

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 16. (AP)—Unusually heavy rains, which in some localities changed abruptly to blizzards, have swept Oregon with relentless fury during the past forty-eight hours, interrupting telephone and telegraph communication and choking mountain highways with rapidly accumulating snow. Nearly every mountain highway in the State was impassable by noon today. A party was organized at the government camp at Mt. Hood today to rescue two Portland young men who have been marooned since Friday in a cabin four miles above the camp on the mountain. Snow, estimated from four to ten feet deep, imprisoned the pair, if they remained in the cabin, mountaineers said.

Edward Schuff, 21 years of age, and Clarence Stevens, both of Portland, left the camp Friday for the cabin, with food provisions for two days. When they failed to return at noon today, a searching party of four was formed to reach the cabin and bring them to camp.

STORMY WEATHER HALTS HUNT FOR FLYERS

SEATTLE, Nov. 16. (AP)—Stormy weather throughout the North Pacific area over the week-end temporarily halted search for six flyers missing in Northern British Columbia.

Three of the missing men, Capt. E. J. A. Burke, Emil Kading and Bob Marten, disappeared October 11, in the Liard Post region of interior British Columbia, while the others, Robin Renahan, Sam Clerf and Frank Hatcher, were lost along the sea coast October 28. Renahan and his party were going north to search for Burke.

Two navy amphibian planes from the San Diego base were en route to Seattle from Red Bluff, Cal., to aid in the search. The planes were delayed at Red Bluff yesterday because of storms in the Siskiyou Mountains.

Temperatures eight degrees higher than yesterday prevailed in Seattle and vicinity today, and the government Weather Bureau forecast was the mercury would hover between 45 and 48 deg. above for the next twenty-four hours. High winds roughened the surface of Puget Sound but did no damage.

Snow plows kept Snoqualmie Pass through the Cascade Mountains open, despite a fall of thirty inches of snow. Motorists were cautioned

LINDBERGH DUE HERE SOON

Colonel Preparing for South American Trip Will Be Equipped for 225-Mile Speed

Presumably in preparation for a trip to South America this winter, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will arrive in Los Angeles soon to take delivery on a new wing for his Lockheed Sirius monoplane which will be the major factor in making the ship the fastest commercial airplane in the world.

It was recently announced through press dispatches from the East that Lindbergh is planning a South American tour but no details were given. Carl Squier, general manager of the Lockheed Aircraft Company, here, stated he had no details of the Colonel's plans except as relating to the new wing for his plane. It is believed, however, that the noted flyer is procuring the new wing in preparation for his proposed trip. Whether start of the tour will be made here or whether Mrs. Lindbergh will accompany him, is not known, however.

With the new wing, equipped with retractable landing gear, the colonel's ship is expected to carry him and Mrs. Lindbergh through the air at the amazing speed of 225 miles an hour in level flight.

PHONES HE'S COMING

Secret development and successful testing of the new wing—constructed on the colonel's orders during nine months' work by Lockheed engineers—have been completed at the company's Burbank plant.

In a telephone conversation with Squier from Princeton, N. J., Col. Lindbergh said he will come to Los Angeles as soon as possible—three weeks at the latest—to permit his new wing to be placed on the fuselage of the low-winged craft he and his wife purchased from Lockheed January 6, last.

It is understood here that the colonel plans installation of a 605-horsepower Wright Cyclone engine in the nose of the ship to replace the 425-horsepower Pratt-Whitney Wasp engine.

The combination of the new wing and higher-powered engine will, aircraft engineers stated, boost the plane's present top speed of 175 miles an hour to the 225-mile mark—a fifty-mile-an-hour increase.

CRUISING SPEED 170 MILES

Cruising speed of the craft will be around 170 miles an hour. The added fuel consumption of the larger motor is not expected to cut down the ship's present 3300-mile flying range on a capacity gasoline load of 446 gallons because of the increase in speed.

"Our desire to increase the speed of our airplane does not mean that we are going out after any transcontinental or other long-distance speed records," Col. Lindbergh told Squier.

"Any device that can speed up air transportation should be developed and it is with this object that

VETERAN OF PAPER BOYS CELEBRATES

"Times" Newsie on Corner Twenty-eight Years Has Sold 10,920,000 Copies

Robert Emmet King, who takes pride in the fact he has sold 10,920,000 copies of The Times in his career, celebrated his twenty-eighth anniversary yesterday as a newsboy at Second Spring streets.

ROBERT E. KING

His hair has grown white in the years he has been on the corner. Governors and mayors have been among his customers. Buffalo Bill was one of his interesting acquaintances. He likes to call attention to the fact that in all those twenty-eight years he has been on the job without break save for one three-months' lay-off because of illness.

"And I'm still here every day," he cheerfully announced yesterday, "rain or shine, although there isn't much rain."

King is 47 years of age. He came here from Philadelphia when he was 19, and started selling papers, three days after he got here, in front of the Wilcox Building at 206 South Spring street, where he still is.

RECORDS PROVE CRIME SOARING

Next Few Months' Outlook is a Dark One

No "Summer Drop" Noted on Police Charts

Hampering of Officers Main Cause of Condition

This is the second of a series of daily articles to appear in The Times setting forth, from official sources, the crime situation in Los Angeles and why it is so.

Footpads, bandits and burglars ply their criminal trades in Los Angeles both by daylight and under cover of night, and with a minimum of interference and with open contempt for the forces of law and order. The official statistical records of the local police department are records of blood and plunder, punctuated by gangsters' bullets.

And from their mounting rows of figures come more than a hint of what is in store for the city during the next few months.

All-time crime records for like periods have already been established by the busy criminals and new records will be reached this winter, according to high police officials who have been watching the situation with their hands tied and cold dread in their hearts.

In the meantime the Police Commission and the crowds of paid and amateur snoopers operating out of various offices of the City Hall continue to harass the police department and to prevent steps adequate to deal with the situation. Shorn of essential power by the Police Commission and professional reformers, police officers from the highest to the lowest are so fearful for their official necks that the city is becoming known as a haven for criminals.

A record of 454 burglaries during the month of September, the highest since 1927, was topped in October by 504. Two hundred and sixty-five burglaries were reported for the first thirteen days of the current month. If this ratio is merely maintained and not increased, as is more likely, the November burglaries will go well over 600.

"IMPOSSIBLE" FIGURES

There were 169 robberies committed during August, last, a total believed to be impossible for a midsummer month until checked and counter-checked from the official reports filed in the various police substations by enraged citizens who had been forced to stand and deliver at the muzzles of bandits' pistols.

October recorded 141 robberies and the first thirteen days of November tops all records for a like period with 108 robberies reported, indicating a total for the month beyond anything ever before experienced here.

Study of the official crime charts also reveals the disturbing fact that, during the past summer months, crime records did not drop to the usual low figures. In some cases the 1930 summer months actually established records above the average figures for winter months in past years. For example:

In November, 1927, there were 135 robberies reported; December, 199; January, 1928, 211, and from there dropping off until, in the summer months, the figures totaled: April, 80; May, 81; June, 84; July, 112; August, 81; September, 107. The same months for 1928-29 showed November, 74; December, 172, and January, 118, with the totals for April, 72; May 74; June, 91; July, 87; August, 70; September, 99.

NO "SUMMER DROP"

Last November showed 122 robberies, December 168, January 159, February 144, March 196. Here, according to all precedent, the totals should have shown a sharp drop to below 100 for the summer months. Instead April showed 112, May 117, June 114 and July 148.

August produced the amazing total of 169 bandit operations and September added 113 more. October, start of the "crime season," listed 141 robberies and the first thirteen days of November 108, an indicated total for this month of 349, an all-time record for any month in the city's history!

Hardly less remarkable is the in-

by Harry Carr

NOW that we are embarked on a wholesale bandit hunt, it might be interesting to know how other people have met this problem.

Bandits are an old story in Mexico.

NOT RECOMMENDED

Marcos Diaz was a sort of Al Capone in Sinaloa. He thought they couldn't catch him. Whereupon they captured his grandmother, his mother, his wife and his children.

Then they sent him this message. "We are going to shoot one of your fond family per day until you come in and surrender." Marcos came.

MAXIMUM EFFICIENCY

There is a wild mountain district on the west coast which from time to time becomes infested with bandits; not half as bad as Los Angeles, but bad enough. Last year they got a little weary of the bandits.

They enlisted the services of a famous knife fighter. He joined one of the bandit gangs; picked quarrels with the leaders; fought duels and killed them one by one.

A LOVELY PARTY

The greatest clean-up occurred in a lonely little town in the mountains of Nayarit. The police, through agents, staged a grand fiesta—knowing that the bandits would not be able to resist the call of the senoritas. After they all arrived, the police agents surrounded and slaughtered them.

AND WHO CARES

Mexico has its own Devil's Island—the Tres Marias.

The hardened types of criminals are turned loose to shift for themselves. They can cultivate the ground and raise food for themselves; steal from each other or starve, as they please. If they try to escape, sharks tear them to bloody shreds.

AL CAPONE

Wherein our police system is helpless under our laws is that they cannot hope to get the real criminals. The hired killers occasionally bump each other off; but the Al Capones live in Florida mansions and have expensive offices where prospective victims are card indexed by secretaries.

LIMEHOUSE

The killer is a type peculiar to American crime.

I knew an old English police sergeant who had been on duty for twenty-one years in the tough Limehouse district of London. He said during that period he had never arrested but one crook who was armed.

The London police do not carry guns. This sergeant told me that they once had to arrest a maniac. They hunted all over the station trying to find a gun, and finally had to borrow one from another police station.

SWORDS

The Berlin police carry swords. Which is a good idea. There is something very disturbing to the mental equipose in the prospect of having hardware run through your anatomy.

MUSSOLINI

Mussolini made short work of the Mafia, which was a criminal gang more powerful than the Chicago gangs. Its ranks included judges, lawyers, politicians. He didn't wait to "catch them in the act." He got the list of members through spies and ran them down remorselessly.

CO-ED NAMED COLONEL OF STUDENT REGIMENT

Student soldiers will have to watch their step, shine their shoes a bit brighter and pay attention to the fit of their blouses at University of California at Los Angeles from now until June.

For they have a new commander—a new honorary one—who has her ideas about how the well-dressed soldier should appear.

She is dark-haired Ruth Irwin, senior, whom 600 students at the university voted as the most popular co-ed, thereby making her an honorary colonel in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the local school.

"Of course, I do not expect to clean a rifle or spend much time on tactical maneuvers," Miss Irwin told the soldiers, "but our corps is going to be the smartest attired if I have my way about it."

And evidently, she will have her way, because the officers presented her with a sword in keeping with her appointment, following her selection during the annual ball of Scabbard and Blade, national honorary military fraternity, at the California Country Club.

Miss Irwin won the distinction in a field of ten candidates of the senior class. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

PORTER INQUIRY WARMS UP

Fitts and Aides Prepare Case, But Rumors Say Grand Jury Group Conducts Own Quiz

Much activity is expected today as the grand jury prepares to open its official investigation tomorrow into various phases of the administration of Mayor Porter, and especially as to the amount of money spent by him for campaign purposes.

Although the District Attorney's office is handling the preparation of the case, and has already announced the names of a number of witnesses to be called, rumors persisted yesterday that a certain faction within the grand jury itself had held a secret meeting outside the Hall of Justice and had retained independent investigators to push the case.

Regardless of whether there was any outside activity by the grand jury, however, Dist.-Atty. Fitts and his deputy, Dist.-Atty. O'Brien, asserted yesterday that they will have enough material on hand tomorrow morning to keep the jury busy for some time.

George Pepperdine, wealthy automobile accessory chain-store owner and treasurer of the Porter campaign committee, subpoenaed last Friday to appear before the grand jury tomorrow morning, will be present as scheduled, William J. Clark, his attorney, said yesterday.

"Mr. Pepperdine will have in his possession a complete written account of all he knows about any pertinent issue," Clark declared yesterday.

Pepperdine is the only person so far who has been placed under grand jury subpoena in connection with the investigation, but Dep. Dist.-Atty. O'Brien has already named a number of others, whom, he said, he will suggest that the grand jury call. These include a number of local politicians, other former members of Porter's campaign committee and present members of his investigating staff.

The crux of the investigation hinges upon assertions that considerably more money was spent during the Porter campaign than was recorded in affidavits filed according to law by the mayoralty candidate after the election.

HOLD-UP TIDE SURGES IN

Thirteen Robberies Committed Over Week-End and Four More Frustrated

Continuing the wave of criminal activity which has been sweeping the city for the past several weeks, bandits were unusually active over the week-end, successfully perpetrating thirteen hold-ups, in one of which the victim was not only robbed but beaten, and attempting four others which were frustrated but in which three of the intended victims were badly beaten.

The bandits not only invaded service stations and chain grocery stores, as is their Saturday night custom, but held up two motorists, a taxicab driver, an auto camp manager and several pedestrians, and even boarded a street car and robbed the conductor. In another case, they evidently started to take a man "for a ride," but found he was not the person they were interested in. In only one case have any arrests been made, the captives being two youths who are suspected of having robbed the street-car conductor.

O. J. Allison was robbed of $20 by two men who boarded his street car at Griffin avenue and Montecito Drive early yesterday. The men escaped in a car believed to have been driven by a confederate. According to Allison, the street car was stopped at the end of the line and was without passengers at the time of the hold-up.

Allison observed the license number of the car in which the bandits fled and turned it over to Detective Lieutenants Eastlake and Champion, who found the car was registered in the name of Thomas M. Murphy, 18 years of age, of 291 Bank avenue. They arrested Murphy yesterday afternoon and when he was questioned he gave the detectives the name of Berkeley Brohm, 17, of 3596 Tacoma street, and the latter was also arrested. Allison has identified them as the bandits who held him up and they are both being held.

Leslie Steckel of 148 South Figueroa street, was walking near the surf line close to Lick Pier

Production Totals Reveal Los Angeles County as Bonanza Land

SOIL, SUBSOIL AND SEA ALL ADD TO FLOW OF RICHES

Rich Returns in Many Fields Bring Steady Stream of Dollars Into Pockets of Residents

Los Angeles county is the land, not alone of promise but of fulfillment. From a cultivated area of 268,000 acres, Los Angeles county produced this year crops and dairy products valued at $79,478,000. Mineral production from the subsoil, chiefly oil, totaled $243,568,000. Products taken from the sea—fish—sold for $23,300,000. Manufactured products of the Los Angeles industrial district sold for $1,096,000,000. Tourist business is estimated by the All-Year Club to have brought Los Angeles county $250,000,000.

While 1930 has not been a banner year in industry—the stock market crash last year hit every industrial community in the country—the money received for crop production in Los Angeles county broke all previous records.

In the citrus belt they hardly knew that the stock market broke, for the only "speculation" there is in crops and agricultural lands. The market reports they are chiefly interested in are those of the citrus exchanges, and the returns from the citrus crop this year are $4,000,000 greater than those for 1929.

CITY'S MARKET BASKET

Los Angeles county is the market basket for Los Angeles city, with its population of 1,231,000, and for fifteen other cities in the county with populations ranging from 10,000 to 141,000. It also sends more citrus fruit to eastern markets than does any other county in the United States.

If oranges from Los Angeles county groves alone had been equally distributed this year, there would have been an orange for every man, woman and child in North America and Europe.

For diversified crops, Los Angeles county leads the nation and, perhaps the world. Citrus fruits head the list with a gross production of $33,000,000. Orange county did even better this year with a gross production of $34,600,000, but it fell behind in other crops. Eleven different agricultural products in Los Angeles county sold for more than $1,000,000 each, and fifteen other crops sold for more than $150,000 each.

These figures on Los Angeles county do not include live stock, nor the products of the pig and the hen; for these have not yet been classified. The value of live stock in Los Angeles county was estimated last year at $15,000,000.

DIVERSITY OF CROPS

This diversity of crops is due to diversity of climate and soil. There are high plateaus and mountain slopes where the deciduous fruits of the temperate climes grow luxuriantly. Mountain apple and pear orchards produce in great quantity. The citrus fruit groves alone cover more than 50,000 acres. This is the semifrostless belt. The citrus acreage vacillates. New lands are added every year, but the cities of Los Angeles county are growing so rapidly that orange groves disappear to make way for real estate subdivisions. Possibly 10,000 acres of citrus land have been sacrificed to the rapidly increasing urban population. At one time some of the best orange groves in Southern California were on land that now is the center of the Los Angeles residence and industrial district.

The famous Wolfskill orange grove occupied in 1885 what now is the site of the Espee central station. It contained forty acres. The crop was sold on the trees to the Germain Fruit Company for $1000 an acre, at that time, a record price. The residents of Los Angeles county, and the tourists, realised for the first time the possibilities of orange culture.

STANDARDIZING BEGINS

Fifteen years later the citrus fruit exchange, a co-operative organization, began to standardize production and marketing. This exchange now markets at least 90 per cent of the total citrus production of Los Angeles county. Oranges and lemons from the county's orchards are shipped around the world. Fifty-three thousand acres produced a crop this year that marketed for more than $33,000,000.

Through co-operative irrigation, plus co-operative marketing, this record-breaking production was made possible.

Co-operation fills the market basket; co-operation carries it to market, and co-operation shares the profits.

CONSTANT CHANGE

During the last fifty years there has been a continued process of turning grazing land into agricultural land, turning grain land into citrus fruit land and, alas for agriculture, turning citrus fruit land into townsites.

Science has done as much for agriculture as for industry. Scientific farmers study the soil to discover what crops it will produce most profitably. Their success is due largely to the information they receive through the experts of the co-operative exchanges, who are constantly in touch with the State and Federal agricultural experiment stations.

Marketing has ceased to be a problem for the individual producer, being cared for through the co-operatives. Transportation is not an appreciable item in the cost of production because of the proximity of markets and the constantly expanding system of good roads.

In addition to the interurban rail lines, some 1800 miles of highways, through trucking, bring the products to the city of Los Angeles, which is the headquarters of the great distributing agencies. In no other part of the country can the products of the orchards and ranches be carried to market at less expense.

Only in the warm belt can citrus fruits be raised profitably, but there are 200,000 cultivated acres devoted to other crops and at least 100,000 more acres are available for cultivation.

There are about 15,000 acres of bean land in Los Angeles county, and the annual crop averages more than $2,000,000.

Judging by the returns from staple deciduous fruits and from vegetables, it would appear that there are other crops even more profitable than oranges and lemons.

More than 11,000 acres were devoted to celery culture, and the returns this year averaged about $2000 an acre.

HOME OF SMALL FARMER

Los Angeles county is the home of the small farmer. It is on the small farms that other than citrus fruits are cultivated so profitably.

Market gardening is becoming highly profitable. The gross returns from 4200 acres averaged $800 an acre.

The cauliflower yield, $1,340,000, was more than $350 an acre.

Acres devoted to the lowly onion gave an average return of $300. No statistician has yet figured out the volume of tears—and of atmosphere—that $200,000 crop produced.

About 4000 acres were devoted to lettuce, and the gross yield was more than $900,000.

Asparagus culture has just passed from the experimental stage. The 550 acres devoted to the cultivation of this vegetable produced a crop valued at $176,000.

Cantaloupes paid well. The average production for the 900 acres was $270,000.

AVOCADO RETURNS

Avocado culture returned to the growers $300 an acre.

Returns from the 41,000 acres of orange land averaged more than $600 an acre.

Lemons returned about $500 an acre.

The potato produced at the rate of $150 an acre.

Peach and pear culture, while the quality of the fruit was notable, did not prove so profitable to the grower. The peaches averaged about $120 an acre, and the pears about $90 an acre.

Six thousand acres in wheat averaged but $25 an acre.

The total agricultural production from 268,000 acres, including dairy products but excluding live stock, totaled $79,315,000, an average of $290 an acre.

Los Angeles county has a total population of 2,199,557, but the rural population, excluding sixteen cities with populations of more than 10,000 each, is 452,453. That average return of $290 an acre gives a cross-section on their buying power. And this is from surface yields alone, taking no account of the mineral production, valued at $243,568,275.

Who considers these figures will understand why there are more automobiles in Los Angeles county than in the whole of Germany.

There are few lovelier spots in the world than the rural districts of Los Angeles county. To fruit culture is joined tree culture and flower culture. The rural highways are bordered with citrus groves, where the trees are always green and the fruit changing from emerald to gold. The air is filled with the perfume of flowers. Everywhere are lovely homes, shaded by towering palms and in the midst of flowering gardens.

Where so much wealth abounds, and is so generously distributed, the countryside is fairly dotted over with schools, churches and libraries. The average expenditure for education in the California citrus belt is perhaps the highest in the United States, and the percentage of college graduates is much higher than that of any industrial community. The younger generation of citrus growers are college graduates. The colleges and universities of California specialise in agricultural courses.

Los Angeles county is turning its attention to the harvesting of an enormous water crop to replenish its extensive natural underground reservoirs formed by absorbent strata, and supplement the actual and potential water supply from outside sources. From 48,877,500,000 to 65,170,000,000 gallons of water on the average annually waste from the Los Angeles basin to the ocean. Carefully devised plans are under way to capture this vagrant water through the storage of flood waters borne by streams and storm drains, and through the reclamation of water wasted as sewage.

By spreading all possible flood water on the gravel cones of the county's major streams, an enormous amount of it can be sunk to subsoil storage. It has been found that 2,500,000 gallons can be sunk daily for each acre of spreading ground. With an aggregate spreading ground area of about 9000 acres, this means the possibility of sinking 22,500,000,000 gallons to subsoil storage daily during flood seasons.

The sewage wastage in this area is calculated at 127,000,000 gallons daily and much, if not all, of this, it is believed can be reclaimed through the activated sludge method of treatment and natural ground filterage. Pasadena and Pomona have sewage disposal plants where the water is reclaimed, the Pasadena plant of the activated sludge type, averaging 9,000,000 gallons daily and the Pomona plant 3,000,000 gallons daily. Each 1,000,000 gallons yields one ton of dried fertiliser sold at $25 a ton, thereby yielding a daily revenue of $225, based on the treatment of 9,000,000 gallons a day, and comes far below the State limitation in bacterial content.

All this water harvesting in addition to the 258,000,000 gallons daily from the Owens River Valley, the 85,000,000 gallons expected from the Mono Basin water project and a large amount from the 935,000,000 gallons daily to be brought into the Metropolitan Water District from the Colorado River, presents a good water situation for the Los Angeles basin and the lower Santa Ana River section in Orange county, which county also is to benefit greatly from the tricounty water salvage project involving Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

MAN DIES, BURNS IN OVEN

Stricken with a fatal heart attack while warming his feet in the oven at his home, 218 West Queen street, Inglewood, Oscar B. Nisson, 61 years of age, was found dead early yesterday by his wife, Beatrice. She told police she was awakened by the odor of smoke and ran to the kitchen to find her husband's body enveloped in flames.

He was still seated in a chair beside the stove, and his lower limbs were charred. A physician expressed the opinion that the burns alone would not have caused death. The body was taken to the Harding funeral home.

GIRLS GO IN COURT TO OBTAIN ESTATE

Margaret Schulze
Gertrude Schulze

Two Fairfax High School girls, sisters, one born in Shanghai, China, and the other in Munich, Germany, have gone before Superior Judge Stephens to claim a $10,000 inheritance left them by their father, Emil Schulze, one of the founders of the German Asiatic Bank.

The girls, Margaret, 17 years of age, and Gertrude, 16, on application of Attorney W. T. Bender, were made legal wards of their mother, Mrs. Helen A. Schulze, 900 North Genesee street, so they can inherit the money.

Margaret, who was born in Shanghai, said she will use her share to obtain a musical and dramatic education. Gertrude, who has won her school championship at tennis, intends to develop her game with the idea of gaining other laurels.

The father of the girls was stricken while on a steamship at Port Said on July 12, last, and was taken to Germany for treatment, where he died. In addition to being a banker, he had been in the diplomatic service of the German government for a number of years and had been rewarded by the Kaiser with an iron cross, for his work as fiscal agent in New Guinea and as Colonial Governor of Tsing-tao.

The estate in which the girls will share, according to their mother, includes not only a $10,000 trust deed, but considerable real estate in Germany.

In tomorrow's article will be described more of the factors hampering the police in their efforts to combat crime here.

WIFE'S BULLET KILLS HUSBAND

Fatal Shooting Culmination of Family Brawl

Victim's Mother Also Held as Death Suspect

Self-Defense Plea Made by Accused Matron

Culminating a family quarrel involving a husband, wife and mother-in-law, Frank Tarlazzi, 35 years of age, was fatally shot by his wife in their home at 1145 Los Palos street early yesterday afternoon.

Tarlazzi died last night at 10 o'clock at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where, earlier in the day, he had submitted to a major operation in the hope of saving his life. He was shot in the abdomen. His wife and his mother, Mrs. Rose Tarlazzi, 3515 Sunset Boulevard, are held on a charge of suspicion of murder.

Tarlazzi admitted, according to Detective Lieutenants Thompson and Corsini, that he and his wife had quarreled frequently and that yesterday morning, following a party in which all had been drinking, a heated argument took place in which his mother took part. The end came quickly when the wife ran into a bedroom, snatched a revolver from a dresser drawer and reappeared in the living-room. She fired five shots, according to the detectives, one of which struck her husband.

In a preliminary examination Mrs. Tarlazzi, the detectives said, admitted the shooting and asserted she did it in self-protection against her husband's threats to do her bodily harm.

HOLD-UP TIDE SURGES UPWARD

when a bandit, flourishing a pistol, stepped out from behind a piling and ordered him to throw up his hands. Steckel made an attempt to run and was knocked down by a blow on the head. As he lay stunned the bandit took $15 from his pockets, threatened to shoot him if he moved for five minutes, and fled.

As he was closing a MacMarr store at 247 West Sixth street, San Pedro, W. F. Davis, manager, ran into a bandit who had slipped in through the front door.

"What you doing here?" he yelled.

BULLET MISSES HIM

A bullet whizzed by his head and he ducked to the floor. Fearing to move in the darkness of the unlighted store, Davis remained crouched. A moment later he was struck a stunning blow on the head by the bandit wielding a hammer. When he regained his senses a few moments later, the bandit had gone, obtaining nothing of value.

When he stopped to aid two men in a supposedly stalled automobile in front of his home at 952 Dorchester street, Frank Foss was attacked by the pair, who sought to choke him senseless. He successfully fought off the two, who fled in their car with nothing of value for their efforts.

Bohor Hasson of 218 East Sixtieth street was walking through an alley near his home when a lone bandit struck him on the head with a gun. The blow was a glancing one and Hasson, only slightly dazed, took to his heels and outran the bandit to his home.

Service stations at 5201 Compton Boulevard, 3180 West Pico street and 8102 Avalon Boulevard were robbed at midnight Saturday, police report, bandits taking more than $70 from attendants.

CAB DRIVER ROBBED

W. Walker, cab driver, was robbed of $10 and his cab at Boylston and Maryland avenues by two fares who had engaged his cab on a downtown street. After the robbery he was directed to "drive away and do it fast."

Three armed youths robbed Mrs. Nellie E. Moore, manager of the Silver Lake Auto Camp, 255 Glendale Boulevard, early yesterday morning, she reported to police. The men entered the camp office and at the point of guns took $50 and fled.

While one man remained in their car as a lookout two other men entered the cleaning establishment of D. A. Waters, 7232 South Hoover street, and robbed him of $10. After the hold-up the men commanded Waters to go to a rear room and remain for ten minutes.

L. D. Langley, 4775 South Broadway, was forced to drive from in front of his home to One Hundred and Sixth street and Broadway by three armed bandits. Two rode with Langley and the third followed in the bandit car. The men took $15 from Langley but returned a dollar to him as they left.

WOMAN AT WHEEL

C. R. Barnes of Santa Monica and a woman companion were robbed of $60 by a lone bandit as they sat in a parked car in front of 1332 Lemoyne avenue. According to Barnes's report to police, the bandit escaped in a car driven by a woman companion, apparently intoxicated.

Two bandits, both carrying pistols, held up Y. Matsumoto in his grocery at 1511 North Gardena street and robbed him of $10.

The timely arrival of his wife and her coincidental screams for aid frustrated the attempt of two bandits to rob William Jaffe in his drug store at 2101 Brooklyn avenue. Jaffe was staring into the muzzle of two revolvers held by the bandits when Mrs. Jaffe, entered from the rear. She immediately began to scream for help, and the bandits, frightened, ran out the front door, leaped into an automobile and fled.

Chloroform was used by a sneak thief to quiet the squawkings of chickens when he broke into the chicken pens of Charles C. Jucker at 1238 McClellan avenue early yesterday morning. Jucker discovered twelve prize Rhode Island Red hens gone and many of his other chickens staggering dopily about their pens. The odor of chloroform was noticeable.

MOTOR BUSSES STALLED BY SNOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 16. (AP)—Snows and rains of widely varying proportions continued to fall throughout the Far West as the Alaskan storm extended its sphere of influence. Its eastward march will clear California and Nevada skies tomorrow or Tuesday, but wintry weather will linger in the Pacific northwest, weather observers forecast.

Twenty inches of snow closed roads over the high Sierras.

Six passenger motor busses were stalled between Redding and Dunsmuir in Northern California, until snow plows reopened the roads.

While most of Washington escaped further drenching or snows today, Idaho, Nevada and California received more rain and snow in the mountains. Blocked roads in Eastern Washington were cleared by higher temperatures which melted the snow.

Unusually heavy rains, in some places turning into blizzards, swept Northern California. Telephone and telegraph service was interrupted. Trees were uprooted in Tahoe City, Cal., near the Nevada line.

Temperatures throughout Pacific States were cold today, but in most cities not uncomfortably so.

HOLLYWOOD HATS COPIED

Inspiration for millinery creations now is being obtained by stylists on New York's exclusive Fifth avenue from what the stars of Hollywood are wearing, according to a report just received by President Harry M. Baine of the Hollywood Boulevard Association. One of Fifth avenue's best-known establishments devoted to feminine adornment recently displayed a hat designed by a Hollywood Boulevard merchant for a star of the first magnitude and worn in a recent film production as an exclusive importation from Paris.

Levy's Tavern in Hollywood Will Be Opened Soon

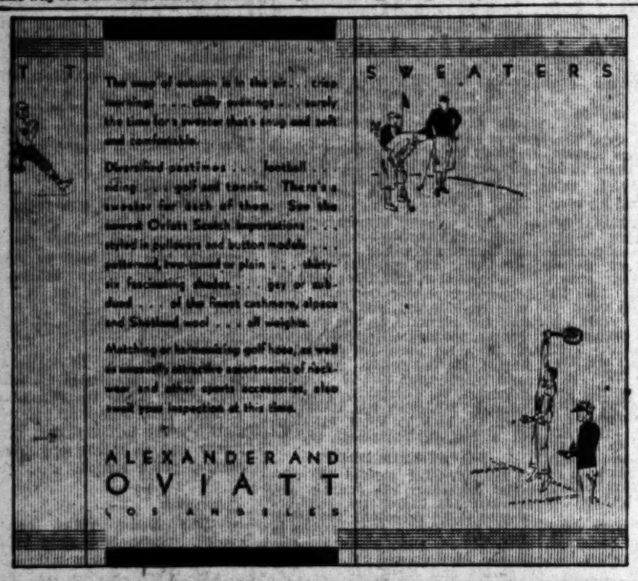
Al Levy, for forty-four years in the restaurant business in Los Angeles, expects to have his new Tavern on Vine street, between Selma avenue and Hollywood Boulevard, open about December 1. Associated with him in his new enterprise is John Mann, his partner for several years in Levy's Grill on Spring street.

The Tavern is to represent an investment of $100,000, it is said, and will be one of the finest cafes in the West. It is expected to receive a heavy patronage from theatrical and motion-picture folk.

Zukor Arrives for Visit Here

Adolph Zukor, president of the Paramount Publix Corporation, arrived in Los Angeles last night from New York in his annual trip to the company's west coast studios. He will remain here a few weeks and will combine business with pleasure during his stay.

He was accompanied by Sandor Incze, editor of Hungary's leading theatrical magazine, who is also one of Central Europe's leading theatrical producers.



SIM CRABILL

SAYS: Lots of folks spend a young fortune on their clothes and still look like side-show freaks. An attractive appearance is due to good taste—not how much money you spend. ● Anyone who knows the firm of Alexander and Oviatt immediately associates the name with good taste. Here you will find the criterion in men's and women's wear as well as a treasure house of personal accessories gathered from the four corners of the earth. Rich woolens from the looms of Scotland—gay colored things from Czechoslovakia—Old World leathercraft—gifts from the bazaars of the Far East—from the peasant craftsmen of Switzerland—from the patient, slant-eyed workers of far-off Cathay. You know instinctively that any printed piece representing this firm would reflect its modish luxury. ● Such was the case with the little "sweater" folder we just printed for them. It was really very inexpensive to produce, yet its charming simplicity upholds the tradition of Alexander and Oviatt.

CHAIN STORE HEADS MEET

J. C. Penney, Founder of National System, Speaker at Gathering of 1200 Aides Here

J. C. Penney, national chain store leader and founder and chairman of the board of directors of the J. C. Penney Stores, yesterday addressed more than 1200 executives and store managers of the Safeway and Piggly Wiggly stores and markets at a convention held at the Safeway warehouse, Vernon and Alameda streets.

Mr. Penney told his listeners there are now hundreds of chances for success in the chain-store field. "All that is necessary is hard work and the use of sound judgment," Penny advised, after telling how he himself started in business with a single store and gradually enlarged his field of operations until he had units all over the country.

J. T. Young, executive head of the wholesale division of the Safeway and Piggly Wiggly system, spoke on the service rendered a community by chain stores. He told the managers that the general public received great benefit from the low cost of products sold in chain organizations.

S. J. Pickens, advertising director, announced a new service—the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau—to go in effect tomorrow. The service offers help to women in the realm of home economics. In closing Pickens laid stress upon the effectiveness of newspaper advertising in building up the Safeway business.

"What About Tomorrow?" was the keynote of a talk by R. W. Doe, vice-president in charge of public relations, who stressed the fact that today the industrious, kindly, thoughtful man has far more chances to rise in the world than he did thirty years ago.

Edward Dale, vice-president of the Safeway Stores organization, presided as chairman. He told how the Safeway stores originated on the Pacific Coast several years ago and expanded steadily until it operates in practically every major city in the country.

er, as well as the industrial district in charge of Fred Seaver. The former have reported 51 per cent of quota, and the latter 58 per cent up to and including last Friday.

Residential divisions under the direction of Mrs. Albert C. Crutcher are making headway in the completion of their work of solicitation, according to late reports received.

Besides the report luncheon scheduled for tomorrow another meeting of the team-workers will be held at the Biltmore on Friday.

DISTRICT MAP SUBMITTED

The assessment district map for the sewering of streets in the Center-street district has been submitted to the City Council by the City Engineer and referred to the Health and Sanitation Committee.

TREE-LIGHTING PLAN ADVANCED

Chamber Starts Drive for Outdoor Christmas

Home Owners Requested to Make Plantings

Permanent Beautification of City Sought

Preparations for the inauguration of the third annual Christmas-out-of-doors campaign, a movement first sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce three years ago to urge residents of Southern California to decorate and illuminate outdoor trees and shrubbery during the Christmas season, were announced yesterday by A. Carman Smith, chairman of the general committee in charge of the event.

One hundred business men and women are taking an active part in various groups to work out details for the event in Los Angeles and widespread adoption by other communities in Southern California is being urged through the various chambers of commerce, the newspapers in the different cities and towns and speakers sponsored by the local chamber.

MORE CO-OPERATION

This year's plan, while similar to the event celebrated in previous years, contemplates a more co-operative and co-ordinated effort that will make possible the presentation of whole city blocks aglow with lighted living trees. Mr. Smith said the committee is particularly urging that appropriate trees be planted wherever possible, so that the movement will serve the double purpose of beautifying the city with trees as well as to provide the background for decoration in future Christmas seasons.

Nurserymen report that the movement last year was materially responsible for an increase in permanent tree plantings and advance orders they have received to date indicate that further progress in this direction will be made this year.

Cautioning those contemplating the illumination of outdoor trees, that appropriate multiple unit weather-proof equipment must be used, the committee has set the dates for lighting trees and shrubbery between December 20 and January 2. Individuals in neighborhoods are urged to co-operate in endeavoring to have every resident in his block decorate and light either a living tree or shrub.

CAROL SINGING

So popular was the program devoted to carol singing on the streets and in the neighborhoods of Los Angeles last year, the Municipal Playground Department announces that several hundred persons will be organized into groups of singers this year, Mr. Smith said yesterday. Musical clubs will share in this part of the program.

"The Christmas-out-of-doors plan belongs to no individual or organization," Mr. Smith said yesterday in urging co-operation with the movement. "It is the plan of everybody in Southern California and is being celebrated in a land almost identical in conditions and climate with the country where the birth of Christ occurred. The success of this plan hinges largely on the co-operation of residents of all the cities adopting the plan, which means that every one should urge his or her neighbor to decorate and light trees."

HALBRITER'S SET RECORD FOR SALES

Banner Year Credited to Increased Advertising by Men's Store Owners

F. E. HALBRITER

By trebling its advertising appropriation in the face of economic depression and a discouraging outlook, Halbriter's, Inc., local men's stores, has made the current season the greatest in the history of this long-established concern, its proprietors, F. E. and P. H. Halbriter, announced yesterday. Commenting on this they pointed to the advice of Roger Babson, economist, in a recent article stating the most essential factor in conquering business depression is the use of more advertising. A New York department store of international repute recently increased its advertising appropriation 67 per cent for the year—just to keep business good.

Early this year Halbriter's faced the necessity of closing out their downtown store due to loss of lease. Business pessimists recommended retrenchemnt. Instead the concern trebled its advertising budget, made price concessions that proved interesting to the buying public and established a sales record.

"Business would be universally good if merchants, instead of sitting around complaining, would go out after the business. The surest and most direct way to do this, we have found, is through advertising—especially is this true of newspaper advertising. We have satisfactorily demonstrated the economic soundness of advertising and have found that, properly backed, it is the greatest business stimulus," said F. E. Halbriter.

Today's Bible Text

For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith. Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?—I John v:4, 5.

TALK IS CHEAP

The people of the country would breathe easier if some of these "wars on gangs" really would get under way.

HE STARTED IT

The fellow who kicks because his wife insists on choosing the family car, the kind of home he is to live in, his ties, shirts and hats, should remember that he asked her to make the first decision and that precedent goes a long way.

RADIATOR

The National University of Ireland has voted to confer the degree of doctor of law upon ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York. Al has doubtless been brushing up his pronunciation over against the next radio campaign. This degree will doubtless help him keep his radiator in good repair.

VESTAL VIRGINS

The gas and electric light company of St. Louis will have no married woman working in its plants, having discharged all women with husbands. Perhaps it is following the theories and practice of ancient Greece, where it is said only Vestal virgins were allowed to kindle fires and light torches.

THE UGLY

The Ugly Men's Voluntary Teachers' Association of Australia reports $825,000 distributed to charity in the last twelve years. Without trying to detract from this fine use of the grotesque, it may be in place to remark that the Hollywood Pretty Girls' Association has contributed many times that amount to the Community Chest of Los Angeles in the same period.

MONEY TALKS

The question of which is the most popular form of cinema entertainment in the United States—silent or talkie—seems to be answered by the box-office figures. Attendance at movie theaters has more than doubled in the last three years and this year will show a total of 115,000,000 weekly, as against 57,000,000 in 1927, in spite of the business depression and peewee golf. Will Hays compiled the figures.

SELF-PRESERVATION

Bond issues to provide money for nearly $400,000,000 worth of public works in the United States were approved by the voters in the recent election. The fellow out of a job has the same power to approve large expenditures of public funds as the man with millions of his own money. If Mr. Ordinary Citizen would vote as wisely in gang-ridden cities the high cost of crime waves might be cut down considerably.

THE SOCIALIST VOTE

Counting confidently upon business depression to sweep many of their candidates into office this year, the Socialist party made its pre-election plea to the people largely on economic grounds. But the results have not justified their hopes.

In New York State, to be sure, the Socialists polled a larger gubernatorial vote than in 1928. In New York City their candidate made a better showing than Norman Thomas in the latter year. They also had some successes in Milwaukee and Reading, but on the whole the party is not much "forradgr" than before.

The official count in California will give Upton Sinclair about 50,000 votes for Governor out of a total of 1,350,000, or about 3.7 per cent. This is a much larger proportion of the State vote than that given to Thomas in 1928, but it is not much to build party hopes upon for the future.

Because of their having two of the largest cities in the country within their borders, we are wont to think of New York and Illinois as the chief strongholds of Socialism, with Wisconsin a close third. But as a matter of fact, while New York was first in the Socialist ranks in 1928 California was second, Illinois third, Pennsylvania fourth and Wisconsin fifth.

"Decidedly satisfactory," says Norman Thomas of the "gains" of the Socialists this year. Which goes to show that a Socialist leader is very easily satisfied.

THE UNIFORM BUILDING CODE

Announcement that the long-waited uniform building code for California is nearing completion in the hands of the experts of the California State Chamber of Commerce is good news for California builders and property owners. The standardization which these experts are working out promises a lower cost for good building, reductions in insurance, particularly earthquake insurance, and more eastern funds for investment here at lower rates of interest. The potential saving in a State which does as much building as California is tremendous when all of these items are taken into consideration.

The auspices under which the code is being prepared are of importance. Some city building codes, the country over, contain jokers inserted by racketeers or owners of patented formulas; thus in New York City for many years fireproofing materials had to be purchased from a company of which the majority of the stock was owned by the leader of Tammany Hall, other forms of fireproofing being forbidden by the city code. Labor racketeers, also, at times succeed in introducing code restrictions which work for their advantage. The California code, it is to be presumed, is being carefully guarded against such intrusions, and when it is ready for adoption will not have to be examined with a microscope for hidden meanings.

In general the code is being patterned on the uniform codes adopted elsewhere, but with special attention to California problems and outside prejudices about California problems. Earthquake insurance, as it has been required by some lenders, has been admittedly far costlier than the requirements of the situation justify, and its reduction will be a great benefit. With the added safety factor which the code will provide, this item should, in many cases, no longer be necessary or may be had at lower rates.

Clarity and simplicity are promised in the code provisions which will make it a great advance on any code yet adopted anywhere. A tabular form has been adopted for the restrictions which will make it easy to discover just what is required in any particular type of building and what may be omitted. Great care is being used in defining terms and no term is to have more than one meaning, thus eliminating ambiguity and confusion.

One great advahtage of the new code is that it will enable contractors to bid more easily in any part of the State and to shade their costs accordingly, since they will not have to spend time investigating local building codes or make allowances for unexpected conditions. This advantage, of course, would inure to any uniform code. It undoubtedly means millions saved to the people of the State in the aggregate, with no loss to either contractors or to their employees. The overhead of the contracting business is a considerable item and anything that reduces it is clear gain.

The architects, contractors, building department executives and the like who are collaborating in this work are entitled to praise for a good job, if the completed code is found to be up to the portions assembled so far. David Witner, Los Angeles architect, is chairman of the committee, with John B. Leonard, engineer and chief of the San Francisco building department, as vice-chairman. Other members are Melville Dozier, Los Angeles engineer, secretary; William Simpson, Los Angeles contractor; F. H. Meyer, San Francisco architect; Walter Putnam, engineer, chief of the Pasadena building department; E. T. Thurston, San Francisco contractor; S. P. Koch, chief of the building department, Oakland; Edwin Bergstrom, Los Angeles, and H. D. Dewell, San Francisco, technical editors. Material for the code has been supplied by the American Institute of Architects, the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Associated General Contractors of America and the Pacific Coast Building Officials' Conference. Most of the experts have served without compensation.

MAURICE A. NEWMARK

Not many men or women can claim so unique a record as that of Maurice A. Newmark, Los Angeles business pioneer and commercial leader, who in his eightieth year has just closed a long, honorable and useful career. Through 65 years of active life Mr. Newmark worked steadily and without intermission at the same business he entered as a youth of sixteen, and so from a clerk in a small retail store rose to be president of an immense commercial house whose products are known and used all over the world.

Mr. Newmark's success points a lesson for every aspiring youth in these days of fitful and fretful strivings for swift and immediate returns. Steady, persistent and unchanging concentration on the details of the business he had chosen for a life vocation was the ladder by which he climbed from the counter to the manager's chair. Such ladders are still at the disposal of the young men and women seeking today to leave their mark on the business activities of their city and their community. But how many, like Mr. Newmark, have the courage and the perseverance for the slow and steady but sure ascent?

Consistent with the means he employed for advancing the fame of the great house he headed and did so much to create, Maurice Newmark was averse to all personal display and quietly and unostentatiously carried out his duties to society and the obligations his position placed upon him. In devotion to home, family and children, in upholding the reputation of his city, as in pressing the interests of his business relations, he always showed the same unswerving principle, and hewed straight to the line.

A BALKED AMBASSADOR

Seeking to put the best light upon his indefensible acts at Washington during the war, Dr. Constantine Dumba, the last Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to this country, has written a book in which he gives his version of the events leading to our entry into the great conflict.

From a summary of the volume just sent from Vienna it is seen that Dr. Dumba did not approve of President Wilson or his policies. He says that Wilson was too "doctrinaire," too lacking in the power of decision and not enough a man of action. In his interviews with Wilson the Ambassador found him too passive, "neither questioning nor responding." He "failed to use the expert knowledge of his ministers," though he listened to Col. House, "an admirable adviser."

Dr. Dumba maintains that Wilson's so-called neutral attitude during the first years of the war was really one of duplicity, enabling America to become "a great war arsenal for the Allied powers." This and other weird statements in the book, together with the fact of its author's interference in American affairs in a way to cause his expulsion from this country during the war, lead one to the conclusion that the final letter in the name of Dumba might well be omitted.

THOSE WHO WON'T SEE

Wilbur Glenn Voliva of Zion City is to make a tour of the world to prove it is "flat." From his ostrich-like attitude of the past it is probable that his head will dig a trench as he moves along.

NO HURRY

By James J. Montague

(Somebody has discovered that more than a million talented children in the United States are not receiving enough attention.)

I like a kid who's just a kid
And not half off his balance,
Because inside his head is hid
A lot of budding talents.
And if he's born to be a great
Philosopher or poet
I'd much prefer that he should wait
Till later on to show it.

I hate to hear one lisp in Greek
Or read a learned thesis.
I even hate to hear one speak
His solemn little pieces.
I'd rather see one from a shelf
Abstracting currant jelly
Than show that he believes himself
A Handel or a Shelley.

I don't approve of those possessed
Of easy grown-up graces;
The kind I always like the best
Have dirty hands and faces.
They're more attractive when they're shy
And put forth no endeavor
When strangers happen to be by,
To show that they are clever.

Though brilliant children may abound
Whose gift of cerebration
Will make them later on renowned
Across the mighty nation,
Who'll blaze the trail for you and me
And write us our best sellers—
While still they're kids they ought to be
A bunch of reg'lar fellers.

The LEE SIDE O' LA

By Lee Shippey

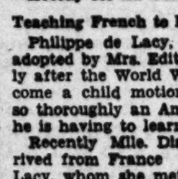
EVEN columnists have their little gratifications. Recently we told of the fine work of the Los Angeles Music School Settlement and now La Camarada Club informs us that that article encouraged the club to add a free scholarship in that school to its list of benevolences.

Hooray for La Camarada Club!

Teaching French to Philippe de Lacy

Philippe de Lacy, the war orphan adopted by Mrs. Edith de Lacy shortly after the World War, who has become a child motion-picture star, is so thoroughly an American that now he is having to learn French.

Recently Mlle. Diane Barbezat arrived from France to visit Mrs. de Lacy, whom she met at Nancy years ago. Mlle. Barbezat was a nurse with the French army during the war and was rewarded for her exceptional services with the Croix de Guerre. During the reconstruction period following the war she continued to work with the Americans. She remembers Philippe as a baby who was sickly and cried incessantly for its mother. She was amazed to see the change Los Angeles has wrought in him.



Mlle. Barbezat has met many famous people in her work. She was Jules Verne's nurse and throughout Eleanora Duse's last trip to America. Duse wanted a companion with whom she could speak French and found Mlle. Barbezat's the pure accent she desired.

Teaching French to Philippe de Lacy may sound like carrying coals to Newcastle. But Mlle. Barbezat says he is such an apt pupil that soon he will be speaking French "like a native."

Nomination for Nobel Prize

Bailey Millard suggested the other day that Earl Derr Biggers, instead of Sinclair Lewis, should have been awarded the Nobel Prize for literature. Somebody laughed, but when we got to discussing it seriously we found that everyone in the group would rather read the Charlie Chan stories than anything else in current fiction. They are mystery stories on the same plane as Conan Doyle's, and if Sir Arthur's work made him a world figure why should not that of the modest and lovable Pasadenan?

The fact is that they have. Charlie Chan is not only popular with American and English readers, but is translated into other languages. Ever since he wrote "Seven Keys to Baldpate" Biggers has been giving us a mixture of mystery, humor and sound literary merit which put him in a class by himself. When his latest Charlie Chan novel was running in the Saturday Evening Post, readers became so interested that they couldn't sleep nights, wondering how it would come out. The editors of the magazine actually were bombarded by letters, telegrams and telephone calls from people who couldn't wait for the next installment to find out. But, of course, they had to wait.

How It's Done

All of us who try to write wish we could write like that and wonder how it's done. We visited Earl in his office the other day and found him hard at work—doing nothing. He'd been doing nothing ever since last spring, when he was so deeply engrossed in his work that we missed him at two or three gatherings at which he was expected. He was giving every ounce he had to his work then, but as soon as his boy got out of school he and Mrs. Biggers and the boy left for Europe. They spent most of the summer in Sweden, with short visits in London and Paris before coming home. They got home just in time to put their son in school again—but Earl hasn't done anything yet.

Yet we weren't fooling when we said he was working hard doing nothing. He has been pondering things all summer. He doesn't waste time on false starts and, what is more important, doesn't waste it on poor starts. He does a lot of work before he writes a line, but when he does begin to write he has something to say.

If more writers would do that we wouldn't have so many books to skim through, but we'd have just as many to read.

Before we get away from this subject, let us casually mention the fact that Bailey Millard was the editor who accepted and published "The Man With the Hoe," which made Edwin Markham famous. He also has been editor of Cosmopolitan Magazine and of Munsey's. His judgment on literary wares is more than good.

Joshua Little Says

The price of Thanksgiving turkeys isn't going to worry me very much. I quit referring to Thanksgiving as "Turkey Day" when my third child was born.

The smartest home-wine maker I know put his up in bottles labeled "Pure Vinegar," and darned if that wasn't just what it turned out to be.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

THE "SIZE OF THE FIGHT"

[Syracuse Post-Standard]

It isn't the size of the dog in the fight:
It's the size of the fight in the dog.

That comes from Grand Rapids, Mich., at the head of a page advertisement with which that city is seeking to stimulate community courage in a way to help speed the recovery from the slackness which has marked business during 1930.

The city is advertising to its own people; and, "to appeal to American patriotism," it is seeing that copies of what it has to say are being sent broadcast among the other cities of the country. It is enlisted "in a campaign for the restoration of confidence and faith and American prosperity."

And Grand Rapids is doing a service if it does no more than establish conviction that "it's the size of the fight" in the people that is the determining factor in the present or any other time of public difficulty. Confidence in basic soundness is the biggest part of winning.

That Napoleonic drummer boy who drummed the troops into victory because he had never learned to beat a retreat is Grand Rapids' idea of the spirit needed. The victory was always to be had. But the boy, if he had been able to beat a retreat when ordered to do so, would have drummed the troops to defeat.

MRS. McCORMICK'S CASE

[Baltimore Sun]

In Mrs. McCormick's case the occasion for sympathy in these distressing circumstances is even less than normal. She entered politics amid a great fanfare about the realistic contribution of woman to public affairs. The Better Element was supposed to express its lofty purposes through her and women of her position and advantages, pointing the way to the elimination of bunk, hokum, bombast and corruption from politics. From this eminence Mrs. McCormick set about the business of getting herself nominated for the Senate, and her most conspicuous contributions to female realism in the muddy political field were (1) to plaster the State of Illinois with an unprecedented amount of money, and (2) to resort to every sort of sham and bogus appeal to mass ignorance and prejudice, the most memorable being her completely irrelevant and rabble-rousing attacks on the World Court and the League of Nations.

LOST OPPORTUNITY

[Washington Post]

When the Republican party was at its strongest in Congress, in 1921, it should have purged itself of traitors by denying them chairmanships of important committees. It did not have the courage to do so, and it has been betrayed repeatedly ever since. The Coolidge and Hoover administrations have not received the support to which they have been entitled in a Republican Congress. If the Republican party should be swept out of power two years hence it will be due to Republican inability to function, as a result of party treason, rather than to an increase of public confidence in the Democratic party's efficiency.

RED MAN'S OMISSION

[San Francisco Chronicle]

Just 400 years after Columbus discovered America the United States passed the Chinese exclusion act. The white man does not want to have to compete with the yellow man. Wouldn't the red man have been smart if he had been on the job with a white exclusion act?

THE WASHINGTON WASH

BY STRICKLAND GILLILAN

A remarkable conversation occurred in Washington the other day. One Washingtonian said to another:

"I'm mighty glad Senator So-and-So isn't coming back—the big heel!"

"Why? I thought you said recently he was a man of sterling qualities."

"I was misquoted. I said he was a man of starling qualities."

Yes, a lot of familiar figures will no more haunt the city and the Hill, after next year. They will be missed; some joyfully, others grieffully. Which causes us to burst into maudlin crooning as follows:

No more will Henry Allen's beak
Be seen upon the Hill—
Hank often would arise and speak
Anent some pending bill.
His absence causes some folks' cheers
And gives some others fret.
But here's a thought to dry all tears:
We have the starlings yet.

Tom Heflin, late of Alabam',
Will heflin here no more.
A bankhead wears the bonehead's tam
Upon the Senate floor.
Yet while this consolation lasts,
A steady course we'll steer;
Though flags stop midway of their masts,
The starlings still are here.

Dick Elliott of Hoosierland
(Real loss is he!)
By fellow-Hoosiers has been canned—
How may such outrage be?
How can the others carry on
This building work he started?
Yet joy has not completely gone—
No starlings have departed.

The preadvertised defection of Brookhart from the ranks of the Republicans in the Senate was meant for a threat, but Republicans look upon it as a promise and are grateful. This will be the first real helpfulness Brookhart has ever shown toward the party that elected him. This act stands out in sharp (if comic) relief against a background of hindering and handicapping.

Just how this will be helpful (specifically) is this:

Hitherto the President has been held back with his use of the Big Stick by the fact that it was a Republican Congress he was dealing with. He would get out the trunk strap and push back his sleeves, but here would come Pocahontas Watson of Indiana and throw himself across the intended victim and protect it. The politically elected President would be told that that would never in the world do. So down would go the sleeves and up to its nail the trunk strap would go. But if Mr. Brookhart joins with the Democrats and makes it a Democratic Senate, my, what a relief it will be to the President and what a release for the Big Stick! No compunctions of a partisan nature will then hold him back. He will be running his punitive expedition with what railroaders call "a whiteboard"—track clear all the way through. And a Republican lower house will sustain any vetoes that may be accorded. Hell will pop in Washington in the next year if Brookhart fulfills his kindly promise to the Republicans and the prophecies of those close to the White House incumbent are sound.

A peculiar situation will obtain in drug stores for the next thirteen months. Persons buying poison will not only have to sign their names in the register—they will have to have their signatures witnessed and their photographs attached, a la passport. In addition, the purchaser of the poison in lethal doses will be asked to state his political affiliation. And why these extra precautions? To prevent the "doing in" of Congressional electees or possible electees by members of the opposite party. That's why.

You see the two parties are running so nearly neck and neck in the official count, and will stand so nearly even after that ordeal has been completed, that a death or two on one side or the other may change the political complexion of the lower house. It would be easy for some cyanide artist to slip a little something fatal into the soup or coffee of some one either elected or suspected of being elected to Congress, to be a part of the December, 1931, organization.

I am told by an insurance man that the premium rates on these newly elected men are to be hoisted something scandalous. The suspense as to who is to ride in that automobile of the Speaker is something terrible. On the welfare of these newly elected members hangs the fate of the cushions in that handsome chariot. Who shall press them? Princess Alice's consort, or the long-horn from the Lone Star turkey empire? Jack Garner will furnish, at his own expense, medical attention and a nurse for any elected Democrat who may all between now and next December a year; and Nick will joyfully foot the hospital bill for any elected Republican who complains of having the misery.

Another thing: The widow of any elected man dying between now and organizing time will get a wire from Heflin warning her to have the late lamented's stomach contents analyzed.

Now is the season for leaving your cards at the White House for Mr. and Mrs. President. This is a great local custom, and one which brings great joy to the hearts of the first gentleman and lady of the land. A properly printed card looks just as well if delivered from our old blue repaint driven by ourself, as if it were delivered from a multiple-cylindered, snaky-looking thing that resembles a submarine and has a man in a rear-admiral's full-dress uniform at the wheel. Unless the footman who takes in these little white pasteboards has a way of marking them so as to show what sort of gasoline craft delivers them, I don't know how the President and his understrappers are to know what class the sender belongs in. One can imagine the gentleman-in-waiting running his finger deftly over the name to see if it is engraved—an ex-safeblower ought to be good at that alias Jimmy Valentine stuff.

"Yes," we can imagine the social custodian whispering thoughtfully as he looks at the White House ceiling, "it is engraved all right, or else printed by that fake engraving process. Yet he might have sold his car to pay for the engraving—doorman, come here. What sort of barge brought this sheaf of pasteboards? Oh, yeah? What year's model? Had it been washed and polished recently? Self-driven or chauffeur-chauffed? Very well. Now my course is clear."

Yep, the gunning season for White House invitations is now on and believe me the field is full of dogs and guns.

For the guidance of newly elected Senators and Representatives who have never before been in Washington or any other large city, it would be well for us to promulgate a few simple rules for social conduct:

Always remove the spoon from the coffee cup, if any, but wait until the secret-service dicks are all looking elsewhere before transferring same to the pocket.

Do not ask the President to give his opinion on by-elections.

Do not tip the waiter.

When the finger bowl comes around, parked on a little linen doodad, do not use it then, either to drink from or to go swimming in. Set it one side and see what happens. Or, leave it there (we dare you!) and see what happens to you after you get home. For your wife, though she may have flat feet, has kept herself emily-posted on social usages.

On telling the President and Mrs. President good night, do not say, "Come around just any evening and have a rubber of bridge. And we have some prewar stuff that—boy! You'd be surprised!" This is bad form in any administration and particularly bad form in this one.

We often wonder as we watch a man in a sweater and a rainstorm that is turning to sleet tramp around the roofs of public buildings to let the flag down at night and raise it in the morning—we often wonder, regarding him, just how much of patriotic love seethes in his jersey-clad bosom, and just how much of holding his job. One can watch statesmen at work orally waving the flag and do a splendid carbon copy of that same wonder.

If Senator Brookhart (serving his last term and doing all he can to embarrass an Iowa-California President serving his first term) wants to bargain for his defection and sell his allegiance. He could get a better bargain from the Republicans, who are more anxious to get rid of him than to keep his nominal loyalty.

HE WANTED A FLOWER

By The Foothill Philosopher

Certain incidents of seemingly slight significance stand out clearly against the fading horizon of each human life.

One morning last week, as my street car sped past a humble dwelling-house, the beautiful oleander tree in the front yard recalled to me the days when I was a watchman at a grade crossing at Yuma, Ariz.

One day, as I sat under the oleander tree on the corner, wondering if it would be safe to take a little nap before the next train rumbled in, I noticed a Yuma Indian lad, standing about ten feet away, eycing me curiously. He looked pathetically amusing in the suit of second-hand clothes which probably had been given him by a missionary or teacher on the reservation across the Colorado River.

For five minutes he watched me and then, evidently deciding that I had no intention of shooting him, walked slowly forward a few paces and, pointing to the tree, asked, "May I have a flower?"

This little fellow, whose ancestors owned America, was begging a $2-day watchman for an oleander blossom!

"Take the whole tree!" I said.

JAMES WARNACK.

GIVE!

Think of the poor little children
Who have nothing to eat,
Down in the slums of the city
Exposed to the cold and the heat.

Lots of the children are starving,
Lots of them have no clothes,
But we have food and clothing
And luxuries, I suppose.

So let's all get together
And give everything we can afford best,
To help these poor little children,
By helping the Community Chest.

The company barber in the army is generally a plutocrat. The rule or rather the custom in the army is smooth face and close-shaven heads so that there is always work for the barber and his opportunities for collecting coin are rather numerous and remunerative. While he is called upon to give a certain amount of attention to drills and such, he is excused from the rigorous attention to routine and escapes some of the disagreeable duties that his comrades are compelled to attend to.

YOUTH'S QUEST FOR TRUTH MADE THEME OF SERMON

Church Must Make Such Changes as Suit Times and Customs, Says Rev. Glenn R. Phillips

Declaring that while the fundamental truths of religion never change and that the church that is vital and influential will never loosen its hold on eternal principles, Rev. Glenn R. Phillips, in address at First Methodist Church of Hollywood yesterday, told audience that, as times and customs change, so must the church change in some respects in order to retain the interest of the new generation. Answering the question "What kind of a church is the church for youth?" Mr. Phillips spoke in part as follows:

"The church for youth must be one which the authority is not a medieval statement, but of present reality. Youth wants to know for the real, impatient with the false. They refuse to accept their's not to question' attitude. Our modern daughters spoke the passing word: 'Parents are wonderful because they will not condescend that they actually know and understand. They are hypocrites because they try to make us believe them to be what they are not.' Young people believe they have a right to question. Truth and sincerity will ever be an appeal to them.

"The church for youth is the church that proclaims and personifies courage not merely of escape but of adventure, daring and conquest. The religion of escape and withdrawal is the religion of the recluse, the hermit and the ascetic. They withdraw from the world and its problems because we are not strong enough to cope with the world; we admit defeat. But if it be true that we are cowards, let us run from it.' But this is the religion of repression, negation and 'don'ts.' Certain it is that this pale faith will make little appeal to youth. A generation that worships at the shrine of Lindbergh, Byrd and Kingsford Smith will hardly be impressed by an exhortation to find religions refuge on the pillar of Simeon the Stylite. Underneath the superficial show, the bravado, the stark frankness of speech, the young people are as ready as ever to respond to a real challenge."

GOD'S LOVE TAUGHT BY EVERY RELIGION

"Every religion thrills with the unwavering conviction that God is good and loving," said Dr. Sheldon Shepard in his sermon yesterday at the First Universalist Church. Dr. Shephard spoke in part as follows:

"Every religion that has passed beyond polytheism harbors the precious feeling that all men are God's children. Even in moments when some quirk of cold analysis compels us to save our foolish consistency by withdrawing God's love and care from someone with whom we do not agree, the true God in us whispers a thought of love. If God is as good as the best of men, there is none can so offend Him as to arouse an undying wrath. In spite of our theological formulas, there is a heart within us that is not afraid to trust any soul to the mercies of God."

DR. BRUCE BROWN PRAISES DEMOLAY

The annual sermon to members of the order of DeMolay was preached yesterday by Dr. Bruce Brown at South Park Christian Church. Dr. Brown said in part:

"A mighty army of young men is being enrolled in the ranks of DeMolay, an organization sponsored and assisted by the Masonic bodies. The purpose of this fraternity is to train men for citizenship and service. No one can gain membership in it who is not clean in body, in morals, in sports and in his dealings with his fellows. Every chapter is a school of good citizenship in which the essentials of popular government are taught. Some of the best business and professional men of Los Angeles are giving their time to this organization and the beautiful Masonic temples all over the city are placed gladly at its disposal."

RABBI TAKES FLING AT DR. E. L. CORNELL

"The Ten Commandments of Matrimony," is the subject of a sermon preached yesterday by Rabbi Julius Leibert at Temple Emanu-El. Dr. Leibert said in part:

"Now and then a professor runs amuck. And the pity of it is that, as often as not, he runs into the office of a newspaper. The latest professor to proclaim, via the front page, that he is mentally deranged, is Dr. Edward Lyman Cornell. At least that much may be inferred from his affusions on the subject of matrimony.

"He advises the fledglings of the legal profession to marry their secretaries. And for what reasons? Because, forsooth, that is the best way to get on in the world. Noble reasoning is his indeed! Marriage, with all its wealth of sentiment and sacredness of relationship is to be debased to the level of a trade trick, in order to allow the male to attain a vain-glorious station in life. Equally up to date is the professor's delicate and delectable recommendation that 'it is essential to choose a secretary with the object of advancing her to a life partnership.'

"Most worthy of all, however, are the professor's specifications for this 'from-secretary-to-wife' business. It is true some might seek to urge against them the trivial fact that heeding them might perceptibly swell the already plethoric ranks of the unemployed . . . Others, too, might demur against them on the silly ground that making a demure applicant run a race, or asking her whether she would be willing to bear children, might prove highly embarrassing. But as far as we are concerned, we have nothing but praise for these all-wise specifications. They are calculated to eliminate from marriage the baneful element of instinct. Ah, what could be more desirable! Marriage without passion and without romance—why, the golden millenium itself offers nothing to be compared with such a boon."

PASTOR DECRIES LACK OF MISSIONARY SPIRIT

Preaching on "The Macedonian Cry," Dr. J. George Dorn of Hollywood Lutheran Church yesterday said that while Christian nations have made progress in many lines, they have failed to carry the Gospel to many lands in which the people still are enslaved by ignorance and superstition. Dr. Dorn said in part:

"Africa and India, China and Japan with their teeming millions still are living for the most part in degredation. Then think of North America with its mammon worship, its pleasure-seeking and its selfish luxuries. What emotions of horror and grief must transfix the holy heart of God as He looks upon all this! And what must be the appalling coldness and selfishness of our own hearts if we can contemplate this awful woe, unmoved by pity and unstirred by any impulse to help!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

Paul's words to the Corinthians, "As we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly," constituted the Golden Text in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mortals and Immortals," yesterday in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

One of the Bible selections included other words from Paul's First Epistle to the Corinthians: "Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption. Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, stated: "We know that all will be changed 'in the twinkling of an eye,' when the last trump shall sound; but this last call of wisdom cannot come till mortals have already yielded to each lesser call in the growth of Christian character."

Chamber Lauds Fire Fighters

A communication from the Chamber of Commerce will be read before the Board of Supervisors this morning which commends Fire Warden Turner and his organization for the manner in which they handled the recent fire in the Malibu Mountains.

"In spite of the fact," the letter says, "the fire had gained considerable headway in an adjoining county and swept into Los Angeles county, the County Fire Warden and his organization not only succeeded in holding the area burned to a comparatively small figure with practically no loss of improved property, but actually succeeded in extinguishing the fire under the most adverse weather conditions that have existed this summer.

"It is felt that the County Fire Warden and his organization did a good job and are deserving of commendation."

Grape Products Case to Be Heard

Argument will be heard today by United States District Judge James on a demurrer and a motion for a bill of particulars on behalf of four defendants in connection with the California Vineyards Company case. The company and nine persons were indicted on a charge of violating the national prohibition act by selling products designated for wine and so processed.

The argument today will be on behalf of J. D. Fredricks, J. S. Loweberg, Thomas Stone and C. S. Payne.

AUTO PARK TO PAY DAMAGES

Because an employee raced the motor of a new car which had been parked in one of their stations, System Auto Parks, Inc., must pay $198.50 to Robert F. Atkins, owner of the car, Municipal Judge Pope ordered. The judgment was entered jointly against the company and Norman A. Nelson, the employee at fault.

Atkins testified that he parked his new automobile at 2:30 p.m. on June 2, last, and that when he returned for it two hours later the motor would not run. On investigation, he found it "frozen," he said. Motor experts testified that the motor had been raced until the cylinder head and pistons were ruined and had to be replaced.

INDIAN TO FACE COURT AS SLAYER

Clarence Hyde Will Be Arraigned Today for Agent's Murder

Clarence Hyde, youthful Indian, indicted last week on a charge of murder in a government reservation, will appear today before United States District Judge Hazel for arraignment.

It is charged that on October 26, last, Hyde slipped out of the back door of Indian John's cabin in Morongo Indian reservation, near Banning, and shot and killed Oscar Olson, special Indian agent, assigned to investigate reports that the Indians were indulging in too much liquor, and to find the source. Olson and an Indian officer invaded Indian John's cabin and attempted to make arrests, resulting in the killing. Hyde has been held in the Riverside County Jail.

JURY PICKS UP BOW-DE VOE

Inquisitors to Summon Principals in Charge and Countercharge Epic to Reveal Truth

Subpoenas will be issued today for the appearance of Clara Bow, flaming-haired screen actress, and others before the county grand jury tomorrow when it gets under way its investigation aimed at Daisy De Voe, formerly Miss Bow's secretary, on charges that she departed from the Bow household with articles not her own.

Yesterday it was learned that Miss Bow will not be a willing witness against her former secretary, inasmuch as she is in the midst of her new picture. It was indicated at the District Attorney's office she did not desire to swear to a complaint against Miss De Voe and for that reason the matter was referred to the inquisitorial body by Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

"FIRE" STARTS SMOKE

The entire controversy between Miss Bow and Miss De Voe culminated with her discharge as secretary by the film actress. A short time after her summary dismissal by Clara, Daisy blamed a "new boy friend" for all the trouble. Then it was disclosed she had been taken to the District Attorney's office last week and held for questioning for twenty-seven hours by Chief Investigator Matthews when jewelry, $140 in cash and some papers were removed from Miss De Voe's safe deposit vault in a Hollywood bank.

On Saturday Miss De Voe, through Attorney Nathan O. Freedman, instituted civil suit against Miss Bow, Fitts, Matthews, Marjorie Fairchild, assistant to Matthews, and Rex Bell, a screen actor who has been "going around" with Clara for a number of months. In this suit she seeks the recovery of jewelry worth $2200 and $5000 damages for asserted unlawful detainer.

WELCOMES QUIZ

Miss De Voe asserts she is happy that the grand jury is going to investigate her two years as secretary for Clara and that she is willing to lay all her cards on the table, because she has nothing to fear.

It is believed that all those named in Miss De Voe's recovery suit, as well as others, will be summoned as witnesses during the grand jury investigation. Miss De Voe denies making a confession when questioned by Matthews and his assistant.

THEFT OF LABOR LAID TO OIL MAN

Petroleum Executive in Venice District Faces Charges of Workmen

Twenty-five counts of grand theft of labor services have been filed against F. L. Corrigan, an executive of the Corrigan Petroleum Corporation, Ltd., of Venice, according to the District Attorney's office.

The complaint was issued by Hugh McIsaac, deputy District Attorney assigned to the complaint department.

According to McIsaac numerous similar complaints have been received from other oil field workmen in the Venice district and steps are being taken to file other grand theft charges against petroleum operators who have been drilling wells without paying their employees.

The complaint states that the twenty-five workmen who charge theft of their labor were defrauded of approximately $7000 in sums ranging from $200 to $360.

DRILLING ORDINANCES ASKED

The City Council has instructed the City Attorney to draft oil-drilling ordinances in the Venice field for Chester A. Bell, Florence M. Brauer, Jennie Donahue, Ida M. Polkinghorn, Albert Stanley, B. I. Smith and Rose Lieber.

One of the smart affairs of recent date was the musicale given by Mrs. Max Stern, 157 North Catalina street, honoring Maestro and Mme. Aldo Fanchetti. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Fanchetti and her daughter, Miss Helen Stern.

A delightful program was given by a number of gifted artists. As the opening number, Ludovico Tomarchio, tenor of the San Carlos Opera Company, sang the aria from "Elixir of Love." Frank Fiorella, baritone of the Columbia Opera Company, sang the aria from Rigoletto; Georgia Stark chose "Caro Nome" for her number, and Mme. Franchetti's selection was the aria from "Tosca." The closing number on the first half of the program was a duet from "La Boheme," sung by Gennaro Barro and Mme. Franchetti.

Dramatic readings by Miss Helen Stern provided a pleasant interlude and a musical program was resumed with two light numbers offered by Iona Quist. She was followed by Ellen Beach Yaw singing variations of Proch and Pietro

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

APRICOT CREAM

Cover two tablespoonfuls of gelatin with half a cupful of cold milk, and let it stand for half an hour. Beat the yolks of four eggs with one-third of a cupful of sugar, add two cupfuls of milk, pour into a double boiler and stir and cook until thick and smooth but do not boil. Remove from the fire, add the gelatin and strain into a cold bowl, when it starts to thicken beat in the stiffly beaten whites of the four eggs, and one cupful of apricot pulp and half a cupful of whipped cream. Pour into individual molds, set in on the ice until firm, unmold on cold plates and place on each portion one-half of a canned apricot, decorate with a spiral of whipped cream.

BAKED HAM

Wash a ten or twelve-pound ham and plunge it into boiling water to which has been added two quarts of ginger ale, one tablespoonful of whole cloves, a two-inch stick of cinnamon, two bay leaves, and two blades of mace, simmer until tender about twenty minutes to the pound. Let it stand in the water until cold, mix two cupfuls of fine dry bread crumbs with one and one-half cupfuls of sifted brown sugar, place the ham in a baking pan, remove the skin, and press into the fat the mixed bread crumbs and sugar. Stick around the outside whole cloves, add one cupful of ginger ale to the pan, place in the oven and bake moderately for an hour and one-half. Thirty minutes before removing place sliced apples or sliced pineapple around the bottom of the pan.

DEVILED CRAB

Remove the meat from the legs and body of a large crab, that has been boiled and cooled, scald the shell with boiling water, measure the meat after it has been flaked and for each cup add six tablespoonfuls of fine bread crumbs, the mashed yolks of two hard-boiled eggs, a half a teaspoonful of dry mustard, four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika, and half a cupful of melted butter, fill the cleaned shell with the mixture, cover with finely sifted bread crumbs, over the top, press a slice of lemon in the center and bake in a quick oven until a light brown. When removed from the oven dust half of the lemon slice with paprika and the other half with finely chopped parsley.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department. PRACTICAL RECIPES published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

THE SOLUTION

The schoolmaster was explaining to his class of small boys the nature of common fractions. "If I take a potato, cut it in half, then in quarters, and then in halves again, what shall I have?"

"Chips, sir," was the unexpected response from one small boy.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

PERMIT TINY BABY TO SLEEP HIS FILL

The older books on baby care frightened mothers unnecessarily, for they suggested that the healthy baby should sleep from twenty to twenty-two hours out of the twenty-four. If he didn't, as was often the case, mothers were panic-stricken. More recent data on sleep have revolutionized these older ideas. It has been found that from birth some healthy babies do not even sleep more than fourteen hours a day. This amount is about the minimum for the tiny baby, and of course, there are babies who sleep many more hours.

SLEEPING HOURS CHANGE

Each year of his life the baby's sleeping hours decrease. At first he sleeps from fourteen to eighteen hours a day. At one year he may be sleeping no more than thirteen hours. At two years he may have reduced this amount to eleven or twelve. Up to adolescence the child is benefited by ten to twelve hours of sleep. After this period circumstances and family habits will impress themselves upon the child and his sleeping hours will be in accord with them.

"Will you please tell me the amount of sleep for a baby of two months of age?" queries Mrs. H. B. D. "He sleeps from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. and has a nap in the morning. He gets very sleepy in the afternoon but I try to keep him from sleeping then. I get so much good from your articles."

LET HIM SLEEP

I hope that nothing I have ever said has influenced you to take such a foolish step as to prevent a child from sleeping. A baby of this age should sleep twelve hours at night and should nap from 9 or 10 o'clock to 12 in the morning, perhaps longer, besides a short nap in the afternoon. In fact, he should be put to bed regularly after each nursing and allowed to sleep his fill. Sleeping habits are established by the baby if he is given these regular opportunities to sleep. We have never felt that forcibly keeping a child awake ever improved his ability to sleep at night. That is governed entirely by his comfort, his regular habits, his diet and, therefore, his satisfaction.

We have a leaflet on "The Average Number of Hours Children Sleep." This may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to this department with your request for it. And don't forget the stamped envelope!

No child should ever be kept awake. Sometimes after the first year the child himself refuses to nap twice daily; then we feel it wise to rearrange the nap periods and put this one nap in the middle of the day. At 2 years he may, of his own accord, spurn napping altogether. Then a rest period will take the place of the nap period to avert fatigue. These are natural, not forced, changes.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

A Bedtime Story

WHITEFOOT'S LITTLE JOKE

You'll find it is a general rule
That folks themselves most often fool.
—Whitefoot the Wood Mouse.

WHITEFOOT THE WOOD MOUSE

What Whitefoot means is that if you want to fool some one, play a joke on him, all you need to do as a rule is to discover a mistake he has made and then let him keep right on making that mistake. So he fools himself. Peter Rabbit had made a mistake from the very beginning of his efforts to find who was the strange singer in the Green Forest. Because Peter always associated singing with birds he at once began looking for a feathered singer. It never entered his funny little head that any one but a bird could possibly have produced that song. This Whitefoot the Wood Mouse discovered at once when Peter told him about the strange song and it brought a twinkle of mischief to Whitefoot's big, soft eyes.

"I'll keep right on letting him look for a feathered singer," said Whitefoot to himself, "and while he looks I'll have a little fun with Peter."

Perhaps you remember that on two occasions when Whitefoot had disappeared for a few minutes Peter had heard that strange song. Each time on his return Whitefoot helped Peter look for the singer and each time the result was the same. It quite upset Peter. To have that singer so near yet be unable to find him, not even a feather to prove that he had been there, was too provoking.

Whitefoot pretended to be as anxious as Peter to find that singer, and kept asking over and over what the song was like. "You'll have to hear it," said Peter. "I just can't tell you what it is like. If you'll just stay here instead of running off every few minutes perhaps you'll hear it."

So Whitefoot agreed that he would stay to watch and listen. "I think it will be best if we keep out of sight," said he. "You sit under that litttle hemlock tree and I'll sit in the hollow top of this old stump."

Peter thought this a good idea. So he sat under the little hemlock tree, where he could peep out without the likelihood of being seen, and Whitefoot disappeared in the top of the old stump. For a long time nothing happened. Then as Peter was almost ready to give up he heard that mysterious little song again. As had happened before, it sounded as if it came from that old stump or from behind it. Peter looked eagerly in that direction and saw Whitefoot come scrambling to the top of the old stump.

"I'll keep right on letting him look for a feathered singer," said Whitefoot to himself.

"I heard it! I heard it!" cried Whitefoot in great excitement. "Did you see the singer? Oh, Peter, did you see the singer?"

"No," replied Peter in a tone of deep disgust. "You ought to have though, unless you were taking a nap."

"Of course I wasn't taking a nap," snapped Whitefoot indignantly, "What do you mean by saying that I ought to have seen that singer? What about yourself?"

"I haven't been sitting on that old stump and that is where that song came from, or from just back of it," retorted Peter. "Had I been sitting up where you were I certainly wouldn't have let that singer get away without being seen."

Whitefoot tried to appear indignant, but he was too full of chuckles to appear very angry. He was so full of chuckles that he just had to turn his back to Peter. He pretended to be looking in the bushes and small trees back of the old stump. He was still sitting there when that song was heard again.

"There!" cried Peter, rushing out from his hiding place. "Where is he, Whitefoot? You must have seen him this time! If that song didn't come from somewhere about that old stump may I never hop another step. What are you chuckling so about?"

"A little joke," chuckled Whitefoot. "Just a little joke. I don't suppose it has ever entered that funny head of yours that that singer might not wear feathers."

"What's that?" cried Peter as a funny look, a look of mingled suspicion and unbelief, crossed his face.

'Forget-Me-Not' Drive to Start

For the benefit of a national fund to assist in the hospitalization, employment, relief and welfare of disabled war veterans the annual Forget-Me-Not drive in the Disabled American Veterans of the World War has been announced for December 18, 19, 20 and 21 in Los Angeles and surrounding communities.

With the money derived from these annual nation-wide drives the D.A.V. maintains a liaison service to aid veterans in prosecuting their claims with the United States Veterans' Bureau, and aids in the promotion of legislation for the benefit of all veterans.

SALARY ACCOUNT SHORT

The salary account of the custodian's fund will be short $405 at the end of the present month, the Board of Public Works has informed the City Council, and personnel cannot be reduced further without seriously affecting the upkeep of public buildings. The board asks the Council to loosen the purse strings sufficiently to overcome the shortage. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fun Way to Health"

CANNING BY EXPERTS

Many correspondents write to ask me if home canned goods are not more wholesome than those purchased at the stores, and my reply is that generally the opposite is true. Usually, there is quite a large percentage of spoilage in home canned products, and there have been quite a few cases of food poisoning from improperly canned home-made products. Furthermore, home canning is nearly always a great deal more expensive than the canned foods which you can buy already prepared for use at your grocery store.

The canning industry has improved greatly within the last few years since they have installed careful methods of inspection and research departments to discover the most healthful ways of canning. At one time canned foods consisted almost entirely of surplus food products which would otherwise spoil, but this is no longer the case. The foods which are now used for canning are selected by experts. Often, the vegetables used for canning are raised under contract and the seed is selected by the experts to produce just the kind of vegetables which will have the best flavor and appearance when ready for harvesting. The growing crop is then carefully inspected and it is harvested just at the right time. Sometimes even a day or two's difference would produce an inferior crop.

One interesting fact is that canned fruits and vegetables are usually canned fresher than if you bought the same foods at your market and cooked them at home. The reason for this is that most canneries are so located that it possible to can vegetables, fruits and fish within an hour or two after they are gathered. In contrast with this you have the home cooked market bought vegetables which are often four or five days old.

You may have noticed that canned products taste fresher now than they used to. One reason for this is that the foods are not heated any longer than necessary to produce a perfect sterilization. The temperature is important and it is carefully regulated, for each special kind of food requires its own temperature and time of cooking. Furthermore, foods are now cooked right in the cans after they are sealed so that no oxygen enters. This preserves the flavor and all of the food elements. Even the elusive, easily destroyed vitamin C is preserved by this process. This is the vitamin which is so easily destroyed that it can not resist more than a few minutes' boiling in an open pot on your kitchen stove.

When you open a can of acid fruit you may have noticed that the inside of the can is coated with enamel. This is done in order to preserve the color of the fruit and to protect against the fruit coming in contact with the can. When you open one of these cans and do not use all of the food at one time, you may with perfect safety allow the remainder of the food to remain in the can until the next meal. Experiments have produced a type of can which can not produce poisoning by any possible chemical combination with the food it contains. Food will remain good indefinitely in an unopened can provided it remains air-proof.

My reason for writing this article is to let you know that it is healthful to use canned foods. Many people believe that canned goods are unwholesome, but this is a mistaken idea. Canned goods are often more healthful than goods prepared at home. Balance your diet by using plenty of canned goods.

WEEK-END CONCERTS PLEASING

Kreisler, Gieseking and Rodzinski Win Honors in Various Recitals

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Three major concerts over the week-end held the attention of the large musical public Los Angeles is manifesting this year. Fritz Kreisler gave his second recital of the week Saturday afternoon with a capacity audience in attendance. Walter Gieseking, the young German wizard of the piano, gave his third successful program Saturday evening, and yesterday afternoon Dr. Rodzinski conducted a Sunday concert of the Philharmonic Orchestra with Dino Borgioli, tenor, as soloist.

The Kreisler program reached its greatest climax in the concerto No. 4 of Mozart. A little known and very beautiful early Italian sonata in A minor by Pasquali (edited by the other gerat contemporary violinist Ysaye) opened the program. The adagio and fugue from the G minor sonata by Bach for violin alone rounded out the classic first half of the concert. No encores were allowed to disturb its continuity. The inimitable Kreisleriana, composing the second half, was given with that warm and gracious prodigality which has won for this man the friendship and high regard of a world.

With a fine loyalty Mr. Kreisler has kept Carl Lamson, his veteran accompanist, by his side for twenty years. Mr. Lamson does not always measure up to the present-day standards required of the piano in the larger works.

RODZINSKI LEADS HEAVY PROGRAM

Dr. Rodzinski's Sunday afternoon concert was rather heavier than usual as he followed the Beethoven "Egmont" overture with the long Brahms fourth symphony, repeated from the last symphony pair, and completed his part of the program with a rather tedious symphonic poem built laboriously on the theme of the Volga Boatman, by Glasounow.

Dino Borgioli, a seasoned singer from Italy, gave an excellent account of the typical tenor numbers, the flower song from "Carmen," the Gelida Manina from "La Boheme" and the Dream from "Manon." Borgioli is a singer of marked ability and colors his arias with dramatic interest. His voice is well used, but the most remarkable virtue of his singing is the taste and intelligence which he displays in these popular arias which are too often used as vehicles for showmanship. It was evident that the audience thought well of him immediately for it tried for ten minutes or more to break the no-encore rule, which has been set up for the orchestra concerts. Dr. Rodzinski conducted especially well-tempered accompaniments by the orchestra.

Mr. Borgioli sings in concert in Long Beach the 26th inst. He will be accompanied by Shibley Boyes, pianist.

GIESEKING GIVES THIRD RECITAL

A large audience was assembled by the sudden announcement of a third piano recital by Walter Gieseking. His program included the sixth English suite of Bach so exquisitely played as to cause sighs of admiration and wonder in the audience largely composed of musicians.

The "Wanderer Fantasie" of Robert Schubert became a message from old German.

The six characteristic preludes of Debussy closed the printed list, but the audience demanded more. In playing Debussy, Gieseking keeps very strictly within the musical frame indicated by the composer, but manages to "point" the meaning in a more revealing way than any player now on the concert stage.

Lyman to Play During Run of "Min and Bill"

Abe Lyman and his band will continue as a featured attraction of the Carthay Circle Theater during the engagement of "Min and Bill," which opens Thursday evening with a gala testimonial premiere to Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, featured players.

Lyman and his organization have arranged a program that will please the followers of the group, it is reported. Herb Taylor and Arthur Johnson are the musical arrangers.

To round out a complete program, the management have included a surprise novelty called "Fisherman's Paradise," which also comes from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Among other subjects will be included Movietone News and Walt Disney's Silly Symphony, "Winter."

Because of the premiere being in the nature of a testimonial to Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, it is the expectation of the management of the Carthay Circle that the event will be attended by a brilliant array of stars.

Rehearsals on for Next Drama at El Capitan

Rehearsals are now under way at El Capitan Theater for "Michael and Mary," the drama which opens Sunday matinee, costarring Dale Winter and Henry Duffy.

In this A. A. Milne romantic comedy, which was selected by Burns Mantle as one of the ten best plays produced in New York on the 1929-1930 season, there are three acts and eight scenes. The action covers the span of years between 1905 and 1929. Consequently many of the actors appear in one act only, with the exception of Miss Winter and Duffy, whose romantic life together motivates the plot.

Advance reservations at El Capitan indicate that the house will be sold out Sunday when the stars make their first appearance here in many months.

Catherine Dale Owen and Dorothy Christy are featured in a number in "Voice of Hollywood" just completed by Lewis Lewyn at Tec-Art.

The Notorious Kid Falls in Love

Kay Johnson and John Mack Brown

In a scene from "Billy the Kid," the current M.-G.-M. film production, now showing at the Criterion Theater. The engagement is proving a popular one.

TWO HOUSES BOOK "SUNNY"

Successful in showing one picture, "Life of the Party," at two first-run theaters at the same time, Warner Brothers have made the same booking arrangements for Marilyn Miller's latest production, "Sunny." The picture will start runs at both Warners' Hollywood and Downtown theaters Friday.

"Sunny" served Marilyn Miller as a starring stage vehicle under the Florenz Ziegfeld banner for over two years, both in New York and as a road show. It is said to be her most successful stage attraction.

The story itself is termed almost perfect for Miss Miller. It was written especially for her on the stage and the motion-picture version has followed the original book closely. All of the high lights of the Ziegfeld production are incorporated in this screen production, it is said, in addition to several scenes that add to the lavishness of the production.

In "Sunny" Miss Miller has two leading men. The romantic lead is taken by Lawrence Gray, while the comedy role is enacted by Joe Donahue, brother of the late Jack Donahue.

Others in the cast are O. P. Heggie, Clyde Cook, Barbara Bedford and Inez Courtney. William Seiter directed.

FANCHON TO SUPERVISE PROLOGUE

Noted Directors of Dance Will Assist in Arranging Chinese Stage Show

An atmospheric prologue to Paramount's "Morocco" will be staged at the Chinese Theater when the film opens on the 25th inst.

The stage setting, according to Fanchon, in charge of the production, will be a Moroccan street scene, colorful and realistic with, of course, the stage liberty to add to its effectiveness. The music will interpret the spirit of the action in the prologue, rather than the accepted plan of fitting the action to the music.

Fanchon is being assisted in the staging by Larry Ceballos and Sammy Lee. Ceballos is well known for his work in Los Angeles, and from dance ensembles he has staged in pictures. Lee is one of New York's most noted dance directors, and has just completed an engagement with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The company of more than a 100 players, will include Marietta, who comes to Hollywood direct from George White's "Scandals." In that show, she attracted wide publicity for her work in the "Beauty and the Beast" episode.

CRITERION ANNOUNCES NEW FILM

"Lady's Morals," Starring Grace Moore, Will Start Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day, the 27th inst., it has been announced, will mark the initial showing of "A Lady's Morals" at the Criterion Theater. This M.-G.-M. production features Grace Moore, beautiful opera singer, and Reginald Denny.

"A Lady's Morals" is declared by the Criterion management to be one of the most pretentious productions of the year and will serve to introduce and establish Miss Moore as a favorite with film theatergoers. The picture is based on the life and loves of Jenny Lind, Swedish Nightingale, and was directed by Sidney Franklin.

The supporting cast includes Wallace Beery, Jobyna Howland, Gus Shy, Bodil Rosing, Gilbert Emery and Paul Porcasi. "Billy the Kid," the current picture at the Criterion, will close on the 26th inst.

NEWCOMER SCORES

The new burlesque at the Follies Theater, "Girls of the U.S.A.," lives up to its advance billing. Action was the outstanding point of the piece from beginning to end. Girls are featured and leading the active chorus is Mary Sunde, a newcomer to the Follies. She keeps things lively for all concerned. In a colorful number called "Fashions," Verne, the French miss, pleases with her singing and dancing. Leona White, soubrette, again scores. Comedy is provided by Fagan and Clark.

'Remote Control' Scheduled Next at Loew's State

William Haines's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, "Remote Control," with the comedian at the microphone in a mystery and comedy story of crooks and kilocycles, is announced as the new Loew's State Theater screen offering starting Thursday.

MARY DORAN

Haines is said to offer the finest comedy work of his screen career in the broadcasting sequences of the picture, where, shorthanded, he is forced to offer a complete program himself, imitating several well-known radio acts, including Amos and Andy.

Mary Doran has the leading feminine role in the new picture, which Malcolm St. Clair and Nicke Grinde directed from the stage play of the same name. The supporting cast is made up of Charles King, John Miljan, Polly Moran, J. C. Nugent, Edward Nugent and Edward Brophy.

"Renegades" is the current Loew's State attraction, with Warner Baxter, Myrna Loy and Noah Beery in the cast.

FILM ACTRESS ON STAGE

Blanche Sweet leaves this week for New York, after two months of preparation, to open her engagement in R.-K.-O. houses. It will be her first stage appearance, and following its completion, Miss Sweet will return to the screen.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

ARTHUR WHIPPLE

THE "event extraordinary" of the week-end in the Little Theater was the presentation Friday and Saturday evenings in Laguna Beach of that stirring and emotional drama, "East Lynne." The town turned out en masse for both performances and such was the throng Saturday evening that some folks were turned away.

A select company of ladies and gentlemen, including the Misses Arden, Pope, Pardee, Wakelee and Pence, the Messrs. Kimmell, Whipple, Pierce, Radford, Caldwell and Colburn and young Master Chamberlain enacted the various roles.

They made every endeavor and successfully to keep the production in accordance with the spirit of the day in which "East Lynne" was a favorite flower of the drama. Not only was this true of the acting, but the costumes, the scenery, the drops and even the props. The result was a grand show.

Mr. Whipple, whose picture is to be found in this column, played the role of Sir Francis Levison, the villain.

Hollywood in Limelight

One of these gentlemen who delight in keeping posted upon what's impending in the theater, writes from New York that there is another show about Hollywood to be produced. It's a musical comedy to be done by Connolly and Swanstrom, with Fields, Rodgers and Hart.

That makes a total of four. The others are "Once in a Lifetime," Donald Davis's "So This is Hollywood" (the title has been changed from "Made in Hollywood",) and Crane Wilbur's "Cradle Call," just opened in Chicago. The latter-named, if I am not mistaken, was originally called "Passion Preferred." It would seem that play titles, at least, are going dignified.

Reunion Staged at Theater

Here's a casting story.

"The Infinite Shoeblack," about to see light at the Civic Repertory Theater in Hollywood, has brought together two men who had been friends and fought side by side in Palestine thirteen years ago. They are Murray Kinnell, Scotch actor, who has the lead in this play, and Olaf Hutten, Britisher, now in "The Apple Cart."

It seems that one day last week Hutten strolled into the Music Box to watch rehearsal. He observed what seemed a familiar figure on the stage. His first impulse was to rush up and grab Kinnell's hand. Then, the native British restraint came to the fore and instead he went up in a very dignified way and said: "I say, old sport, aren't you Lieut. Kinnell, and weren't you with the old Green Howards in Jerusalem?"

Kinnell said he was. It developed that the two were sublieutenants in Allenby's army before Jerusalem. After the capture of the city, they were separated and haven't seen each other since.

Along the Eastern Front

And here are some items from the New York correspondent about what's being done and said along Broadway:

Arch Selwyn says that Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque got $16,000 in Pittsburgh at a $2.50 top.

Now that the mercurial Mr. Harris has finally begun work on "The Inspector-General" things are moving along at a rapid clip. The version to be used will be used by John Anderson, dramatic critic of the Evening Journal, Charles MacArthur, who was originally announced as the adapter of the Gogol farce, apparently never having got around to starting work upon it.

The production will open at the Bronx's Windsor on December 8 and arrive on Broadway in the Christmas batch of plays. The roster of players at present holds Dorothy Gish, Claude Cooper, Romney Brent, J. Edward Bromberg and Lina Abarbanell.

Mr. Erskin has reconsidered and after all Mr. Mankiewicz's "We, The People" will not meet production at his hands. What he will turn to on behalf of the Frohman organization has not been definitely settled, but he has a number of plays under consideration.

COUNTY TO ACT IN JOBS CRISIS

Shaw Prepares Resolution for Board Today

Employers Will Be Asked to Maintain Pay Rolls

Citizens Urged to Purchase Local Products

Another step toward eliminating, as far as possible, unemployment in Los Angeles county will be taken today by Supervisor Shaw, when he will present to the Board of Supervisors a resolution calling on private employers to join with city and county officials in keeping their employees at work continuously for one year and that residents buy locally manufactured products.

The board recently ordered that all county department heads immediately prepare a list showing what work in the county could be gotten under way at once and how many men would be needed to do it. As a result of the order many projects have been speeded up in the way of road building and work in the flood-control district.

Following is the resolution that will be offered by Supervisor Shaw today:

"Unemployment is a public problem which has evolved upon city and county officials the necessity of taking immediate action for its relief.

"The County Unemployment Committee, of which I am chairman, is alert to the necessity of correlating the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest and county and city officials in behalf of unemployment in Los Angeles.

"Already the County Board of Supervisors has taken three of the concrete steps suggested for the stimulation of employment here and the relief of unemployment.

"The Board of Supervisors has adopted and is carrying out a policy designed to bring out immediately all necessary public construction and improvements.

"County employees have already been assured of continued employment at their present wages without unjustified departmental interruption in personnel.

"The County Board of Supervisors has already pledged its hearty support of any sane and constructive steps for the relief of unemployment.

"The experience of county agencies dealing with the unfortunate victims of unemployment, reveals that a major key to the entire situation is the continuation of local factories and commercial concerns at full pay roll capacity. Local employers who participate in any major layoff add not only to the burden of unemployment but to the charity and welfare agencies throughout the county, who, of a necessity, in a very short time are forced to care for a large percentage of those deprived of work. With this in mind the following resolution is designed to serve a dual purpose:

"Resolved: That the Board of Supervisors recommend that private employers join city and county officials in giving preference in employment to bona-fide residents of Los Angeles city and county.

"That private employers join city and county officials in assuring employees of continued employment over a period of a year at their present wages, and

"That the consuming public, including all private corporations and institutions, be mindful of the necessity of giving preference to local products with the end in view of keeping factories in operation and pay rolls normal."

CHEVERTON HEADS COLLEGE

First Professor of California Christian Institution Becomes President at Colorful Ceremonies

Dr. Cecil F. Cheverton, first professor of the California Christian College, who was given his faculty post with the opening of the school in 1920, was inaugurated yesterday afternoon as president of the institution in a colorful ceremony attended by representatives of a score of American universities. The inauguration was in the Grayson Memorial Auditorium.

With the induction of Dr. Cheverton as president, Dr. Edgar Lloyd Smith, for fifteen years regional director for California and Arizona of religious education for the Christian Churches, appeared as the newly elected vice-president of California Christian College.

A prediction of a radical change in the methods of American universities was made during the course of an address given by Dr. Harry O. Pritchard, who gave the greeting of the college to its new president.

CHANGE PREDICTED

"The increase in college attendance in the future," Dr. Pritchard said, "is destined to be a much smaller percentage than in the past.

"Due to the economic situation of the world today, the colleges will be forced to change their curricula." Then turning to Dr. Cheverton, he said:

"Allow me to congratulate you upon having the vision, judgment and courage to introduce here something new and different in the way of a curriculum.

"This curriculum is in line with the best educational theories known today. It is an experiment, which if successful will render a magnificent service through American democracy.

"The demand now is not for numbers but for quality and only those of the best minds and the best trained will be in demand in the future. There are many indications that we are at the dawn of a new educational awakening throughout America."

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

In the academic procession were representatives of Holmby College, La Verne College, Loyola University, College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, University of the West, Valencia University, Pasadena Junior College, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Berkeley Baptist Divinity School; all from California and beyond the State were delegates from Bethany College, West Virginia; Butler University, Indianapolis; University of Oregon, Spokane University, William Woods College, Fulton, Mo.; Colorado College, Colorado Springs; Greenville College, Greenville, Ill., and University of Nanking, Nanking, China.

Dr. Cheverton was born in Rich Hill, Mo., and is 41 years of age. He attended the public schools of his birthplace and was graduated from Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa. He later attended Columbia University, and Boston University, and was a teacher for several years before he came to Los Angeles.

COL. LINDBERGH DUE HERE SOON

"We are happy the new wing has met its tests successfully and I am anxious to arrive in Los Angeles to fly it."

Whether Mrs. Lindbergh will accompany her famous husband westward was not stated by the colonel, but Squier believed it probable that she will. She was here when the ship was first turned over to Lindbergh and flew it with him on initial test hops.

REDUCES RESISTANCE

The new wing is constructed to allow the landing gear, wheels, braces and shock-absorbing units, to fold into the wing when the ship gets in the air, cutting down air resistance and automatically increasing the speed.

Test flights made by Squier, Dick Von Hake, Lockheed chief engineer, who supervised design and construction of the speed unit, and Marshall Headle, Lockheed test pilot, show that in a fuselage identical to the Lindbergh plane and with a motor of the same horsepower, the wing added twenty-six miles an hour to the plane's maximum.

The underside of the Lindbergh wing has openings that receive the large low-pressure landing air-wheels and metal braces. These swing upward and inward in relation to the wing and fuselage. When they are folded into the wing a cover attached to the outside of each of the two units completely covers the apertures on the under side—making the craft appear in the air as though it had no wheels.

The gear can be raised or lowered in fifteen seconds from the cockpit of the ship by means of an endless steel cable operated by a hand crank. Four signal lights on the instrument board will keep the colonel informed at all times of the position of his landing wheels, as he or Mrs. Lindbergh will be unable to see them because of the intervening wing.

SAFETY DEVICES

A green and a red light for each wheel will tell him of their position—the green lights remain burning when the wheels are down for landing and the red bulbs glow when they are up.

As an extra precaution the sound of a gong will warn the colonel if he should shut off his motor for landing with the wheels folded up.

Steel lugs lock the gear when it is extended for landing or is lifted into the wing. A release lever for the automatic locking system completes the mechanism that has been found fool-proof in ten hours of test flying.

Development of the wing on a ship as large as the Lockheed on the colonel's idea is another pioneering success accredited to the trans-Atlantic pilot.

He added nearly ten miles an hour to his plane's speed by having a sliding cover built over the two cockpits to cut down air drag and make flying more comfortable in cold weather. He is the first exponent of high-altitude speed flying for long trips and saw his theory justified when he and his wife flew from here to New York last Easter in their plane to set a record of 14 hours and 45 minutes from coast to coast.

His desire to own a low-winged monoplane and the success with which he flew it have caused many planes of this type to come into use since Lockheed built his present plane on his orders. His and Mrs. Lindbergh's experiments with gliding here also brought about rapid development of motorless flight throughout the nation.

The plan to change the name of Hollenbeck avenue to Eighth street has received the approval of the City Council.

LECTURE TELLS CHURCH'S BIRTH

Christian Science Speaker Details Founding

Mary Baker Eddy Pictured by William Porter

Bible Teachings Defined in Light of "Key"

In a Christian Science lecture delivered yesterday afternoon under the auspices of Twenty-ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, William W. Porter, C.S.B., of New York City, member of the Board of Lecturership of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, spoke in part as follows:

"A little over half a century ago an unusual woman appeared upon the highway of human endeavor. She saw about her humanity's sins, sufferings and sorrows. A night of terror seemed about to engulf her.

"TOWARD HEAVEN"

"She turned away from earth and looked toward heaven and God. Through the mists of earth the woman saw a beckoning path and into this path she turned her footsteps. As she journeyed her vision grew and she saw exceedingly near those many mansions which are spoken of by the Master in the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of John; she learned that these mansions are mansions of health, mansions of happiness, peace and prosperity; she found her own confidence and courage ever mounting to meet opportunity; there came to her unbounded and unexpected ability and success, and a higher sense of life as God.

"This woman was the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, the author of the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.' In the year 1866 Mrs. Eddy was brought back almost from the grave through her spiritual understanding and pure desire. Following her remarkable healing Mrs. Eddy launched forth upon an undertaking which was destined to become her crowning life work, the demonstration of Christian Science and its presentation in such a way that humanity could not fail to understand its meanings and receive its benefits.

"BIBLE SOLE GUIDE"

"Mrs. Eddy tells us in her writings that in the demonstration and establishment of Christian Science she had no other guide than the Bible. This was her only textbook.

"In the orderly process of arriving at the correct statement of the problem of being, one finds himself confronted with the question, What is God? We are told by Mrs. Eddy that one of the chief difficulties encountered in her early writings was that of finding words or language which would adequately express the spiritual ideas which she sought to impart. Today when one refers to God a generous part of one's listeners is found to be more or less in harmony with the definition in the Christian Science textbook (p. 465,) namely, that 'God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite mind, spirit, soul, principle, life, truth, love.'"

BRIDE OF FERNEKES RELEASED

Good Behavior Results in Freeing of Forgery Case Woman Ahead of Time

Reaping the reward of good behavior in prison, Mrs. Ella Fernekes, 18-year-old bride of Frank Fernekes who is now serving a term in San Quentin for forgery, was released from the County Jail yesterday—sixteen days before the expiration of her sentence of three months on the same charge. She said she will visit her husband and then return here in search of employment. She must remain on probation for five years.

Mrs. Fernekes and her husband, who is 32, were arrested at El Paso last May. While in custody en route here, Fernekes made a sensational escape by leaping from the train near Phoenix. He was recaptured a month later in New Orleans.

Tried separately, Fernekes was sentenced to one to fourteen years in San Quentin and his wife to three months, with the probationary clause.

On the eve of his departure for prison, October 10, last, Fernekes was remarried to the young woman, declaring he had lost the original certificate and that he wished to protect his wife's interest in certain insurance policies. By special dispensation from the court the wedding was performed outside the County Jail, and the couple spent a ten-minute "honeymoon" on a bench, eating sandwiches.

MEXICAN MARRIAGE PONDERED

Court Considers Decision in Suit of Roger M. Coe for Annulment

A Mexican jurist's opinion on American marriages south of the border is being considered by Superior Judge Gould, who has under advisement Roger M. Coe's petition for annulment of his marriage with Margaret H. Coe. Coe, a member of a wealthy Santa Barbara family, married at Tia Juana, September 13, 1929.

Celso Gaxiola, former justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Sinaloa, Mex., testified that American marriages in Mexico, not complying with the Mexican residence laws, should be held invalid. Attorney Scott McReynolds, representing Coe, contended that the Mexican law provides that one of the parties must establish residence in Mexico before the ceremony can be legalized, and that two witnesses who are residents must be present. He asserted that these provisions were not followed in the Coe marriage.

COUNTY TO ACT IN JOBS CRISIS

Shaw Prepares Resolution for Board Today

Employers Will Be Asked to Maintain Pay Rolls

Citizens Urged to Purchase Local Products

Another step toward eliminating, as far as possible, unemployment in Los Angeles county will be taken today by Supervisor Shaw, when he will present to the Board of Supervisors a resolution calling on private employers to join with city and county officials in keeping their employees at work continuously for one year and that residents buy locally manufactured products.

The board recently ordered that all county department heads immediately prepare a list showing what work in the county could be gotten under way at once and how many men would be needed to do it. As a result of the order many projects have been speeded up in the way of road building and work in the flood-control district.

Following is the resolution that will be offered by Supervisor Shaw today:

"Unemployment is a public problem which has evolved upon city and county officials the necessity of taking immediate action for its relief.

"The County Unemployment Committee, of which I am chairman, is alert to the necessity of correlating the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, Community Chest and county and city officials in behalf of unemployment in Los Angeles.

"Already the County Board of Supervisors has taken three of the concrete steps suggested for the stimulation of employment here and the relief of unemployment.

"The Board of Supervisors has adopted and is carrying out a policy designed to bring out immediately all necessary public construction and improvements.

"County employees have already been assured of continued employment at their present wages without unjustified departmental interruption in personnel.

"The County Board of Supervisors has already pledged its hearty support of any sane and constructive steps for the relief of unemployment.

"The experience of county agencies dealing with the unfortunate victims of unemployment, reveals that a major key to the entire situation is the continuation of local factories and commercial concerns at full pay roll capacity. Local employers who participate in any major layoff add not only to the burden of unemployment but to the charity and welfare agencies throughout the county, who, of a necessity, in a very short time are forced to care for a large percentage of those deprived of work. With this in mind the following resolution is designed to serve a dual purpose:

"Resolved: That the Board of Supervisors recommend that private employers join city and county officials in assuring employees of continued employment over a period of a year at their present wages, and

"That the consuming public, including all private corporations and institutions, be mindful of the necessity of giving preference to local products with the end in view of keeping factories in operation and pay rolls normal."

CHEVERTON HEADS COLLEGE

First Professor of California Christian Institution Becomes President at Colorful Ceremonies

Dr. Cecil F. Cheverton, first professor of the California Christian College, who was given his faculty post with the opening of the school in 1920, was inaugurated yesterday afternoon as president of the institution in a colorful ceremony attended by representatives of a score of American universities. The inauguration was in the Grayson Memorial Auditorium.

With the induction of Dr. Cheverton as president, Dr. Edgar Lloyd Smith, for fifteen years regional director for California and Arizona of religious education for the Christian Churches, appeared as the newly elected vice-president of California Christian College.

A prediction of a radical change in the methods of American universities was made during the course of an address given by Dr. Harry O. Pritchard, who gave the greeting of the college to its new president.

CHANGE PREDICTED

"The increase in college attendance in the future," Dr. Pritchard said, "is destined to be a much smaller percentage than in the past.

"Due to the economic situation of the world today, the colleges will be forced to change their curricula." Then turning to Dr. Cheverton, he said:

"Allow me to congratulate you upon having the vision, judgment and courage to introduce here something new and different in the way of a curriculum.

"This curriculum is in line with the best educational theories known today. It is an experiment, which if successful will render a magnificent service through American democracy.

"The demand now is not for numbers but for quality and only those of the best minds and the best trained will be in demand in the future. There are many indications that we are at the dawn of a new educational awakening throughout America."

ACADEMIC PROCESSION

In the academic procession were representatives of Hamline College, La Verne College, Loyola University, College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, University of the West, Valencia University, Pasadena Junior College, San Francisco Theological Seminary and Berkeley Baptist Divinity School; all from California and beyond the State were delegates from Bethany College, West Virginia; Butler University, Indianapolis; University of Oregon, Spokane University, William Woods College, Fulton, Mo.; Colorado College, Colorado Springs; Greenville College, Greenville, Ill., and University of Nanking, Nanking, China.

Dr. Cheverton was born in Rich Hill, Mo., and is 41 years of age. He attended the public schools of his birthplace and was graduated from Drake University at Des Moines, Iowa. He later attended Columbia University, and Boston University, and was a teacher for several years before he came to Los Angeles.

COL. LINDBERGH DUE HERE SOON

we wish to equip our plane with the most efficient discoveries.

"We are happy the new wing has met its tests successfully and I am anxious to arrive in Los Angeles to fly it."

Whether Mrs. Lindbergh will accompany her famous husband westward was not stated by the colonel, but Squier believed it probable that she will. She was here when the ship was first turned over to Lindbergh and flew it with him on initial test hops.

REDUCES RESISTANCE

The new wing is constructed to allow the landing gear, wheels, braces and shock-absorbing units, to fold into the wing when the ship gets in the air, cutting down air resistance and automatically increasing the speed.

Test flights made by Squier, Dick Van Hake, Lockheed chief engineer, who supervised design and construction of the speed unit, and Marshall Headle, Lockheed test pilot, show that in a fuselage identical to the Lindbergh plane and with a motor of the same horsepower, the wing added twenty-six miles an hour to the plane's maximum.

The underside of the Lindbergh wing has openings that receive the large low-pressure landing air-wheels and metal braces. These swing upward and inward in relation to the wing and fuselage. When they are folded into the wing a cover attached to the outside of each of the two units completely covers the apertures on the under side—making the craft appear in the air as though it had no wheels.

The gear can be raised or lowered in fifteen seconds from the cockpit of the ship by means of an endless steel cable operated by a hand crank. Four signal lights on the instrument board will keep the colonel informed at all times of the position of his landing wheels, as he or Mrs. Lindbergh will be unable to see them because of the intervening wing.

SAFETY DEVICES

A green and a red light for each wheel will tell him of their position—the green lights remain burning when the wheels are down for landing and the red bulbs glow when they are up.

As an extra precaution the sound of a gong will warn the colonel if he should shut off his motor for landing with the wheels folded up.

Steel lugs lock the gear when it is extended for landing or is lifted into the wing. A release lever for the automatic locking system completes the mechanism that has been found fool-proof in ten hours of test flying.

Development of the wing on a ship as large as the Lockheed on the colonel's idea is another pioneering success accredited to the trans-Atlantic pilot.

He added nearly ten miles an hour to his plane's speed by having a sliding cover built over the two cockpits to cut down air drag and make flying more comfortable in cold weather. He is the first exponent of high-altitude speed flying for long trips and saw his theory justified when he and his wife flew from here to New York last Easter in their plane to set a record of 14 hours and 45 minutes from coast to coast.

His desire to own a low-winged monoplane and the success with which he flew it have caused many planes of this type to come into use since Lockheed built his present plane on his orders. His and Mrs. Lindbergh's experiments with gliding here also brought about rapid development of motorless flight throughout the nation.

LECTURE TELLS CHURCH'S BIRTH

Mary Baker Eddy Pictured by William Porter

Bible Teachings Defined in Light of "Key"

In a Christian Science lecture delivered yesterday afternoon under the auspices of Twenty-ninth Church of Christ, Scientist, William W. Porter, C.S.B., of New York City, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, spoke in part as follows:

"A little over half a century ago an unusual woman appeared upon the highway of human endeavor. She saw about her humanity's sins, sufferings and sorrows. A night of terror seemed about to engulf her.

"TOWARD HEAVEN"

"She turned away from earth and looked toward heaven and God. Through the mists of earth the woman saw a beckoning path and into this path she turned her footsteps. As she journeyed her vision grew and she saw exceedingly near those many mansions which are spoken of by the Master in the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of John; she learned that these mansions are mansions of health, mansions of happiness, peace and prosperity; she found her own confidence and courage ever mounting to meet opportunity; there came to her unbounded and unexpected ability and success, and a higher sense of life as God.

"This woman was the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, the author of the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.' In the year 1866 Mrs. Eddy was brought back almost from the grave through her spiritual understanding and pure desire. Following her remarkable healing Mrs. Eddy launched forth upon an undertaking which was destined to become her crowning life work, the demonstration of Christian Science and its presentation in such a way that humanity could not fail to understand its meanings and receive its benefits.

"BIBLE SOLE GUIDE"

"Mrs. Eddy tells us in her writings that in the demonstration and establishment of Christian Science she had no other guide than the Bible. This was her only textbook.

"In the orderly process of arriving at the correct statement of the problem of being, one finds himself confronted with the question, What is God? We are told by Mrs. Eddy that one of the chief difficulties encountered in her early writings was that of finding words or language which would adequately express the spiritual ideas which she sought to impart. Today when one refers to God a generous part of one's listeners is found to be more or less in harmony with the definition in the Christian Science textbook (p. 465,) namely, that 'God is incorporeal, divine, supreme, infinite mind, spirit, soul, principle, life, truth, love.'"

BRIDE OF FERNEKES RELEASED

Good Behavior Results in Freeing of Forgery Case Woman Ahead of Time

Reaping the reward of good behavior in prison, Mrs. Ella Fernekes, 18-year-old bride of Frank Fernekes who is now serving a term in San Quentin for forgery, was released from the County Jail yesterday—sixteen days before the expiration of her sentence of three months on the same charge. She said she will visit her husband and then return here in search of employment. She must remain on probation for five years.

Mrs. Fernekes and her husband, who is 32, were arrested at El Paso last May. While in custody en route here, Fernekes made a sensational escape by leaping from the train near Phoenix. He was recaptured a month later in New Orleans.

Tried separately, Fernekes was sentenced to one to fourteen years in San Quentin and his wife to three months, with the probationary clause.

On the eve of his departure for prison, October 10, last, Fernekes was remarried to the young woman, declaring he had lost the original certificate and that he wished to protect his wife's interest in certain insurance policies. By special dispensation from the court the wedding was performed outside the County Jail, and the couple spent a ten-minute "honeymoon" on a bench, eating sandwiches.

MEXICAN MARRIAGE PONDERED

Court Considers Decision in Suit of Roger M. Coe for Annulment

A Mexican jurist's opinion on American marriages south of the border is being considered by Superior Judge Gould, who has under advisement Roger M. Coe's petition for annulment of his marriage with Margaret H. Coe. Coe, a member of a wealthy Santa Barbara family, married at Tia Juana, September 13, 1928.

Celso Gaxiola, former justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Sinaloa, Mex., testified that American marriages in Mexico, not complying with the Mexican residence laws, should be held invalid. Attorney Scott McReynolds, representing Coe, contended that the Mexican law provides that one of the parties must establish residence in Mexico before the ceremony can be legalized, and that two witnesses who are residents must be present. He asserted that these provisions were not followed in the Coe marriage.

Election Boards Must Explain Discrepancies

Subpoenas for the members of ten precinct election boards that served during the last election on the 4th inst. have been issued by the Board of Supervisors returnable at 3 p.m. today at the Hall of Records. The officials are summoned to appear and explain various discrepancies in the figures of their poll and election books which have been discovered by the election-canvassing board.

Eight boards are from precincts in Los Angeles, one in Beverly Hills and one in Glendale.

Announcing Stromberg-Carlson Dealers' JUBILEE NOVEMBER 15-22

Celebrating Stromberg-Carlson's Greatest Sales Year!

COMMENCING November 15th, radio's most responsible and dependable dealers will concentrate their efforts on informing all who ask, why—"There is nothing finer than a Stromberg-Carlson."

During this Jubilee period, these dealers gladly will let you learn, right in your own home, why every year more and more people are deciding that the only gilt-edged radio investment they can make is in a Stromberg-Carlson.

These dealers want you to know for yourself, the unapproached quality of Stromberg-Carlson tone, the lifetime durability and reliability of Stromberg-Carlson construction, the genuineness and beauty of Stromberg-Carlson cabinets. They also want you to know how Full Dial Efficiency makes the Stromberg-Carlson unique in giving uniform selectivity, sensitivity, and tone quality at every point on your dial.

So you can gain this valuable information many Stromberg-Carlson dealers—during the Jubilee only—are keeping their stores open evenings and are offering special "proving tests" in your own home. These dealers are prepared to inform you of new trade-in allowances and new terms of purchase—the things which make this telephone built receiver the most economical buy in radio.

Stromberg-Carlson unsurpassed quality Receivers range in price from $165 to $382. The Multi-Record Radio, $665. (Prices less tubes.) They may be purchased with moderate down payment out of income at only nominal finance cost.

Why Dealers Prefer to Sell Stromberg-Carlson

"For the six years we have been selling Stromberg-Carlsons they have given us the least trouble, their owners the most satisfaction."

"Every Stromberg-Carlson we sell, sells another."—A well known Los Angeles Dealer

"There is no grief in selling Stromberg-Carlsons, for us or the customer."—A San Francisco Dealer.

Listen to the Stromberg-Carlson Hour Monday Evenings in a Coast-to-Coast Broadcast of the Rochester Civic Orchestra over the N. B. C. Blue Network and Associated Stations.

FILIPINO LEADER SEEKS HARMONY

Senator Wants Remedy for Racial Friction

Conferences between California State officials and Filipino leaders to seek a remedy for friction growing out of the association of Filipinos and Americans are recommended by Senator Juan Sumulong, minority leader of the Philippine Senate and a member of the Philippine Mission to the United States.

"For the benefit of both the Americans and the Filipinos," said Senator Sumulong at the Biltmore, "we must find some means of removing the causes of friction which brought about the unfortunate incidents that have taken place on the Pacific Coast."

The visitor declared that the people of the Philippines are anxious for Filipinos not only not to come to the United States, but for those already here to return. America's Constitution and the islands' Organic Act, however, stand in the way of legislation to end Filipinos' right to move freely from one territory to another under the same flag, he said.

"All of the Filipinos in the United States are needed at home," said Senator Sumulong. "Both sides thus agree that this contact should end. But it has been difficult to find a way to accomplish this mutual desire, because not only social or economic questions are involved, but because fundamental questions of human and constitutional rights are at stake.

"After placing our country under the American flag, after making the Philippines a part of the American dominion," he continued, "to bar us from America would be tantamount to treating us as foreigners while we remain under your sovereignty."

Senator Sumulong is an ardent advocate of independence for the Philippines. He is here with Vicente G. Bunuan, director of the Philippine Press Bureau, of Washington. Shortly after their arrival, they journeyed to Monrovia to visit Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate. Quezon came here some time ago for his health.

ELLS WILL FACE COURT TODAY

Husband Accused of Hiring Wife Assassinated Due to Enter Plea

Accused of employing Benjamin F. Brown to murder his divorced wife, Emory Ells is scheduled to appear before Superior Judge Wood today to enter his plea to the charge.

Brown already has pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity and is under the observation of alienists pending his trial December 22, next, in Superior Judge McComb's court.

Police assert Brown admitted shooting the woman to death while she slept with her 18-month-old baby on the 2nd inst., charging that Ells offered him $2000 for the execution and paid him $1.30 on account.

TIN CANS FINALLY CAPTURE POTATO

D. W. Tungate

Because he despised not small potatoes D. W. Tungate, a native of Los Angeles, turned failure into success and accomplished something which has never been done before in the history of the world. He has already established two factories for canning Irish potatoes, and has come back to California, after an absence of twelve years, to look the potato situation over here and to find the most advantageous site for a potato canning factory on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Tungate, who was in Florida with a real estate company, observed that when the potato crop was dug there that thousands of barrels of these tubers went to waste each year because they were too small to ship. Because of the water seepage in Florida, which causes the potato to decay before it matures, they dig the entire crop and market it as "new potatoes." There are three grades, and only the first two are shipped.

These very small ones were bought up, scraped and cooked in the can and are now sold in forty States. But before this was accomplished machinery had to be invented and manufactured and a process of cooking discovered which would prevent the potato from disintegrating or becoming soggy. This having been done housewives are enabled to have "new potatoes" the year round.

Because of the quantities of small potatoes which now go to waste around Bakersfield Mr. Tungate thinks that that locality may furnish the site for his factory, but as yet has made no definite decision.

LAST ECHO OF SLAYING DUE TODAY

District Attorney Will Ask Oesterreich Murder Case "Off Calendar"

Lacking sufficient evidence to warrant further prosecution of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, charged with the murder of her wealthy husband on August 22, 1922, the District Attorney today will ask Superior Judge Hardy to put the case "off calendar," according to James P. Costello deputy District Attorney prosecuting the case.

The decision to table the case was made when it was found that several important witnesses in Milwaukee will not consent to return to Los Angeles to testify in the case again.

At Mrs. Oesterreich's first trial the jury failed to reach a verdict and was discharged.

Prior to that Otto Sanhuber, mysterious "attic man" of the Oesterreich home, was tried on the same charge and convicted of manslaughter. He was released, however, because of the fact that under the California law Sanhuber's case was outlawed.

It is understood that Jerry Giesler, attorney for Mrs. Oesterreich, will try to obtain a complete dismissal of the case when it is called.
